WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—President Wilson was permitted again today to transact public business. After what his physicians described as one of the best nights he has had since his illness began, he signed the amendments to the Food Control Act, providing penalties for hoarding and profiteering in food and clothing, and three other measures of minor importance.

Tomorrow the prohibition enforcement bill will be returned to the White House by the Department of Justice with an opinion as to its constitutionality, and it is expected that if the President shows no ill effects from his work yesterday and today, he will be allowed to study the opinion and pass on the bill.

The President's physicians announced today that his temperature, pulse and respiration continued normal.

Dr. Hugh H. Young, the Baltimore specialist who was called in last week in connection with the prostatic complication, again came to the White House today. He was accompanied by Dr. H. A. Fowler, a Washington specialist on such ailments.

Drs. Young and Fowler, it was said tonight at the White House, were well satisfied with the prostatic condition of the President.

Dr. Grayson supplemented his night bulletin with the information that the patient's condition was as good as could be expected. The increased activity of the President was not indicative of any decided improvement in his condition, Dr. Grayson said, adding that it was thought that permitting the President to sign bills would perhaps be better for him than to withhold the bills and allow the anxiety to take action on such matters.

The President also turned his attention to the national industrial conference, to which he addressed a letter yesterday. Mrs. Wilson telephoned Secretary Tumulty that the President desired to know the situation in the conference, and a report was given him.

Besides signing the four bills, Mr. Wilson commuted the sentence of two military prisoners and signed extradition papers for Augustino Spinozzi, who is held in France to answer charges of theft of $30,000 worth of whisky and of failing to pay revenue of $12,000 on it.

The bulletin issued by Dr. Grayson at 10 a.m. today read:

"The President's condition is satisfactory. He has had a restful night and is taking up the routine of the day."

HARRY CARR IN NEW YORK FINDS HEARST ABOUT TO TURN BOLSHEVIK AND FAT RICH LADIES DOING HULAS.

BY HARRY CARR.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Hearst and Tammany Hall are tearing each other's eyes out again. The circumstances are such that the fracas cannot fail to have an important bearing on the next Presidential election.

Mayor Hylan stands with Hearst against Boss Murphy and Gov. Smith. The dust of the conflict fills the air.

Hearst wanted to dictate the appointments to the New York Supreme Court and took a bitter journalistic revenge when the Governor refused to be bulldozed. Finally the Governor addressed a big political meeting in which he denounced Hearst and challenged him to compare their political and private lives.

In frenzied rage, the Hearst New York papers are pouring out abuse upon "Charley" Murphy and the Governor, Hylan, the yellow-journal-made Mayor of New York, has meanwhile been nominated for President by Hearst on account of his enormous services in the dock strike. To the naked eye his services in the dock strike consisted in asking the strikers please to behave, and in being told to go to hell.

From now on it will be a cat-and-dog fight for political control. Hearst evidently hopes that he may make himself boss of New York by turning political Bolshevik on the eve of the Presidential election, and virtually blackmailing the national Democratic party.

Prohibition has indeed made great changes in the life of this great city. You used to get your booze in glasses. Now you get it in an afternoon dinner coffee cup.

A day or two ago the police sent word around that 600 Federal inspectors had taken the wet trail and that liquor selling would really have to stop.

Tonight when you went into the big hotel cafes, the head waiter greeted you with a beaming smile.

"Why, Mister Jones," he said, "do you know that you forgot and left your bottle of gin here when you went out last night?"

If you are a little thick, you began to stutter and hesitate, whereupon your wife dug you in the ribs and you suddenly remembered that you had indeed left your gin bottle. Or, if your taste ran not along those lines you gently corrected the head waiter, and he remembered with profuse apologies that it was a whisky bottle you had left the night before.

Anyhow, there is no dry spell as yet in Gotham.

The latest item to be added to the high cost of living in the circle of the 400 in New York is Hawaiian dancing lessons at $500 an hour.

Doraldina, the Hawaiian dancer, was approached by several society janes, who wished to learn the sinuous, difficult steps of the South Seas.

Not wishing to give up this hard-earned secret, Doraldina told the first dame that it would cost her $500 an hour.

"That's all right with me," said the lady. And so they began to step. The society lady displayed all the grace and sinuosity of a she rhinoceros. Finally the dancer told her it was no use.

"My dear woman," she said, "you never could learn this dance if you kept at it for 400 years at $4,000,000 an hour."

"It isn't costing you anything," said the little sister of the rich. "I am content to go on trying to at your price."

She got one more lesson, then the teacher gave it up in disgust.

Nevertheless, Hawaiian dancing promises to be a real fad. It is very naughty and very difficult.

As to dancing, the old-fashioned waltz has come back with a vengeance in the cabarets of New York. The fox-trot has taken a back seat and the one-step seems to have been laid up for permanent repairs.

Cardinal Mercier was asked the other day what impressed him the most of anything he had seen anywhere in America. The good cardinal cogitated deeply on the problem, running over all the wonders that he has seen on his visit in America. Then he finally answered:

"I think the New York police force is the most remarkable thing in America."

He went on to describe how the torrents of traffic rushing up and

GOV. SMITH RAPS HEARST.

New York Executive Says Red Papers of Publisher not "Fit for Decent Houses."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ALBANY (N. Y.) Oct. 22.—Gov. Smith launched a violent attack against William R. Hearst and the Hearst newspapers today. In a prepared statement the Governor charged the publisher with deliberately misrepresenting facts in order to injure the Governor, declared the Hearst papers "should be kept out of decent houses" and expressed his willingness to test his case in the good judgment of the citizens of the State.

The Governor today discussed with callers a challenge he issued at a mass meeting of women in New York Saturday for Hearst to meet him in debate and to discuss each other's public and personal records. He let it be known that the strained relations had developed into open warfare and that no quarter would be asked or given.

GOVERNOR POWERLESS TO FIX MILK PRICE.

The statement charged that, to suit his own purposes and to injure the Governor because he would not "kneel before" the publisher, an attempt had been made to put the impression in the public mind that the Governor has the power to fix the price of milk. The Governor has not this power, it was pointed out, but it was stated everything possible he could do to relieve the milk situation in New York had been done, and this fact was known to Hearst.

Publication of alleged interviews which were declared never to have taken place was charged and the statement affirmed that the Governor was in possession of facts and letters to prove this assertion.

HINES' THREAT ENDS STRIKE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A threat by Director-General Hines to discharge 10,000 striking employees of the American Railway Express Company and to send troops to drive the wagons today ended the strike which had seriously hampered business and travelers in New York City since October 11.

Striking teamsters and chauffeurs voted to return to work tomorrow and await a decision by the wage board of the Railroad Administration to their demands, which is expected November 4.

Mr. Hines had given the strikers until 6 p.m. Friday for night employees and 6 a.m. Saturday for day employees to return before declaring their places vacant and filling them.

SECRET PHONE HELPS KAISER IN INTRIGUE WITH ROYALISTS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Thursday, Oct. 23.—The former German Emperor and the former Crown Prince are concerned in the intrigues of the German royalists, the political correspondent of the Daily Mail asserts.

"The ex-Emperor," says the writer, "is far from leading a life of detachment from German affairs. He recently has seen a number of mysterious visitors from Germany and is receiving many telegrams. He is constantly in communication with some place in Germany by telephone, a private line having been attached to his residence across the frontier. These communications are with German royalists.

"The former Crown Prince also is known to be intriguing with German royalists and receiving many suspicious visitors. Inquiries on this matter will be made in the House of Commons next week."

BULLETINS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 22.—The Lettish Press Bureau says that the shell which struck the offices of the American relief administration at Riga wounded the chief of the organization, Orbizon.

DENVER, Oct. 22.—The voters of Denver today rejected all plans for solution of the street railway problem at a special election, and a second strike of street railway men for 70 cents an hour is threatened for Wednesday, October 29, the day after the present agreement expires.

GENEVA, Oct. 22.—A dispatch from Belgrade, Serbia, says the power of the peasant party in Bulgaria demands the arrest and trial of King Ferdinand, and former Premiers Radoslavoff and Malinoff as being responsible for the war and leading Bulgaria into misery, and the loss of provinces. According to the dispatch, confiscation of all the royal possession is demanded.

PHOENIX, Oct. 22.—A special session of the Arizona Legislature will be called early in 1920 to consider ratification of the Federal constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women, it was announced here today by Gov. Campbell. The Governor today sent a telegram to Gov. Stephens of California saying he would not call a special session immediately, as Gov. Stephens had requested.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—After an enthusiastic welcome in Cincinnati, King Albert and his party are on their way to Pittsburgh tonight. At Music Hall here today Ysaye, himself a Belgian and a friend of the monarch's, gave a concert with his symphony orchestra for the benefit of Belgium's orphans. His Majesty is looking forward eagerly to his visit to Pittsburgh tomorrow and the inspection of the Homestead Steel Mills.

DETROIT MAYOR WILL NOT MEET THE PRINCE.

GAVE GLAD HAND TO DE VALERA, AND ONTARIO COMMITTEE IS PEEVED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Mayor Couzens of Detroit will not grasp the royal hand of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales when that personage appears in Windsor Thursday night.

It became known at the City Hall today that the Mayor's invitation to greet the Prince and break bread with him has been withdrawn by the committee in Windsor having charge of the arrangements.

Last week Detroit had another distinguished guest in the person of Eammon de Valera, President of the provisional republic of Ireland. Mr. Couzens welcomed Mr. De Valera in his impulsive way, welcomed not only from the depths of his own personal regard, but also officially in behalf of Detroit.

Confirmation that Mr. Couzens's invitation had been withdrawn was easily obtained from the arrangements committee in Windsor. Members said Mr. Couzens's invitation was ready for the mails when it was decided to cancel it for the reason that Mr. Couzens had welcomed De Valera.

"There was nothing else to do but bar Detroit from the reception," said one of the committeemen. "De Valera is an enemy of the British empire. We could not under the circumstances have Mr. Couzens come."

Mayor Couzens was born in Ontario.

ROBERT GOELET IS PARIS BRIDEGROOM.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Robert Goelet and Madame Fernanda Rocchi Riabouchinsky were married this afternoon in the American church by the Rev. Mr. Goodrich in the presence of Baron Don Paolo Ayroldi di Robilate Metroppaquaglia, of the Italian peace delegation, Capt. Robert E. de Nexon and Prof. Mariano Rocchi.

After the ceremony a luncheon was given at the Hotel Ritz. Among the guests were Mrs. Marshall Leonard Thomas, Col. Philip Lydig and many members of the American colony.

The honeymoon will be spent on the Riviera, and afterward Mr. and Mrs. Goelet will return to the United States and will take up their residence in New York.

FIREMEN GIVE UP A. F. OF L. CHARTER.

The Los Angeles firemen last night decided, at a meeing in Labor Temple, to relinquish their charter in the American Federation of Labor and to form a new order more on the form of a fraternal and benefit organization. The Executive Committee of the defunct union authorized the announcement. Much credit is given to Fire Chief Scott, whose efforts to induce the men to withdraw from the Gompers union were successful.

RAIL MEN GIVE DEFI.

Brotherhoods Seek Fight to Finish.

Shea, Firemen's Leader, Puts His Hand on Table in an Ugly Mood.

Lee of Trainmen is Ready to Call Strike to Force Wage Rise.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Railroad employees are prepared for a finish fight with the Railroad Administration for increased wages, time and a half for overtime and improved working conditions before the government surrenders the roads to private control. Unmistakable notice to this effect has been served by Timothy Shea of the firemen, appearing before the board of railway wages and working conditions.

"If our demands for a living wage should not be met when the time approaches for turning back the railroads to their private owners," Mr. Shea said, in testimony which became public tonight, "we shall demand, as a condition precedent to the change, the realization of the fundamental rights of labor, the living wage, the eight-hour day on all Federal-controlled roads, time and one-half for overtime and other principles to which the government pledged itself during the war, which now have been made a part of the treaty of peace and which, so far, the Railroad Administration has never fulfilled."

While Mr. Shea was appearing on behalf of the firemen only, it has been recognized generally that wage increases for any one class of railroad employees meant an advance for all, to maintain equality between the workers.

Mr. Shea said he anticipated that the failure of the government's efforts to reduce the cost of living, which he frankly expected, would make necessary advances in pay for all workers and predicted that by November 1 the wage board would be forced to consider "further requests for general increases" from railroad employees.

President Wilson last summer denied the request of the shopmen for a general increase in pay on the ground that the "vicious circle" of rising wages and mounting prices had to come to an end and that the country should be given a fair chance at reconstruction after the war.

HINES IS SILENT.

How Director-General Hines proposes to meet the situation has not been divulged. Railroad Administration officials declare relations with the union men have never been so good as at present and in pointing to the last report of the Labor Department, showing a decrease of 15 per cent. in living costs in August, intimate that the pending crisis

LOADING FOOD FOR PETROGRAD.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Barges are being loaded at Viborg, the Finnish port about sixty-five miles from Petrograd, in preparation for the food relief of the population when the city falls. About sixty motor trucks also are available to Viborg.

Foodstuffs are available at Viborg in amounts to supply Petrograd for about thirty days. The stocks include flour, bacon and lard, which Herbert C. Hoover assembled there when the Nansen plan for feeding Russia was under consideration.

As the Russian northwest government is working for a united Russia and co-operating with Admiral Kolchak on the Siberian front, and Gen. Denikine's movement in the south, the operation against Petrograd is regarded by the Peace Conference as distinctly a part of the Siberian and South Russian effort to dislodge Bolshevism, and it is believed credits can be readily arranged for feeding Petrograd, indefinitely, once Gen. Yudenitch's troops actually take the city and show their ability to control the situation.

JOLT TO OLD HI COST READY FOR TRY-OUT.

GOVERNMENT WILL REVEAL PLANS FOR SUBSTANTIAL LIVING REDUCTIONS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Attorney-Gen. Palmer expects to make an important announcement Friday concerning the government's plan for reducing the cost of living.

A meeting in Lincoln, Neb., November 25, probably will be attended by Mr. Palmer.

Active co-operation is being given the Department of Justice by the National Retail Drygoods Association, and the National Garment Makers' Association, in determining whether there was any profiteering in clothing. It was announced today that questionnaires had been sent by both organizations to all members, asking details of original cost, profits and overhead expenses, and that these would be assembled for any use the department desired.

Concurrence of producers representing 90 per cent. of the beet-sugar output in this country has been received by Mr. Palmer in reply to his suggestion that 10 cents a pound to wholesalers was a fair price for the new crop.

This is an increase of 1 cent over the old price. With the price question thus settled, officials expect that great quantities of sugar withheld from the markets until the situation became stabilized, now will be released to relieve the shortage.

FOES STAB COVENANT.

Make an Effort for Renegotiation.

Would Force Three Powers to Agree to American Revision.

Ten Reservations Proposed Include Two Which are Deathblows.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Reopening its consideration of the peace treaty, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today adopted ten revised reservations, including a provision that the Senate qualifications must be accepted by three of the other great powers before the treaty ratification becomes effective.

Among them was a new proposal which administration Senators declared would break down the economic boycott feature of the League of Nations covenant and a reservation on Article X differing only in the transposition of one phrase from that which President Wilson has announced he would treat as a rejection of the treaty.

The ten reservations were part of a list presented by Chairman Lodge and declared by the Republican leaders to represent a compromise behind which a majority of the Senate is pledged to stand. The administration members of the committee, headed by Democratic Leader Hitchcock, tried in vain to secure modification of the majority proposals and then voted solidly against all of them.

Showing for the first time, however, a willingness to include reservations of an interpretative character in the ratification resolution, Senator Hitchcock and his colleagues offered substitutes for several of the reservations presented, but not a single substitution or change was made at their suggestion.

TEN SUBJECTS COVERED.

The ten subjects covered by the reservations were:

Withdrawal from league membership; Article X; the right of Congress to authorize mandates; national supremacy over domestic questions; the Monroe Doctrine; Shantung; limitations on the reparations commission; the power of Congress to determine contributions to league expenses; the right to increase armament in certain circumstances, and the right to continue

EGG BARRAGE UPON TEUTON STARS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Rioting broke out again tonight around the Lexington Theater when for the second time this week the opera company produced German opera over the protest of veterans of the world war.

With several hundred policemen posted around the theater, a column of soldiers, sailors, marines and civilians who marched through Times Square to the theater were hustled back and dispersed, but before the column was broken, bricks and bottles sped through the air.

A few minutes later the attackers reappeared, headed by a motor truck containing nearly two score men.

The truck dashed through the police lines and proceeded about a block before a squad of mounted police attacked its occupants. Two of the latter, a soldier and a sailor, were injured, one possibly fatally.

The rioting continued for several hours. A crowd, breaking into a milk store, procured a supply of bottles and engaged in a vicious fight with the police, who were forced to draw their revolvers and fire several shots in the air.

Armed with a temporary injunction granted by Supreme Court Justice Bijur, restraining the police from carrying out Mayor Hylan's order to prevent the performance, producers of the opera rang up the curtain promptly. The singers hardly had appeared on the stage when an occupant of an upper box, rising, laid down a barrage of eggs.

American Legion officials in Greater New York were besieged all day by hundreds of persons asking what could be done to prevent tonight's performances. Maj. George Brokaw Compton, chairman of the New York county organization, sent a telegram to all posts in which he asked members to "stay away from the Lexington Operahouse."

MEXICANS HOLD AMERICAN ENVOY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—William O. Jenkins, American consular agent at Puebla, Mex., was kidnaped by three masked bandits last Friday at Puebla and is being held for $150,000 ransom, the State Department was advised today. The American Embassy, on inquiry, has been informed by the Mexican Foreign Office that the government would take all possible steps to effect the liberation of Jenkins. The American Embassy has been authorized to detail a member of its staff to Puebla to assist in obtaining the agent's release.

The department dispatch quotes the Mexico City newspaper Excelsior as reporting that the bandits entered a factory owned by Jenkins, forced the safe, robbed it of 60,000 pesos and then took Jenkins away with them. The bandits are reported to have told Mrs. Jenkins that they would hold her husband for 300,000 pesos ransom. An American business associate of Jenkins has confirmed the newspaper story.

FRESNO, Oct. 22.—William O. Jenkins, the American consular agent at Puebla, Mex., who was kidnaped by three masked bandits last Friday at Puebla and is being held for $150,000 ransom, was a prominent farmer in Lemoore, forty-five miles from here, where his parents reside. He left Lemoore two weeks ago to look after large oil interests which he has in Mexico.

NOGALES (Ariz.) Oct. 22.—Formal apology for the action of an American aviator, who Sunday fired "tracer" bullets from Nogales across the line into Mexican territory, was made here today by Col. Earl C. Carnahan, commander of the Nogales subdistrict, to Mayor Figueroa of Nogales, Son.

A complaint was made today to army authorities by five cowboys, who reported that they were forced to take cover in the Patagonia Mountains, near the boundary line on the American side, to escape bullets fired by an American airman who was practicing with a machine gun while on patrol duty. Military intelligence officers are investigating.

DOUGLAS (Ariz.) Oct. 22.—Gen. Alvaro Obregon has telegraphed the Senate at Mexico City asking that his rank as divisional general in the Mexican army be not ratified. The general says he desires to become a civilian candidate in the Presidential elections of May, 1921. This information was received today at the office of Jose M. Arredondo, Mexican Consul here. Gen. Obregon announces that he will leave his home at Nogales for Mexico City to confer with President Carranza regarding the coming elections and to tour the twenty-eight Mexican States in his own behalf. His only opponent to date for the Presidency is Gen. Pablo Gonzales.

Gompers Defies Wilson and Forces Labor Bolt from Conference.

UNIONS BITTER, QUIT IN A RAGE.

President's Sick-Bed Message has No Influence.

Only Railroad Brotherhoods Take Part Today.

A.F.L. Head Gives Ultimatum, but is Defeated.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Organized labor tonight, through its leader, Samuel Gompers, announced its withdrawal from the National Industrial Conference which has been in session here since October 6 to establish a new relationship between capital and labor, after a letter by President Wilson asking them to stay together had been read.

Thomas L. Chadbourne, chairman of the public group, declared the public group delegates would remain in session and report direct to the President.

Although the representatives of both the public and capital announced their intention of remaining in the conference, the next move in the effort to restore industrial peace to the country evidently rests with President Wilson.

Secretary of the Interior Lane will make a personal report of the situation to the President, but neither leaders in the conference nor officials generally would venture a prediction as to what course Mr. Wilson would take. The conference will be called together tomorrow as usual.

Five members of the labor group withdrew immediately following Mr. Gompers's announcement, while the remainder left the conference as John Spargo was presenting a resolution moving for adjournment to give the employers and labor groups time to reconsider the stand the groups have taken on issues before the conference.

Mr. Gompers left the room with his secretary shortly after Mr. Spargo started to speak.

Asked if his group would reconsider his action or would pay any attention to the Spargo resolution, Gompers said:

"I do not believe my words were ambiguous; I think I made myself perfectly plain."

At the conclusion of Spargo's address, only the representatives of the four railroad brotherhoods were left at the labor table.

The conference late today voted down labor's resolution for recognition of the right of collective bargaining—a resolution which Samuel Gompers, leader of the labor delegates, had characterized as "the last word" on the subject.

Addressing the conference after the defeat of the resolution, Mr. Gompers declared that the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in a meeting last night, acted to devote all the moral and financial support of the federation to aid the steel strikers in enforcing their demand for collective bargaining.

"The word you have spoken here means nothing," Gompers told the employers' delegates. "You have defeated the labor group in its declaration, but we will meet you again in conference and when we do meet you there you will be glad to talk collective bargaining."

GOMPERS'S SWAN SONG.

"I have sung my swan song in this conference. You have by your action legislated us out of the gathering. We have nothing further to say, and it is with a feeling of regret that we are not able to remain longer. Our chief regret is the defeat of every fair proposition on our part. The die is cast. We cannot remain longer."

Mr. Gompers thanked the chairman and members of the public group for the courtesies shown labor by that wing of the conference, but said that since the right to collective bargaining had been voted down three times, once after President Wilson had appealed to the conference to stay in session, labor felt it had no objects to gain in continuing the deliberations.

Before the recess Gompers declared that a motion by John Spargo of the public group that the conference give the President "a solemn pledge binding every group and individual that nothing would be left undone" to solve the problems before the body would be "most unfortunate." The motion, which had been seconded by Harry A. Wheeler, chairman of the capital group, was withdrawn. As they left the conference hall, the labor delegates expressed their indignation over Mr. Spargo's motion.

"Do you think we are going to stay here to be crucified from day to day?" demanded Frank Morrison, secretary of the American Federation of Labor.

WILL MEET TODAY.

"The conference will meet again at 9:30 a.m., Thursday," said Chairman Lane, when he adjourned the session tonight. The chairman declared afterward that if necessary the conference would amend its rules and continue its sessions with but two groups present. Chairman Lane indicated he might make a personal report to President Wilson tonight.

When the conference reconvened in the afternoon the labor group renewed its efforts to obtain recognition by the conference of the right of workers to bargain collectively. Members of the group indicated that favorable action on the resolution would be the condition under which they would remain in the conference.

The labor resolution, offered by Samuel Gompers, follows:

"The right of wage-earners to organize without discrimination, to bargain collectively, to be represented by representatives of their own choosing in negotiations and adjustments with employers in respect to wages, hours of labor and relations and conditions of employment is recognized."

In introducing the resolution, Gompers declared President Wilson's letter to the conference demonstrated "the mind of the President is as clear as it ever was during his entire life and it indicates to us that he will soon be restored to the nation and to the world in the full power of his wonderful mind and intellect."

Debate on the Gompers resolution began immediately.

Declaring that this was only another attempt to force employers to deal with labor unions, Frederick P. Fish of Boston, chairman of the national industrial conference board, said:

"The thought behind the resolution" was to advertise to the country that the employers had been defeated and that unionization was inevitable.

Louis Titus of San Francisco, a member of the public group, declared he was amazed at the sinister hidden meaning Mr. Fish sought to place on the resolution. He said the right of organization and the right to bargain collectively had already been conceded "not only by this conference, but by the industrial world for many years."

An appeal for consideration of a general programme before the "stumbling block of collective bargaining" is again put in the pathway of the conference was made by A. A. Landon, public representative.

Characterizing both the United States Steel Corporation and the labor leaders conducting the steel strike as "public nuisances," Landon said some way must be devised to suppress such nuisances.

Recurring strikes are proof of the need of some method of arbitrating differences between workers and employers, he said, but a plan of conciliation cannot be framed until the necessary preliminary steps have been taken.

H. B. Endicott, a Massachusetts shoe manufacturer, said he was unwilling that the impression should go out to the country that the employers stood today just where they stood twenty years ago.

"I would not have the country convinced that we are not willing to take into partnership with us today the men we hailed as partners during the war, and without whose aid the war could not possibly have been won," he said.

Charging that the representatives of capital had not yielded a bit since the conference opened, Mr. Endicott said labor had been "dignified" and attempted to meet the real difficulties in the way of argument.

When John Spargo asked Mr. Gompers if the labor resolution was intended to be the "last word" on the subject of collective bargaining, the labor leader's only reply was "Yes."

L. F. Loree, representative of capital, maintained that it was the purpose of organized labor to crush all forms of workers' associations except trade unions, and read from the minutes of the 1919 convention of the American Federation of Labor as proof.

J. W. O'Leary, a manufacturer in the capital group, insisted that the employers do not deny the right of collective bargaining, but merely differ as to its application.

MAY AID STRIKERS.

Gompers, in announcing to the National Industrial Conference tonight the withdrawal of the labor group, said that the "financial and moral support" of the federation had been pledged to the striking steel workers. The decision to aid the strikers, he said, was reached by the federation's executive council at last night's session of its quarterly meeting here.

Previous to Mr. Gompers's declaration, Timothy Shea, chief of the Brotherhood of Firemen, had stated, when his attention was called to reports that railroad employees in the Pittsburgh district were considering a sympathetic strike to aid the steel workers, that the railroad men would have to decide the question of such a strike for themselves. The railroad brotherhood chiefs, Mr. Shea said, possessed no authority to call any strike in aid of another body of workers.

Defeat late yesterday in the industrial conference of the resolution proposing intervention in the steel strike, which the labor group had urged, was understood to have led the federation's executive council to take its action.

TEXT OF PRESIDENT'S APPEAL TURNED DOWN BY AGITATORS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—In a last effort to prevent the dissolution of the national industrial conference, Chairman Lane today read to the delegates the letter dictated by President Wilson yesterday from his sick bed, and urging the imperative necessity for some action by the conference to insure industrial peace during the reconstruction period.

The President's message follows:

"To the ladies and gentlemen of the industrial conference:

"I am advised by your chairman that you have come to a situation which appears to threaten the life of your conference, and because of that I am presuming to address a word of very solemn appeal to you, as Americans. It is not for me to assess the blame for the present condition, I do not speak in a spirit of criticism of any individual or of any group. But having called this conference, I feel that my temporary indisposition should not bar the way to a frank expression of the seriousness of the position in which this country will be placed should you adjourn without having convinced the American people that you had exhausted your resourcefulness and your patience in an effort to come to some common agreement.

"At a time when the nations of the world are endeavoring to find a way of avoiding international war, are we to confess that there is no method to be found for carrying on industry except in the spirit and with the very method of war? Must suspicion and hatred and force rule us in civil life? Are your industrial leaders and our industrial workers to live together without faith in each other, constantly struggling for advantage over each other, doing naught but what is compelled?

"My friends, this would be an intolerable outlook, a prospect unworthy of the large things done by the people in the mastering of this continent—indeed, it would be an invitation to national disaster. From such a possibility my mind turns away, for my confidence is abiding that in this land we have learned how to accept the general judgment upon matters that affect the public weal. And this is the very heart and soul of democracy.

"It is my understanding that you have divided upon one portion only of a possible large programme which has not fully been developed. Before a severance is effected, based upon present differences, I believe you should stand together for the development of that full programme touching the many questions within the broad scope of your investigations. It was in my mind when this conference was called that you would concern yourselves with the discovery of those methods by which a measurable co-operation within industry may have been secured, and if new machinery heeds to be designed by which a minimum of conflict between employers and employees may reasonably be hoped for; that we should make an effort to secure its adoption. It cannot be expected that at every step all parties will agree upon each proposition or method suggested. It is to be expected, however, that, as a whole, a plan or programme can be agreed upon which will advance further the productive capacity of America through the establishment of a surer and heartier co-operation between all the elements engaged in industry. The public expects not less than that you should have that one end in view and stay together until the way is found leading to that end or until it is revealed that the men who work and the men who manage American industry are so set upon divergent paths that all effort at co-operation is doomed to failure.

"I renew my appeal with full comprehension of the almost incomparable importance of your tasks to this and to other peoples, and with full faith in the high patriotism and good faith of each other that you push your task to a happy conclusion.

[Signed] "WOODROW WILSON."

MINE STRIKE IS STILL POSSIBLE.

Secretary Wilson's Conference in a Deadlock.

Sessions are Simply Marking Time in Obstinacy.

Possibility that the Senate may Take a Hand.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Miners and operators called here by Secretary Wilson in an effort to settle the coal strike ordered for November 1, still were wide apart today.

While committees representing miners and operators were on the verge tonight of parting company for good, Secretary of Labor Wilson held them together, overnight at least, with a wage increase proposal that ignored union demands for a 30-hour week.

There was every assurance that the operators would accept it, and every indication that the miners would reject it.

When the joint conference adjourned until 2 p.m. tomorrow, it was with the understanding that the two groups would meet then and make formal answer to the proposal. Refusal of the miners to accept will bring the conference to a close and force government officials to resort to other means to prevent the closing of the mines.

WILSON'S OFFER.

Secretary Wilson's offer set forth the case as follows:

"That wages be increased at the expiration of the present contract in an amount equal to the differences between increases in wages received by mine workers since July, 1914, and the increase in the cost of living since that date.

"That the increase be effective from the termination of the present agreement until March 31, 1920.

"That on these conditions the strike ored be withdrawn and that the miners continue at work on those terms; that negotiations be entered into at the usual time for making the new scale effective after March 31, 1920."

The silence that prevailed during the reading of the terms on which Mr. Wilson hoped to settle the strike was broken by a quick demand from John L. Lewis, president of the Mine Workers of America, that the secretary explain what he meant in the opening paragraph of his statement concerning "expiration of the present contract."

The secretary, bearing in mind that this was one of the principal issues in dispute, said it would be a matter for negotiation. The miners have contended that the war-time wage agreement under which they have been working ended with the armistice, while operators argue that it will hold until peace is formally declared by ratification of the treaty.

Until the secretary, acting independently as a government mediator, came forward with his proposal, the conference was deadlocked, with each group eager to get away, but just as eager to escape the charge that it was responsible for breaking off negotiations. Taking in the situation and still hopeful that his efforts might succeed, Mr. Wilson suggested that the miners retire while he conferred with the operators.

Later in the day the miners returned for a separate meeting with the secretary, and they in turn were joined by the operators.

THE DEADLOCK.

The attitude of the two groups again was outlined in detail, the miners announcing that the strike order would not be withdrawn until the operators had agreed to a new contract, the real basis of which was the 30-hour working week. The operators again informed the secretary that under no condition would they arbitrate on the basis of the 30-hour week, and if that was included in any proposal put before the joint session they would withdraw.

Mr. Lewis declared there was no change in the situation. Operators refuse to say what proposal was made to them or if they would recede from their position not to negotiate a wage agreement unless the strike order was withdrawn.

There was a stormy moment at the meeting when Lewis read from a speech made yesterday by Senator Frelinghuysen, quoting Secretary Wilson as saying before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee that the miners had made impossible demands. The Secretary replied that only part of his statement had been repeated by Senator Frelinghuysen, adding that he had said demands by both sides were impossible.

MAY GO TO SENATE.

There were reports this morning that Secretary Wilson would attempt to hold the representatives of the miners and operators here to appear before the Senate committee investigating the coal situation in event the conference failed to settle the strike.

Some of the miners were reluctant to attend the meeting today in view of the statement yesterday by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that he did not see the necessity of adjourning over until today in face of the stonewall attitude of the operators. Secretary Wilson insisted, however, that the task was not hopeless.

Lewis declined to comment today, saying "See Wilson; he is the man of mystery in this proceeding."

Just before noon Secretary Wilson was in conference with the operators' representatives.

ment and the financial condition of the country.

The strongest criticism is based on the labor policy, and the Labor party is out to force a general election, if possible. There is also, even in the ranks of the coalition members, a strong disposition to insist on radical steps to deal with the financial situation, which is rapidly marching toward bankruptcy.

QUESTION OF FINANCE.

If the government decides to go to the country it will probably be on finance. There is a strong demand, even among the Conservatives, for a capital levy to wipe out the tremendous war debt, but no British government dares take such a radical step without an appeal to the people on this direct issue.

Otherwise, the government comes back a little stronger than before. The result of the election in Rushcolme, Lancashire, is a victory for the government, although by a much-reduced majority. The coalition candidate wins by 9394 votes to 8412 for the Labor man. At the last election the coalition beat the Liberal by 6748 majority, and Labor polled less than 3000 votes. This time the Liberal party polled only 3923 votes, thus emphasizing the fact that the fight is now a straight one between the Conservatives and the Labor element.

Another excellent test will be the election in Plymouth caused by the elevation of Maj. Astor to the peerage. At the last election the Conservatives polled 17,091 against the Labor man's 5334, but Astor was a particularly strong candidate and at most a progressive young Conservative and had a large support among the Labor voters. The Labor candidate in the new election is very strong and the Conservatives may have difficulty in holding their seat.

SINN FEIN PLANS.

Belief is growing in Parliamentary circles that the Sinn Fein members of Parliament will take their seats early in the forthcoming session; they hold the bulk of the seats formerly held by the Nationalist party.

It has been stated repeatedly within the last week that the Sinn Fein members are being released from Irish prisons following the visit to Ireland of Lord Birkenhead and that they might come to London for the purpose of making a demonstration or with a view of adopting Parnell's tactics of an active, aggressive part in the debates when the government's Irish proposals come before the House of Commons.

It is a question if an avowed republican can take the oath of allegiance, but it is recalled that Chamberlain openly avowed republican opinions and it is possible the Sinn Feiners might make a refusal to take the oath part of their demonstration.

The Prime Minister returned from Sheffield yesterday morning and presided over a meeting of the Cabinet at work on the government's reconstruction programme which will occupy the House until Christmas. Many members on their arrival in London today asked if any changes are to be made in the leadership of the House of Commons. It is certain that Andrew Bonar Law will continue as the leader of the House and that Premier Lloyd George will be frequently in attendance as his presence in the next few weeks is considered more important than at any time since the last election.

Next to his economy programme the Premier undoubtedly is showing most interest in the Irish problem. His work during the last few weeks seems to have brought optimism into the official circles where frequently it is declared the prospects never were so good of obtaining a definite settlement.

There is no possibility that any measure based on this committee's recommendations will be passed this year but its work is expected to help a long way toward peace across the channel. The postponement of the home rule act has become inevitable under the circumstance which necessitates Parliamentary action early in the session.

Labor members already are planning to demand an opportunity for debate on the government's measures taken during the railway strike this year but the issue probably will never be raised. When labor asks for a debate on nationalization the Premier is likely to grant it willingly enough as he is desirous of making clear the government's views of the matter.

Among that radical element which was responsible for the railway strike there is hope that the present government will fail before the end of this session, but the older heads believe that this is impossible.

DATE FOR CALIFORNIA LAND HEARING FIXED.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Friday, October 31, at 10:30 in the morning, is the time fixed today for the Public Lands Committee of the House for the hearing on the bill to confirm rights of way for power lines, water ways, etc, across the Angeles Forest reserve. Ten or twelve persons or corporations in Inyo and Kern counties have filed objections and they were notified by wire to be here if they cared to object.

Congressman Kettner arrived from San Diego to see that the objectors get an opportunity to be heard, though there appears to be little or no real opposition.

Water Attorney W. B. Matthews is here to argue a case for the city of Los Angeles in the Supreme Court, and will represent the city of Los Angeles at the hearing, which was arranged at his request by Congressman Osborne.

HEARST TRYING FOR RULE AGAIN

down Fifth avenue like runaway mad things are controlled by the mere lifting of the fingers of the traffic cops.

In this verdict I will have to string with the cardinal. I never have seen a New York policeman lose his nerve, his presence of mind or his courtesy.

The police had a tough job the other night, by the way, when the German grand opera season opened. Some two thousand soldiers and sailors tried to break up the show, which played to standing room only. About the same time Wilkie Bard, the famous English music-hall singer, tried to appear at a New York vaudeville theater. He got so cool a reception that he pulled off his wig and almost in tears retired from the stage. Life is never monotonous in a town filled with Irish.

Another evidence of this occurred at a meeting gotten up apparently by Hearst at Madison Square Garden a few nights ago and addressed by Senator Reed. Brotherly love and equality for all and similar sentiments of beauty and charity being under discussion, a refined young lady attempted to show a beautiful picture of the British and American colors lovingly intertwined.

"Of'll not stand for it," roared an old Irishman, getting up in the middle of the house. Instantly there was an uproar and tumult.

"But I thought this was for brotherly love and all that," sobbed the lady, dragging down the offending picture.

It was noticeable, by the way, that Senator Johnson failed to appear at this meeting. Hiram has finally taken a tumble. It has dawned upon him that all the friendly love pats he received from the G.O.P. leaders when they sicked him on to eat up Wilson and the peace treaty were not strictly on the level. In other words, it has dawned upon Hiram that they sent him out to queer himself before the Presidential campaign. He sent word to the New York meeting that he was fatigued to attend.

The labor situation in New York remains in the most deplorable condition despite the efforts made to settle it on the basis of reasonable kind of compromise.

One of the biz labor leaders told me frankly that the workers on the docks and elsewhere have run over the traces and have gone grossly beyond all the power of the non-labor leaders to control them.

As outlined in a previous issue of The Times the power struggle between the A.F.L. leaders and the other A.F.L. leaders is on. They are flying frantically back and forth between the employers and the Bolsheviks trying in some way to save themselves.

The leader who talked to me said that the unions were suffering from the effects of having taken in many foreigners and many of them was hopeless as to the future of the unions and thought a revolution probable.

Red Fortress is Powerless to Return Fire Due to Lack of Long-Range Guns; Denikine Flings Back Soviet Forces.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 22.—A dispatch to the Politiken from Helsingfors reports that warships have been bombarding Kronstadt since Monday. They are able to keep beyond the fortress artillery owing to the long range of their guns.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Bolshevik forces have been flung back in the Kamyshin sector, losing 3000 men, who were taken prisoner, and many machine guns, according to Gen. Denikine's wireless communication. Extremely fierce fighting is reported in that district.

Kamyshin lies north of Tsaritsyn, on the Volga River.

A Bolshevik message from Moscow says volunteers are arriving at Petrograd continuously from the remotest Russian villages, and are forming special detachments. Among them are numerous women. The same message says Admiral Kolchak in his retreat to Petropavlosk destroyed nearly three millions tons of newly-cut grain.

Further wireless reports from Moscow say that the first tanks manufactured in Petrograd were sent against Gen. Yudenitch's front lines and caused great enthusiasm among the red troops, who, aided by these machines, took numbers of prisoners.

ARMISTICE TALK.

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—The British naval commander at Libau, says a dispatch from Reval, Esthonia, has sent a demand to Col. Avaloff-Bermondt to evacuate Ust Dvinsk (Dunamonde) and Thorensberg, west of Riga.

Col. Avaloff-Bermondt in reply said that, after successfully safeguarding a strategic base for an offensive against the Bolsheviki, he had offered an armistice to the Letts October 10.

He requested that his endeavors to obtain an armistice be supported.

will be solved, in part, by natural economic forces, plus Atty.-Gen. Palmer's efforts to take the inflation out of prices.

CALL FOR SHOWDOWN.

There were indications today of an approaching "showdown" between the Railroad Administration and the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and Enginemen, who asked increased wages last summer. The report of the wage board on the demands has been sent to the director-general, who will meet President Lee and his committee next Wednesday. The committee, composed of sixteen general chairmen of districts and six officers of the grand lodge, will hold a preliminary meeting Tuesday.

"There is no ultimatum about our meeting," President Lee said today, "and it does not necessarily involve a strike, though the committee has been given full power to take any steps necessary or desirable."

The shopmen have given their committee full power to call a strike whenever it appears advisable. It has been understood that the officers would wait at least until December 1 to see results of the government's fight on high prices before taking action.

The Railroad Administration also is being called on by the railroad officials to provide an increase in rates to take care of the operating deficit caused by the higher prices of labor and materials. Despite the announced policy that no increase would be made by the director-general, a committee from the association of railway executives, headed by President Cuyler, will confer with him tomorrow on the situation which will confront the roads when they are turned back to private ownership.

Mr. Shea's testimony before the wage board revealed that the union men consider President Wilson's restriction on any general wage advances as only temporary, inasmuch as existing rates of pay were declared to be entirely inadequate.

Charging that action of some Industrial Conference members had been inspired by political motives, and calling attention to the fact that the Presidential election is only one year off, L. E. Sheppard of the Railroad Conductors' Brotherhood declared that the men who defeated the collective bargaining resolution "want to achieve their political ends."

Mr. Sheppard said the break-up of the conference was a "foregone conclusion" for the reason that the representatives of the railroad administration were the only members of the capital group who "know anything about labor by direct contact."

Asserting that the "railroad men are the key to the situation in the country," Mr. Sheppard said that while the railroad employees will live up to their contracts, it may be necessary for them to fight for their rights.

STONE'S OPINION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Warren S. Stone, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and a member of the Industrial Conference, declared tonight he was in accord with the decision of the labor group to withdraw from the conference in Washington.

"This was the only stand organized American labor could take, when the conference refused to indorse labor's well established policy," he said.

"I did not consider that the employers or the public were fully represented at the conference. The labor group, I believe, did represent American labor."

EFFECT ON STEEL STRIKE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22.—Steel strike leaders tonight prepared to take advantage of what they termed the consent of union railroad executives to permit railroad men employed in steel railroads to join the strike.

Organizers under the leadership of J. M. Patterson, have been busy, it was said, for weeks, and many such employees have indicated their willingness to join the movement. As strike meetings are forbidden, strike headquarters said, the strike vote may be delayed several days until some other plan to obtain the views of the men can be put into operation.

TREATY RATIFICATION EXPECTED NEXT WEEK.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Formal ratification of the German peace treaty probably will be accomplished October 30 and a call will be issued that day for the first meeting of the council of the League of Nations, to take place within ten days.

The French Foreign Office explains that the delay, as had previously been stated, was due entirely to the great amount of preliminary work before the convention could be put into effect, such as the creation of commissions and the preparations by the military missions for the tasks provided them in the terms of the treaty.

The delegates of the two nations probably will leave together for Washington at the end of this week.

achieved only by preparation, made possible by the joint deliberations of practical business men from Belgium, France, England, Italy and America."

Watt L. Moreland, president of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce is a member of the conference general committee. Frederick J. Koster of San Francisco, is participating in the work. Atholl McBean and Robert F. Dollar of San Francisco are members of a general committee. From Seattle come Gordon C. Corbaley, executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. W. Douglas, J. E. Chilberg and Reginald H. Parsons, president of Seattle chamber, are expected.

These men participated in the general sessions which convened today. Many of those attending this conference, both foreign delegates and American, came direct from New York where the National Conference of the Manufacturers' Export Association held a a two days' session to consider trade problems involved in dealing with economically disturbed countries and the development of future trade.

PHIL NORTON BUSY.

Phil Norton, formerly of Los Angeles and acting director of Russian division of the American Committee on Public Information, discussed America's trade opportunity in Siberia, pointing out that we must develop our trade foundation there today because our competitors are active and will shut us out tomorrow. Norton is now engaged in the development of trade relations between America and Russia.

Maintenance of stable government and suppression of enemies of social order—these were the notes sounded tonight at the first public session of the International Trade Conference.

Upon these factors depends the prosperity of the world, speakers told 2500 delegates who represent the largest business organizations and possess the sympathetic interest of the governments of their respective countries.

FACE COMMON FOE.

A. C. Bedford, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, referred to the present social and industrial unrest as follows:

"The nations of the world face a common foe—an enemy within us, a parasite of the war, the destruction of which depends upon our prompt resuscitation from the devastation of war."

The American people must return to a realization of "the dignity of labor" if prosperity is to return to the world, Mr. Bedford declared. He asserted that the reconstruction of the whole world depended "primarily upon the United States."

FIGHT PESSIMISM.

"No nation that puts a minimum of its strength into labor," Mr. Bedford asserted, "can hope to compete with another that works full blast."

Declaring that "strange doctrines were abroad," and that many people are predicting "destruction of our whole moral and social fabric," he said that upon the business men of the world rests the duty to see to it that these prophecies of despair shall not be verified."

The delegates were welcomed in the name of the United States government by Breckinridge Long, Third Assistant Secretary of State.

After asserting that "trade is based on credit, credit on confidence, and confidence can only exist where law is settled and supreme," Mr. Long declared the conference "symbolizes the sound business experience of two continents come together to analyze the wreckage, to estimate the cost and to form a determination to superimpose on the ruins of the war a great and modern structure."

"It prophesies," he continued, "that the close co-operation which existed before the war between our country and the lands from which come these delegates will continue in peace and that the ties of friendship which were sealed in blood will grow and develop in that friendly trade and commerce which are so necessary to the proper development of the peoples of our nations."

REGRET WILSON'S ABSENCE.

The delegates also were welcomed by Homer L. Ferguson, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Responses expressing appreciation for American aid in the problems of reconstruction were made by the chairman of the British, French, Belgian and Italian missions.

The first official act of the conference was adoption of a resolution expressing disappointment that President Wilson was unable to attend and hope that he might soon "be restored to complete health and comfort, equipped with renewed vigor to promote the cause of international good will."

Latest information available tonight indicated that King Albert of Belgium, who was invited to attend a session, would be unable to be present. The conference closes Friday night, after which the foreign delegates will inspect the country's commercial and industrial centers.

What action the conference will take toward stabilizing foreign exchange has not been disclosed. It is known, however, that foreign experts have suggested extensive marketing of foreign industrial securities in this country.

CREDIT NOT ESTIMATED.

Attempts to obtain an authoritative estimate of credit requirements in America for foreign nations proved unavailing.

British delegates, at meetings with American financial men, insisted they sought no special credit arrangements, but simply asked that business transactions go on as before. This followed the announcement from New York that the British government through J. P. Morgan & Co. had arranged to raise a $250,000,000 loan in this country.

French financial experts estimated that their commodity purchases during 1920 would total between $600,000,000 and $700,000,000. Baron de Marais, financial expert of the French mission, declared that France was not pressed for funds at present and would not require a loan here for several months. The French have asked for a credit maturity of ten years during the period of rehabilitation.

Belgium's financial representatives failed to give specific figures on their country's credit requirements, but informed the American committee that credits of only two and one-half years' maturity would be required.

FRANCE FEELS GRIP OF COAL SHORTAGE.

TRAVELERS SAY BERLIN AND VIENNA ALSO LACK HEAT IN ROOMS.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.] PARIS, Tuesday, Oct. 21.—American tourists who have recently reached Paris wish that they might have brought their own coal supply with them. October has been unusually cold and damp, but there is an official prohibition against the use of coal for general heating purposes before November 1, so that only those hotels able to obtain a supply of wood are heated. Most Paris hotels have no coal.

Travelers just arrived from Berlin and Vienna say that prices there are much higher and heat also is lacking.

Although it was believed that Paris hotels would have an abundance of rooms for all comers after the departure of the armies of Allied war workers, Paris seems just as badly crowded as at this time last year, and tourists are walking the streets, seeking accommodations. Paris is still filled with refugees from the devastated areas and from countries upset by war, accounting for the great demand for shelter.

A centrally located hotel now charges 25 to 50 francs daily for single rooms without heat. Wood for use in fireplaces costs 16 francs a basket when available. Factories are running on short time because of this lack of coal and the fuel administration is on this account curtailing the supply for hotels and households so sharply that heating will be limited even after November 15.

PROHIBITION IS URGED FOR THE PHILIPPINES.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.] MANILA (P. I.) Oct. 22.—The Philippines Legislature repealed today the act prohibiting public display of the insurrecto flag, following a recommendation of such repeal in a message sent to the governing body today by Gov.-Gen. Harrison.

The message recommended prohibition and equal suffrage for the islands also.

AMERICAN BEAUTY MAY BE BRITISH LAW MAKER.

LADY ASTOR, ORIGINAL GIBSON GIRL, EXPECTED TO RUN FOR PARLIAMENT.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] LONDON, Oct. 22.—Lady Astor, who before her marriage to Viscount William Waldorf Astor, was the beautiful Nannie Langhorne Shaw of New York and Virginia, the "original Gibson girl" may contest for the seat in the House of Commons, in succession to her husband who is now ineligible to the Commons since the death of his father elevated him to the peerage.

There is no law to prevent a woman sitting in the House of Commons and certainly Lady Astor has plenty of brains, if that is a requirement. Her beauty would be a decided campaign asset for like her lovely compatriot, Edna May, the years have touched very lightly the striking beauty of the fair Virginian, known as one of the most beautiful of the Langhorne group of fair women. Incidentally it was the cleverness and political sagacity of Lady Astor that won for her husband his seat in the Commons. It was an open secret that she managed his campaign.

A member of the Astor family said today, that the report that Lady Astor would be a candidate for the seat of her husband, Viscount Astor, in Parliament, had not been discussed by the family, but that it was not impossible, that the chairman of the Plymouth conservative organization would come to London shortly for a conference with Viscount Astor's constituents regarding his successor in Parliament.

Simple funeral services were held in St. George's Church this forenoon for Viscount (William Waldorf) Astor. The rector of St. George's, Rev. Francis Norman Thicknesse, officiated. A limited congregation attended the services.

The body was taken later to Golder's Green for cremation, the ashes then being conveyed to Cliveden for deposit in the private chapel there.

Simplicity marked the entire service. The plain coffin was covered with a blanket of white chrysanthemums, on which lay a single wreath of autumn leaves.

The mourners were Maj. and Mrs. Waldorf Astor and their children, Capt. John Jacob Astor and Lady Violet Astor, Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Herbert Spencer-Clay and the children, Sir John and Lady Goold-Adams and Miss Goold-Adams.

Those present at the services included Ambassador Davis and Mrs. Davis, Viscount Burnham, Lord Winterton, Lord Lucan, Lady Ribblesdale, Lady Essex, Lady Edward Cecil, the Countess of Annesley, Lady Garvagh, the Countess of Minto, Sir George Lewis, Sir George and Lady Perley and J. IZ Garvin, editor of the Observer, and the staff of that periodical.

CHARGES CONSPIRACY BY GAS COMPANIES.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA OFFICIAL DENIES STORY TOLD TO RAILROAD COMMISSION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 22.—Charges that the Southern California and the Citrus Belt gas companies were building a high-pressure line into the territory of the San Bernardino Valley Gas Company without the sanction of the Railroad Commission in an effort to force the San Bernardino company to sell out for $400,000 under its real valuation, were made to the commission today by John M. Gardiner, who said he was the principal owner of the San Bernardino company. Gardiner charged fraud and conspiracy, and asked that the operations be stopped at once.

The line was being built from Chino to Colton, San Bernardino county, paralleling the San Bernardino company's system, he charged.

"The object of these companies is to depreciate the properties of the San Bernardino company so that they may purchase at their own price of $350,000, whereas the San Bernardino properties are worth $750,000," Gardiner said.

Complete denial of the charges made against the Southern California Gas Company by John M. Gardiner were made by A. C. Balch, vice-president of the Southern California Gas Company, in this city last night.

According to Mr. Balch, the San Bernardino Valley Gas Company went into the hands of a receiver and is now controlled by the Citrus Belt Gas Company. Mr. Balch stated that the Southern California Gas Company had a high-pressure line into the territory mentioned and operated it, but said that it had the sanction of the Railroad Commission in operating this line.

"As far as I know, the only interest Mr. Gardiner has in the situation is in some suit charging fraud against the Citrus Belt Gas Company," said Mr. Balch. "He has no suit against the Southern California Gas Company, and I cannot understand his motive in making the charges."

BLAMES GERMANY FOR HIS WAR-TIME CRIME.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] MONOTON (N. B.) Oct. 22.—Werner Horn claimed immunity before a magistrate today from punishment by Canada for dynamiting the international bridge at St. Croix, N. B.

Having served a sentence in the United States for illegally transporting dynamite, he asserted that the blowing up of the bridge was an act of war for which the German government was responsible, as he was an officer of the German army.

"I admit everything," he said, "but in the enemy land I am acting as a German officer under protection of the German flag with the arms of a German regiment. On the American side I am responsible for transporting unlawfully dynamite and I am punished for this, but on the Canadian side my government was responsible—it was in war time."

The reunion will open in Chicago November 11.

WATSON'S RED CHARGE DENIED

Federal Trade Commission is Out with Accusation.

Declare Soviet Revelation is Packers' Propaganda.

Allege that Senator is Mixed up in Lobbying.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] WASHINGTON, Oct. 22. — The Federal Trade Commission, in a formal statement today, asserted that the charges made against the commission by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, and Senator Sherman, Republican, Illinois, were "part and parcel of the warfare of the Chicago meat packers against the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission with the purpose of subverting justice."

The commission said the good faith of Senator Watson's charges was open to question when it was remembered that the Senator was a "lobbyist" in 1909, and it charged that the Senator's "relations with the Chicago packers" were shown by certain correspondence, which the commission had taken from the files of Wilson & Co.

CHARGE ESPIONAGE.

Declaring that the commission and its employees had long been subject to an attack "that the public has never known about," the commission's statement said that while it was investigating the meat packers the government's representatives were trailed by detectives and that the commission's offices were entered "surreptitiously."

The commission declared it "challenges the proof, and with the proof, their sources and the means by which they were formulated."

MOTIVE ALLEGED.

Reciting that some of the commission's agents had been summoned as witnesses in the case against the packers, which the Department of Justice soon is to present to a Federal grand jury at Chicago, the commission asked if it was a coincidence that these men were the men assailed in Senator Watson's charges that the commission was a hot bed of Bolshevism, sedition and anarchy.

When the commission made public its statement, Senator Watson's charges were being discussed on the floor of the Senate. The Indiana Senator said the information on which they were based came "from inside the commission itself," and had not been furnished by the packers.

HARRIS IN DEFENSE.

Senator Kenyon, Republican, Iowa, said the commission never was attacked "until it had nerve enough to tell the people something about the packers," while Senator Harris, Democrat, Georgia, vigorously defended the commission. He said there might be a few exceptions, but that as a whole "there are no more efficient or honorable employees in this government than those of the Federal Trade Commission."

The trade commission's reply to Senator Watson's charges follows in part:

"The charges made against the Federal Trade Commission by United States Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, coupled with other serious charges made against the commission by Senate resolution by Senator Sherman of Illinois, require answer.

"BLAME PACKERS.

"These things are part and parcel of the warfare of the Chicago meat packers against the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission, with the purpose of subverting justice.

"The Sherman charges were answered fully by the commission in July and since that time the author of the charges has not offered one word of the proof which he claimed to have. Instead of making good the first charges, new ones are brought. The commission challenges proof of the Sherman charges; it challenges proof of the Watson charges also.

"The dark side of these charges are open to question when it is remembered that Senator Watson was a lobbyist in 1909, as was shown in the report of the House of Representatives committee December 9, 1913. His relations with the Chicago packers are shown by certain correspondence which is here quoted.

"John C. Eversman, in February, 1918, was in the employ of Wilson & Co. as a special representative in Washington. Associated with him was George A. Sanderson, who has since been elected secretary of the United States Senate.

"PRESENT EVIDENCE.

"On February 1, 1918, the following telegram, taken from the files of Wilson & Co., Inc., was sent by V. D. Skipworth, vice-president of Wilson & Co.:

"'CHICAGO, February 1, 1918.

"'J. C. Eversman, Washington, D. C.

"'Test vote before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee 2 o'clock today regarding Interstate Commerce Commission retaining jurisdiction over rate matters. It is of the highest importance to see Senator Watson, who is on this committee, urging motion of Senator Cummins to report the commission. Please see him before committee meets.

"'V. D. SKIPWORTH.'

"Replaced over Wilson & Co.'s private wire from New York to Chicago, the following reply was sent:

"'(Over private wire from New York:)

"'Washington, V. D. S.

"'LONG CONFERENCE.

"'Had long conference with party suggested, situation resolves itself entirely to subordinating rate question to major one of securing time limit on War Finance Corporation bill. A determined effort being made to accomplish latter. Test vote on this proposition a tie, with Gore solid to Democrats absent. Test vote in Interstate Commerce Commission nine to eight in favor of commission. Outcome today depends on action of committee. Situation similar to White House, to which leading Democratic committeemen have been called. Compromise may confer on President rate-making power, only on condition of limiting operation of bill to one year after the war. Some compromise may be made to give the President rate-making power now, but to cease immediately after the war. I assume you regard major proposition more important. Additional information 5 p.m.

"'EVERSMAN.'

"SECRET" ATTACKS.

"The Federal Trade Commission and its employees have long been subject to an attack that the public has never known about, which now has come to reveal it. While the Federal Trade Commission's investigation of the meat packers was on, the commission's representatives were trailed by detectives who daily stood outside the doors of the commission's offices. The offices of the commission's representatives were entered surreptitiously.

"The Department of Justice is about to present to the federal grand jury the case against the Chicago meat packers. A considerable part of the evidence that is to be presented will be material gathered by the Federal Trade Commission's agents and some of these agents are summoned as witnesses. Already some of them are in Chicago.

"DISCREDITING EFFORT."

"It is not a coincidence that those men are the men assailed in the Watson charges that the Federal Trade Commission is a hotbed of Bolshevism, sedition and anarchy. The Federal Trade Commission has avoided giving immunity to the packers by calling them as witnesses and for this it has been and is being ceaselessly criticised; and, as the witnesses of the government are about to enter the grand jury, there is every effort to discredit them. This attack upon the personal conduct and character of faithful, loyal employees of the commission is of a piece with one of the series of paid advertisements published by the meat packers on October 9 throughout the United States, the heading of which was 'Encouraging Bolshevism,' and in which a scandalous charge against the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission was made so definitely as was possible for one not enjoying the immunity of senatorial privilege.

"OUTRAGEOUS ASSAULT."

"Senator Sherman has charged members of the Federal Trade Commission with what amounts to treason and conspiracy. Senator Watson charges the employees of the Federal Trade Commission with sedition and anarchy. The commissioners have stood many attacks, secret and public, but the commissioners feel that they would be derelict in their duty if they should let pass unchallenged the false, outrageous and despicable assault that has been made upon the honor of its staff, whose only offense is that they have stood steadfast in the performance of their duty, under persistent harassment, shadowing, pilfering of mail, efforts of employment and attempted seduction.

"All of which can be gone into in detail, but not here.

DENY RED TAINT.

"The commission now says with respect to Mr. Durand, Mr. Chase, Mr. Peter, Mr. Gheen, Mr. Kravitz, Mr. Daly and Mr. Holmes, these are in the employ of the commission or associate be-

AMERICAN SCIENCE INTERESTS FRENCH.

USE OF MURDERER'S GLANDS FOR YOUTH SAID TO BE SUCCCESSFUL.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.] PARIS, Oct. 22.—Publication in the European edition of the Herald of the news of the operation performed in San Quentin prison, California, last Friday, when the interstitial glands of a man who had just been hanged were transplanted in the body of an aged convict, created widespread interest in medical and scientific circles in Paris, and resulted in a statement to the Herald by Dr. Serge Voronoff, that he had made no less than 120 similar operations on animals, transplanting the glands in the bodies of men. He said he was awaiting results of the operation, and declared he believed they would be successful in every way.

"My intentions and the results of my experiments have been universally misunderstood," Dr. Voronoff said. "I make no claim to prolong life by transplanting the interstitial gland. That would be going contrary to nature, for we see that death often comes to children and to men 20, 30 or 40 years old. What I firmly believe is that when the grafting is done on a man 60 years old, he will, if the operation is successful, have the buoyancy and power of youth of a man of 35. If, on the other hand, a man of 60 is in such physical condition that he has at best only five years to live, the operation will not serve to prolong his life, but he will die at 65 or when his time comes. But if he is destined to live until he is 70, 75, or even longer, as many men do, he will not die as a decrepit old man."

Dr. Voronoff said that scientists were just beginning to discover the real secrets of the human body.

NO SUFFRAGE SESSION IN ARIZONA DECISION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.] PHOENIX, Oct. 22.—Gov. Campbell announced today he had telegraphed Gov. Stephens of California he would not call a special session of the Legislature this fall to consider ratification of the Federal constitutional amendment granting suffrage to women.

This telegram was in answer to one from Gov. Stephens inquiring if Gov. Campbell would call a special session if Governors of certain other western States would agree to do so.

HAVANA, Tuesday, Oct. 21.—Recommendations granting the right of suffrage to Cuban women and calling for participation by Cuba in the League of Nations have been placed in the revised platform of the Liberal party.

Your druggist gives back your money if it doesn't liven your liver and bowels and straighten you up without making you sick.

Ugh! Calomel makes you sick. It's horrible! Take a dose of the dangerous drug tonight and tomorrow you may lose a day's work.

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are sluggish and "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone tonight.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

LENINE ADMITS PLEA FOR PEACE.

Tells Manchester Guardian Correspondent in Rare Interview that Bullitt Carried Valid Proposal to Paris Supreme Council.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

The following interview with Nikolai Lenine by the Manchester Guardian's correspondent, who went to Russia to study the political situation, concerns the report offered to the Paris Peace Commission by William C. Bullitt, the American correspondent who was for a time an attache of the American delegation to Paris and who was sent, he says, to Russia by Col. House to talk with Lenine.

Bullitt, who resigned his post with the American delegation in May because of the rejection of his report, appeared before the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee early in September and made the sensational statement that Secretary Lansing had told him in Paris that he (Lansing) was greatly dissatisfied with the peace treaty and believed it would prove a failure.

Bullitt told the Senate that he had obtained from Lenine a proposal to the Allies that, if accepted, would establish peaceful relations with the soviet and lift the present blockade against soviet Russia. President Wilson, however, according to Bullitt, suppressed his (Bullitt's) report and never gave Lenine's offer a hearing at the conference.

Among the concessions which Lenine, according to Bullitt, offered the Allies were abandonment of his plan to nationalize the land in Russia, the decision to pay all foreign debts and "in other particulars to meet the western governments half way."

BY W. T. GOODE.

MANCHESTER (Eng.) Oct. 22.—An interview with Lenine had been a matter of some difficulty to arrange—not because he is unapproachable—he goes about with as little external trappings of precautions as myself—but because his time is so precious.

But at last it was arranged and I entered the Kremlin inclosure and drove across to the building where Lenine lives.

When Lenine entered the room I found myself facing a man of middle height, about 50 years old, active and well proportioned. His features at first glance seem to have a slight Chinese cast, and his hair and pointed beard have a ruddy-brown tinge. He speaks clearly in a well-modulated voice, and throughout the interview expressed himself with a lucidity that was as startling as it was refreshing.

FAITH IN BULLITT.

The guidance of the interview was left to me. I began at once. I wanted to know how far the proposals which Bullitt took to the conference at Paris still held good. Lenine replied that they still held good with such modification as the changing military situation might indicate. Later he added that in agreement with Bullitt, it had been stated that the changing military position might bring alterations. Continuing, he said that Bullitt was unable to understand the strength of British and American capitalism, but that if Bullitt were President of the United States peace would soon be made.

Then I took up again the thread by asking what was the attitude of the soviet republic to small nations who had split off from the Russian empire and had proclaimed their independence.

He replied that Finland's independence had been recognized in November, 1917, and that he (Lenine) personally had handed to Svinsuf-vud, the head of the Finnish republic, the state paper on which this recognition was officially made; that the soviet republic had announced some time previously that no soldiers of the soviet republic would cross the frontiers with arms in their hands, and that the soviet republic had decided to create a neutral strip or zone between their territory and Esthonia, and would declare this publicly; that it was one of their principles to recognize the independence of all small nations, and that finally they had just recognized the independence of Bashkir republic—and, he added, "the Bashkirs are a weak and backward people."

For the third time I took up the questioning, asking him what guarantees would be offered against the official propaganda among the western peoples if by any chance relations with the soviet republic were opened.

His reply was that they had declared to Bullitt that they were ready to sign an agreement not to make an official propaganda. As a government they were ready to undertake that no official propaganda should take place. If private persons undertook propaganda they would do it at their own risk, and would be amenable to the laws of the country in which they acted.

Russia has no laws, he said, against propaganda by the British people. England has such laws; therefore, Russia is more liberal-minded. They would permit, he said, the British, French or American government to carry on propaganda of their own.

He cried out against the Defense of the Realm Act, and as for the freedom of the press in France, he declared that he had just been reading Barbusse's novel, "Clarte," in which were two censored patches. "They censor novels in free, democratic France," he observed.

I asked if he had any general statement to make, upon which he replied that the most important thing for him to say was that the soviet system is the best, and that English workers and agricultural laborers would accept it if they knew it. He hoped that after peace the British government would not prohibit the publication of the soviet constitution. He said that the soviet system is even now victorious, and that the proof of that statement is seen in the persecution of soviet literature in free democratic countries.

My allotted time had expired and, knowing that he was needed elsewhere, I rose and thanked him and, making my way back through the council chamber and clerks' room to the stair and courtyard, where were young Russian guards, I picked up my droshky and drove back across Moscow to my room.

WOULD BREAK DOWN AND CRY

Mrs. Anderson Was Almost a Nervous Wreck.

She Had Suffered for Five Years.

Friends Comment on How Well She Looks.

"Since I began taking Tanlac I can go to the table and eat three meals a day, something I haven't been able to do in five years," was the statement of Mrs. Sibyl Anderson, 1524 Center street, Oakland, Cal., while talking to the Tanlac representative the other day.

"My stomach has been disordered for five years," continued Mrs. Anderson, "and I suffered with gastritis so bad that I could hardly breathe and at times I thought each breath would be the last. I would get so nervous sometimes that I could hardly stand it and I would simply break down and cry, and if I ever bent over I would get so dizzy I'd have to catch a chair or something to keep from falling down. My sleep was restless and broken and every morning I felt so tired that it was a job for me to drag myself about through the day, and several times every day I would have to lie down and rest. My appetite was poor and I could eat only one meal a day, and I lost so much strength that my skin turned yellow.

"My cousin, a trained nurse, recommended Tanlac to me and said it was just the thing I needed so I started taking it. And it's a fact, I hadn't taken half of my first bottle before my appetite picked up, my sleep was sound and my nerves were getting steady. That gave me encouragement and I kept right on taking it and now my health is perfect in every way and I just feel as good as I ever did in my life. Anything at all that I want to eat now never gives me any kind of a pain and does not cause gas to form on my stomach one bit, and I sleep without ever being disturbed in the least until it is time to get up, and every morning my housework is a pleasure to me. My nerves are in as good shape as they ever were in my life, and I have gained back so much of my lost weight and strength that my skin has all cleared up. My friends are all remarking about how well and happy I look and I always tell them Tanlac did it all."

Tanlac is sold in Los Angeles, Pasadena and San Diego by the Owl Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

SEEK TO SLAY TREATY POWER.

Majority in Foreign Relations Committee in New Plot.

Would Force Great Powers to Accept Reservations.

Effort to Break Down Economic Boycott Feature.

trade with a covenant-breaking state.

In the vote on all of these reservations Senator McCumber, Republican, North Dakota, who had stood with the "mild reservationists" against all previous committee proposals, voted with the majority. In every case, too, Senator Shields, Democrat, Tennessee, voted with the Republicans, the count on all important roll calls relating to the reservations standing eleven to six.

OPPOSES PREAMBLE.

On the provision requiring the assent of other powers, however, which was contained in a preamble to the reservation group, Senator McCumber joined the six Democrats in opposition. It was said that part of the programme, together with some additional reservations to be taken up later, had failed to secure the support of all the "mild" Republicans. The leaders, however, asserted they had the votes pledged to carry all of their proposals through the Senate.

This feature of the majority plan aroused particular opposition among the Democrats, who have stood determinedly against any qualifications that would require reopening of negotiations. The administration forces also objected strenuously to the Article X reservation, and to the one permitting trade between the nationals of the United States and the nationals of a covenant-breaking state. That privilege, they asserted, would upset the plan for the automatic boycott which league advocates have declared would be substituted in many cases of war.

THREE MORE COMING.

Action on three reservations on the majority programme was deferred, and it was said more would be added to the list before the next meeting of the committee. The three passed over would provide that Congress appoint American delegates to the league and delegates to such other international bodies as it chose; that steps should be taken by the league to prevent the white-slave traffic, and that the section validating the acts of the Alien Property Custodian should not be binding in any case where the laws of this country were violated.

Among those to be added is one regarding the voting power of the British dominions in the league. It now being generally conceded that the Johnson amendment will be defeated in the Senate. During the day debate on this amendment was begun, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, speaking in its support, and Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota, against it. Leaders do not expect a vote on it before Friday.

TEXT OF PREAMBLE.

The committee also reports the following reservations and understandings to be made a part and a condition of the resolutions of ratification, which ratification is not to take effect or bind the United States until the following reservations and understandings have been accepted . . . by at least . . . Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

(1.) The United States understands and construes Article X that in case of notice of withdrawal from the League of Nations . . . the United States shall be the sole judge as to whether all its . . . obligations under the said covenant have been fulfilled and notice of withdrawal by the United States may be given by a concurrent resolution of the Congress of the United States.

(2.) The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country or to interfere in controversies between nations . . . under the provisions of Article I, or to employ the military or naval forces of the United States under any article of the treaty for any purpose unless in any particular case the Congress . . . shall by act or joint resolution so provide.

RESTRICT MANDATES.

(3.) No mandate shall be accepted by the United States . . . except by action of the Congress of the United States.

(4.) The United States reserves to itself exclusively the right to decide what questions are within its domestic jurisdiction and declares that all domestic and political questions relating wholly or in part to its internal affairs including immigration, labor, coastwise traffic, the tariff, commerce and all other domestic questions are solely within the jurisdiction of the United States and are not under this treaty to be submitted in any way . . . to the consideration of . . . the League of Nations or any agency thereof . . .

(5.) The United States will not submit to arbitration or inquiry by the Assembly or by the council of the League of Nations . . . any questions which in the judgment of the United States depend upon or relate to its long-established policy commonly known as the Monroe Doctrine; said doctrine is to be interpreted by the United States alone and is hereby declared to be wholly outside the jurisdiction of said League of Nations and entirely unaffected by any provision contained in the said treaty of peace with Germany.

(6.) The United States withholds its assent to Articles CLVI, CLVII and CLVIII (Shantung.) and reserves full liberty of action with respect to any controversy which may arise under said articles between the republic of China and the empire of Japan.

(No. 7 in the committee list was passed over without action.)

(8.) The United States understands that the reparations commission will regulate or interfere with exports from the United States to Germany or from Germany to the United States only when the United States approves such regulation or interference.

(9.) The United States will not be obligated to contribute to any expenses of the League of Nations or of the secretariat or of any commission or committee or conference or other agency, organized under the League of Nations or under the treaty, or for the purposes of carrying out the treaty provisions, unless and until an appropriation of funds available for such expenses have been made by the Congress of the United States.

(10.) If the United States shall at any time adopt any plan for the limitation of armaments proposed by the council of the League of Nations under the provisions of Article VIII, it reserves the right to increase such armament without the consent of the council whenever the United States is threatened with invasion or engaged in war.

(No. 11 also was passed over.)

(12.) The United States reserves the right to permit, in its discretion, the nationals of a covenant-breaking state, as defined in Article XVI of the covenant of the League of Nations, to continue their commercial, financial and personal relations with the nationals of the United States.

(13.) The final reservation on the list also was passed over.

When the peace treaty came up in the Senate, leaders indicated that a vote on the Johnson amendment to equalize voting power in the league Assembly might be indefinitely postponed if a committee reservation were adopted.

ANTI-BRITISH TALK.

Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, declared the British colonies always acted together whenever it was in their interest to do so.

As it now stands, he said, the "League of Nations would have within it "another league, old and tested and tried, the league of the British empire" holding a dominance "in comparison with which Rome at the height of its glory passed into insignificance."

In reply to Senator Hitchcock, Mr. Borah conceded that the United States would have power to veto Canada's admission to the council, but he said this nation would be loath to exercise the veto because of "the disagreeable onus" and resultant feeling.

Opposing the Johnson amendment, Senator Kellogg, Republican, Minnesota, declared that its provision giving the United States six votes in the league assembly would make for inequality.

VON DER GOLTZ STILL ENEMY OF BOSHEVIKS.

GENERAL'S RESIGNATION DOES NOT MEAN HIS RETIREMENT TO PENSION.

[BY CABLE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

BERLIN, (via Copenhagen, Oct. 21.—Apparently confident that his resignation will be accepted and the case against him thereby closed, Gen. Von der Goltz may again attempt to join the fight against Bolshevism. The opinion is expressed here today that he considers returning to the Baltic to help the Russian troops with which more than half of his former command is now amalgamated.

Having sounded the situation since his arrival in Berlin Friday, the Count today consented to an interview, during which he staunchly stood by his guns, insisting that Col. Bermondt's work was one of which the Entente should approve, and that no charges were possible against the German government because some 15,000 or 20,000 Germans saw fit to join the Russian colors. He compared it later to the enlistment of Germans and French in the foreign legion.

ENTENTE SHOULD ASSIST.

"Bermondt's venture can succeed," he said, "unless supplies are completely shut off from the German side. I hope that the Entente commission will now be able to grasp the purpose of his efforts and understand that he is doing exactly the same as Denikine.

"He is trying to help create the United States of Russia and that this plan shall be successful must be the hope of everyone working for lasting peace, for if the Baltic provinces become English colonies, which is certain if given the appearance of independent states, a war between Russia and the English is unavoidable, because Russia needs the harbors and provinces. Only the organization of the United States of Russia can insure peace there."

TURN ROBBER BANDITS.

Asked what would happen if the Entente enforced their present views against his former troops, now Russian soldiers, he said some of them might be compelled to return to Germany, but that many would remain in the Baltic as robber bandits. He insisted that each man had acted of his own volition and from a desire to take up land, and that the movement was entirely independent and contrary to the wishes of the German government. He frankly refused to discuss his own plans, but men who know him say there is no likelihood of his settling down as a pensioner.

OIL LEASE BILL FOR PUBLIC LANDS ONLY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Apparent misconception of the terms of the pending oil leasing bill, reflected in Mexico City dispatches, led Chairman Sinnott, of the House Public Lands Committee, to issued a formal statement today, declaring the bill had no relation to privately owned claims.

"It has been thought in some quarters that the bill related to privately owned lands or lands heretofore sold or granted by the United States," the statement says. "This is not the case. The bill has no application whatever to the immense areas of private lands held by oil developers, or to any such lands which have been heretofore granted or sold by the United States. The bill also carefully protects valid existing, unperfected claims on the public lands."

FLOODS IN NORTH TEXAS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DALLAS (Tex.) Oct. 22.—Flood conditions were prevalent over a large portion of North Texas tonight as a result of heavy rains during the last forty-eight hours and which continued in some sections tonight. Considerable crop damage was reported and dwellers in the lowlands of the northern reaches of the Trinity River were seeking safety on higher ground. Several railroad washouts were reported.

Whether there will be a serious flood in the Trinity and Brazos rivers depends on the amount of rainfall during the next twenty-four hours, according to the Dallas Weather Bureau, which predicted a stage of thirty-three to thirty-six feet in the Trinity at Dallas by Thursday night. Flood stage at Dallas is twenty-five feet, which stage already had been passed tonight.

In West Texas, where the precipitation also is general, over an inch of rain was reported in Tom Green, Sterling, Coke, Runnels, Concho and Brown counties.

STRAUS DEFENDS PEACE TREATY.

New York's Well-Loved Citizen Pleads for Peace.

Covenant of Sinai Called World's First Moral Step.

Quotes "Father of Country" in Support of League.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—That the covenant of the League of Nations which is incorporated in the treaty of peace with Germany is one of the four documentary landmarks of the march of civilization from the earliest times was the keynote of an address by Oscar Straus of New York tonight at a great meeting here under the auspices of the District of Columbia Nonpartisan League of Nations Committee.

The meeting was held in a liberty hut in the very shadow of the Capitol, where the final battle is being waged for the ratification of the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant. Secretary of the Navy Daniels presided on the platform with Republicans and Democrats of national standing, evidence of the nonpartisan character of the fight for ratification of the treaty.

"The colossal magnitude of the sacrifice and sufferings in this war, the greatest in all history, renders it for the first time possible as well as imperative to bring the nations in concert to make the peace of the world more secure for the future than it has ever been in the past. Now is the time; now or never. The eventful hour has sounded.

"While our Senators continue their endless and hair-splitting debating, the world is impatiently waiting," said Mr. Straus.

The speaker called attention to the fact that following the armistice the age-long dream of world peace came into the realm of practical politics, the organization of the world on a basis of peace instead of war.

OF LIMITED VISION.

"It would seem, in listening to the debates in the Senate, that the opponents lose sight of the central and outstanding purpose of the covenant, and in striking their heads against single trees they fail to see the majestic and beautiful forest," he continued.

"The documentary landmarks of the march of civilization from the earliest times to our day are first, the covenant of Sinai, which prescribed the duties of man to his maker and to his fellow-men; the second, the Magna Charta, which limited the power of sovereignty and defined the rights of organized peoples; the third, the Constitution of the United States, which established the equal rights of a sovereign people under a democratic republic; the fourth, the covenant of the League of Nations, which united the nations of the world on a basis of right instead of a dominance of might, on a basis of peace instead of war, secured by the united power of the covenanting nations."

PRECEDENT FOR FIGHT.

Asking that those who are working for the ratification of the treaty and covenant be not discouraged by the opposition, Mr. Straus pointed out that the covenant of Sinai and the Constitution had equally hard sledding.

"The Constitution came near being lost by proposed amendments," he said. "Virginia at first refused to ratify, and insisted upon a series of amendments. At least it may be said of Massachusetts that her present distinguished Senator, in offering his amendments, is following precedent of his State, and I trust he will follow that precedent to the end, for Massachusetts finally ratified the Constitution without amendment when the crisis was most imminent. Washington exerted his tremendous influence, and tipped the scales. Let me read you what he said, for it is so applicable to the present situation. He said:

"'If another Federal convention is attempted, its members will be more discordant and will agree on no general plan. The Constitution is the best that can be obtained—the Constitution or disunion is before us to choose from. If the Constitution is our choice, a constitutional door is open for amendments, and they may be adopted in a peaceable manner, without tumult or disorder.'"

The speaker emphasized the fact that none of the opponents of the treaty has suggested any alternate plan for securing the world's peace. He said that rejection of the league would throw the world back into a baneful system of a balance of power and promote the repetition on a more gigantic scale of the conditions which brought on the world war. This would mean a greater army and navy, probably double the size, with immensely increased expenditures. In conclusion, the speaker said:

"Shall it be our dishonor, after the glorious part that we have taken in winning the war, that we refuse to unite with our allies in arms, to translate our glorious victory in war into an even more glorious victory for the future peace of the world?

"Such would be our position, and such would be the effect, if we send the treaty back with amendments or drastic reservations which amount to amendments, reservations which would compel Great Britain, in order to agree to them, to exclude from the Assembly of the league her self-governing dominions, such as Australia and Canada, whose valiant armies contributed so materially in winning the war; those dominions whose ideals of liberty are so near akin to our own."

A HOME MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary.

Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off. —[Advertisement.

ARIZONA NEWS.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 22.—The Phoenix City Commission today unanimously agreed to issue no more boxing permits after November 7, for which the Phoenix Athletic Club already had been given permission to hold an exhibition. The issue was brought up by application from the State Fair Commission, represented by H. R. Daggs, that it be given exclusive right to such exhibitions during fair week. Also mixed in the resultant controversy was a competing club, the Monarch. There has been protest against what appeared to have been overdevelopment of the boxing game in the city, the protestants being officially represented by City Commissioner J. A. R. Irvine.

A Coroner's jury today exonerated Lee Wright of blame for the shooting at the fair grounds of John L. Donnelly, the grounds superintendent, who died of his wounds last night. Self-defense was established on the testimony of a dozen witnesses, mainly horsemen. One witness testified that Donnelly, just after the shooting, told his wife, "Don't prosecute Wright. I can tend to him myself."

From Bisbee has been received news of the death at that point of J. C. Ryan, county road engineer, from pneumonia following injuries from collision of his car with a truck that was running at night without lights.

P. D. Hamon, assistant to the State Historian, has died in a local hospital. He had been admitted to the bar in California.

Gov. Stephens of California has asked Gov. Campbell to help the suffrage cause by calling an immediate session of the Arizona Legislature to pass the Susan B. Anthony amendment. Campbell answered that the matter would be included in the call for a special Arizona session next spring, there being nothing else just now of importance to warrant the expense of an extra session.

A. E. Fletcher, State Engineer of California, and the California Highway Commission membership are expected in Phoenix, November 27, to confer with the Arizona highway department in regard to Arizona connections with the highways proposed to be constructed in California to the Colorado River at Yuma, Blythe and Needles.

WEIRD HUNGER HORROR IN MOSCOW'S STREETS.

RUSSIAN PRINCESS SAYS SUFFERING OF PEOPLE UNBELIEVABLY SAD.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

PARIS, Oct. 22.—Weird pictures of Moscow's hunger are given in the Figaro by a Russian princess arriving from Russia.

"I will not speak of the terrible, revolting and odious things that passed in the streets of Moscow," she said. "But only of the hunger incidents I saw with my own eyes, and which were repeated day after day. I met a woman and a child, ragged and thin as skeletons, the child crying constantly with an unchanging expression of terror. The mother said that the child was hungry and asked for a piece of bread, as they had not eaten for twenty-four hours. I opened my purse, but the woman turned away, saying, 'No, not money, but bread.'

A SOVIET SACRIFICE.

"Another time I saw a blonde-haired young girl with arms outstretched, leaning like a living crucifix against a wall and murmuring, 'I am hungry.' Next day she died.

"I have seen in the middle of a side street a great yellow, hollow-sided dog, carrying a bone with a little meat attached, while a 10-year-old boy a few steps away, with a pallor of long misery on his face, watched the dog as if hypnotized. With neck outstretched, mouth open and fist clenched, he looked at the dog with hate and ferocity.

"I have seen children hardly clothed, hollow-cheeked and with forms like shadows, on their knees in the street, trying to pick from between the paving stones grains of wheat that had fallen from a torn sack. I have seen before bakeries men, women and children stretched on the cold stone, awaiting through days and nights their turn to get their meager ration of bread, and then often falling exhausted and dying at the doorsteps before they received it."

LANSING AT HELM MAKES CHANGES IN PARIS POLICY

Refuses Positively to Permit the Use of American Troops in the Silesian Plebiscite.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—With Secretary of State Lansing now directing the policy of the United States at the Paris conference, there was noted today a decided departure from the general plan of subservience to European desires which during the recent negotiation had been in evidence.

Two important decisions not in harmony with the wishes of some of the European statesmen or with general interpretation of President Wilson's own views were made known today. One is that the United States will not send troops to help supervise the plebiscites in Silesia or elsewhere, and the other is that no American shall participate in the League of Nations commission or other commissions provided for in the peace treaty pending ratification of the document by the United States Senate.

Secretary Lansing is understood to take the view that, so far as the United States is concerned, these various commissions do not even exist. Legally, he holds that the treaty and the league covenant have no force whatever that may be construed as implying obligations for Americans until the Senate has sanctioned their existence. Therefore, Undersecretary of State Polk, head of the American peace delegation, has received specific instructions from Mr. Lansing not to permit American participation in any form contrary to the strict interpretation of the Constitution. As a result, the American delegation will remain aloof from the various commissions formed pending action by the Senate.

BARS USE OF SOLDIERS.

The position taken by the United States with regard to Europe's desire that American troops participate in Silesia and other places where plebiscites are coming is even more specific. No single American soldier is to be used by Marshal Foch or any other European, or even American, commander in Europe for duty under the peace treaty or its ratifications.

The decision of Mr. Lansing, concurred in by Secretary of War Baker, is that the government of the United States has no right so to employ American troops until the Senate ratifies the treaty or the Congress of the United States gives specific permission.

Mr. Baker, in response to questions, cleared up the Silesian issue, which has been in a maze of doubt for some days. Asked if he had heard from Gen. Bliss, the American military representative at Paris, concerning the possible use of 5000 American troops for Silesia, Mr. Baker responded frankly that he had received a communication. Gen. Bliss, he said, had cabled to ask what was the department's attitude toward using these troops prior to the treaty's ratification. In reply, Mr. Baker cabled that under no circumstances could the American troops be employed for any duty under the peace treaty until the treaty had been formally ratified or until the Senate ratified it.

SENATE HAS POWER.

Reports have reached Mr. Baker that the Senate might desire to put in a reservation in the peace treaty covering the use of American troops in Europe. For this reason he felt that it would be all the more unthinkable for him or any other government agency to permit something which might prove contrary to the desires of the Senate charged with the responsibility of putting the treaty in final form for ratification.

In view of the strong pressure from Paris to force the United States to accept membership on the various commissions in advance of ratification and to send American troops to supervise plebiscites, the action of Mr. Lansing appears all the more decisive. It has been necessary for some to decide and to decide quickly whether he would concur in the European suggestions.

A DEFINITE STAND.

It now appears that his decisions are of such a definite character that there will be no mistaking where America stands. In other words Europe has been impressed with the all-important fact that the United States Senate is now the deciding factor in the case, and that the interests of America are to be regulated in strict accordance with the Senate's wishes and with no tendency either to try to force the Senate's hand or anticipate the Senate's action.

It is understood that matters are progressing rapidly in Paris along certain lines, Mr. Lansing having disposed of a number of questions which it was feared would mean prolonged debate and disagreements.

The State Department's announcement has had the effect of setting at rest reports that the President might disregard the advice of the Foreign Relations Committee and name an American to act unofficially on the reparations commission. When he asked the committee's consent to such a step, some weeks ago, it replied that neither it nor the Executive had any authority to put treaty provisions into force until ratification had been accomplished.

PRESCRIPTION BOOZE IS CHICAGO'S HOPE.

PARTNERSHIPS BETWEEN BARKEEPS AND DRUGGISTS TO PREVENT FUTURE ARIDITY.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Enforcement of the War-time Prohibition Act which becomes a law if President Wilson does not use his veto powers will drive a lot of saloonkeepers into the drug business.

Booze can be sold, saloonkeepers say, on a doctor's prescription, and several proprietors of soft drink emporiums have arranged to go into the drug business with established druggists as partners.

"It's a million to one shot that the President will not veto the act," said Pat O'Malley, who formerly ran a wholesale and retail liquor house. "A lot of saloon-keepers have whisky in bond on which they have paid the $6.40 government tax. By going into the drug business they can take this whisky out of bond, as I understand it, and sell it on a doctor's prescription. Not more than half a pint can be sold on one prescription.

"I know several saloon men who are going into partnership with druggists. Whisky has been sold by druggists on a doctor's prescription since July 1, and I am told they have done a big business.

"There is no law to prevent a saloon-keeper becoming a partner of a druggist. With the right kind of a doctor on their staff they ought to be able to get along and sell forty or fifty gallons a day. All they need is the little slip of paper with the doctor's moniker on it.

"Some doctors expect to be pretty busy writing prescriptions. I know three or four who have bought new fountain pens and laid in large quantities of prescription blanks. They look forward to a very busy season.

ONE PRICE TO ALL.

"I do not know how much these doctors will charge for a booze prescription, but even at two bits apiece it will be a tidy sum. An arrangement could be made between the druggist and the doctor whereby no charge would be made to the patient, but they can soak him when he pays for the half-pint of booze.

"I look for a very large increase in the drug business this coming winter. Colds and other epidemics, you know, demand treatment, and the druggist will have the popular remedy."

EPISCOPALIANS WILL LAUNCH ADVERTISING.

CAMPAIGN FOR CHURCH EXPANSION AND MEMBERSHIP IS DECIDED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

DETROIT, Oct. 22.—Supervision of church work has been delegated by the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church to five departments under the direction of an executive board of twenty-four bishops, clergy and laity. The house of bishops today is acting on a new canon to this effect already adopted by the house of deputies.

The five departments created are those of missions and church extension, social service, religious education, finance and publicity. Women will be eligible to seats in each department. Four meetings each year are provided for.

Constructive advertising and publicity work for the church will be conducted under the direction of the new publicity department. The old board of missions is entirely done away with.

The house of deputies this morning, in executive session, ratified the election last Saturday by the house of bishops of the following to be missionary bishops:

Suffragan Bishop Thomas J. Garland of Pennsylvania, to the missionary district of Utah; William Henry Ovare, Bradford, Pa., to Liberia; Samuel W. Grice, negro, of Petersburg, Va., to Haiti; Dr. James C Morris, Madison, Wis., to the Panama Canal Zone, and Dr. Gouveneur D. Mosher, Wu Sin, China, to the Philippine Islands.

SCHOOLMA'AMS' DUTY IS TO BE WELL DRESSED.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 22.—"A teacher who is not well dressed and cheerful is not worth his or her salt," Dr. William McAndrew, associate superintendent of the New York schools, told 1500 delegates to the convention of the California Teachers' Association (northern section) in an address today.

"Give the taxpayers their money's worth," Dr. McAndrew said. "Let the teachers dress as if they were going out to see their sweethearts or were expecting a call. Don't wait until the day is over to dress up and look your best. Do it while at your business."

Separate sessions were held this afternoon for high school, rural elementary school and city elementary school sections.

DENIES FARMER IS A PROFITEER.

Senator Capper Asserts Money Lost by Grain Raisers.

"Live-Stock Men Squeezed by Widely Varying Markets."

Urges Immediate Lifting of Foreign Wheat Embargo.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The farmers' side of the high cost of living question was presented to the Senate today by Senator Capper, Republican, of Kansas, who declared that while farmers are selling their products at a loss in declining markets, the consumers are paying rising prices.

Faulty distribution was blamed largely for this "remarkable spectacle" and the Senator urged a number of remedies to increase production. He deplored the numerous industrial strikes, and the small representation given agriculture in the industrial conference.

"In our efforts to get rid of the high cost of living disease," said Mr. Capper. "I fear we are in great danger of dying of the remedy. As a result of Washington's effort to reduce high prices by breaking down entirely the cost of food, we have the remarkable spectacle of a rise of 1 per cent. in the cost of living, coincident with market drops that are putting live-stock raisers out of business, and causing serious losses to other producers."

Illustrating the anomalous situation of farmers and consumers, Senator Capper said farmers are selling their wheat at a loss, adding:

"It takes four and a half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour. The wheat raiser gets about $8.37 for the wheat, the miller $13.70, the baker $58.70 and the hotel-keeper here in Washington, as it is doled out in thin slices, $587."

The government, through the Grain Corporation, Senator Capper said, profited $23,000,000 at the expense of farmers last year, the farmers selling from 20 to 70 cents less than the guaranteed price.

LOSS IN LIVE STOCK.

"The situation of the live-stock farmer is even more deplorable," he said. "Farmers are selling their grain-fed beeves and hogs for less than it cost to produce them, but the consumer finds little or no change in the price of meat.

"While everything a farmer must buy demands the high dollar, the price of his commodities, the cheapest in the market, are held down by a foreign embargo and a government guarantee.

"Without visibly helping the consumer, we have brought about a crisis in our most fundamental and vital industry by forcing the producer to accept prices at which he cannot continue to produce, while he and the consumer are compelled to pay prices at which they are forced to curtail the home demand."

Citing losses sustained by agricultural producers, Senator Capper said the recent decline in live-stock prices had cost producers $80,000,000. Live-stock growers, he said, do not control the markets and, like other agricultural producers, must accept prices fixed by others.

FARMHANDS IN CLOVER.

Farm wages have doubled, land values have risen enormously, and everything the farmer buys, he said, has risen from 50 to 300 per cent.

Among the remedies suggested by Senator Capper were cessation of "Federal government propaganda which tends to bear down the prices of farm products."

"Executive departments," he said, "should seek wider markets for the farmer by lifting the embargo on wheat and wheat flour to Europe, by extending credits to European governments, and by lowering ocean freight rates."

Legislation to free the live-stock producer of alleged control of the markets by the packers also was urged by Senator Capper, who suggested establishment of co-operative farm-selling agencies.

BEWARE; ROUND-FACED WOMEN ARE WINNERS!

KANSAS PROFESSOR SAYS SUCCESS IS INDICATED IN PERSON'S FEATURES.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—"Long-faced men and round-faced women are nature's foreordained winners. The tall, nervous, long-faced man has the maximum mental vigor and moral control. The round-faced man lacks initiative, is governed by tradition, and readily accepts subordination, exploitation and poverty that come with defeat. He suffers more from epidemics, and is a ready victim of dissipation. In civilized countries his lack of earning power forces him into the slums of the cities or into less favored occupations in the country. Against him an elimination is working, that cuts him off in each generation almost as fully as an elimination works against the long-faced woman," said Prof. D. N. Page, of Omaha, formerly of the University of Kansas, visiting here.

"The frontispieces of our magazines give us the round-faced girl as the approved type of feminine beauty. The long-faced woman is narrow hipped and large boned. Men dislike the long-faced woman, and seldom marry her unless forced by economic necessity. The result is that an elimination works against the long-faced woman. They seldom marry, or, if married, are the source of the much discussed race suicide. The round-faced woman on the other hand, gets married early, and brings up many children, so the tendency is to perpetuate her type, which is manifestly the favorite of mother nature."

A PARDONABLE DECEPTION

The taking of the old-time laxative was an experience of extreme unpleasantness to most of us. The disgusting of the unpleasant taste has been accomplished in PURLETTS, the candy-laxative. The natural tastes of the ingredients are completely camouflaged by a candy-like flavor. The pleasing deception does not interfere with the action of the tablets—they are completely efficient as a laxative.

PURLETTS contain no drastic purgatives and therefore restore the normal tone of the bowels and help to re-establish the normal functions. There are 36 of these candy-like tablets in the 25c boxes.

PURLETTS are featured in all stores of The Owl Drug Co.—[Advertisement.

NO MANDATORY FOR ARMENIANS

Majority Report of Mission to Near East in Negative.

Civilians of Committee Favor American Supervision.

America's Foreign Field Lies in Pacific, is Claim.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sunday, Oct. 12.—Recommendations of a majority of the members of the Harbord mission, which has been devoting seven weeks to a close-up investigation of Armenia and the Middle East, that the United States should decline to accept a mandate for Armenia or Turkey, are based largely on the argument that America's duty lies closer at home.

Civilian members of the mission who favor acceptance of a mandate, for Armenia at least, argue, on the contrary, that acceptance is a duty, first, to the peace of Europe, and, secondly, to the helpless inhabitants, who of themselves can never rise from the mire of ignorance, poverty and race prejudice.

REPORT COMPLETED.

The report of the various members upon their observations during their journey of nearly 10,000 miles by water, rail, automobile and on horseback are practically completed.

The majority of the members have indicated their belief that if a mandate is taken, the United States should have a long period in which to educate the peoples of the Middle East, and promote their prosperity so they can live together peacefully.

Several military members of the mission regard the regulation of the affair of the regions as a relatively simple internal problem if complete control over all the territory is given, with authority to discipline unruly civilians. They feel, however, as Americans, that America's task lies closer at home, in restoring order in Mexico and helping the states of South America.

IDEAL SOLUTION.

Civilian members favoring acceptance of a mandatory say the ideal solution is to intrust the task to one outside nation. A majority of the inhabitants, they say, want America as the disinterested friend, and also as the nation best suited to organize them along civilized lines. These members hold that if America does not accept the mandate it will mean a partition of Turkey proper along the lines already begun, with constant disputes over frontiers between France, Italy, Great Britain and Greece.

The civilian members argue that if the United States were to take a mandate for Armenia alone, it would involve the United States in some degree in the quarrels of Europe. The Armenian people, too, are not sufficiently numerous, and their territory not large enough, they say, to give Armenia a respectable chance as a state.

Many members of the mission emphasize the need for America to face squarely the far eastern issue, declaring that the Pacific is America's foreign field, whereas the Ottoman problem belongs to Europe.

A.F.L. TELLS BANKERS OLD ORDER MUST GO.

UNION LABOR LEADER PREDICTS ESTABLISHMENT OF INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—The establishment of an industrial democracy through collective action and by collective bargaining, is the intention of labor, according to an address prepared by Matthew Woll, vice-president of the American Federation of Labor, and read before the convention of the Investment Bankers' Association today.

"It is unfair and radically wrong to permit the old order and relation of master and servant to continue," said Mr. Woll's letter. "This relation must give way to the more humane and modern relation of co-operators. The employer cannot and must not be permitted to say to the workers in the future, as he has in the past: 'These are the standards; these are the requirements which you are to observe if you are to have employment with me.' If you do not like these standards, if you do not meet these requirements, then go on; I shall have nothing to do with you.'

"To the workers this is industrial autocracy of the same vicious form that was formerly exercised by the Kaiser. This arbitrary and autocratic rule of the employers must be restroyed and the idea of democracy must be put in its place.

"The right of the workers to be consulted; the right of workers to have an impelling voice in the management of business and in the determining of the relations, the standards and the requirements of employment which should govern, must be permitted a full and free exercise."

EMPLOYERS SHOULD ORGANIZE

"The American Federation of Labor," said Mr. Woll's letter, "is not opposed to the organization of employers. On the contrary, it favors the organization of employers. In doing so, it likewise demands for the wage-earners that same right to organization, that some privilege of assisting and helping each other in determining the conduct of business."

Following a report of the taxation committee of the association, a resolution was passed by the convention recommending that a nonpartisan body, composed of practical and representative men, be appointed forthwith by the government to study the effect of war taxation in its relation to business and to report at the earliest possible time its recommendations for simplifying and readjusting the Federal tax laws along lines of the least injustice and discrimination between different classes of taxpayers, and for the encouragement of business development.

DOG CHASES BURGLARS.

But Robbers Get Away with Loot from Al Manning's Home.

Though A. L. Manning, chief of criminal investigation for the Sheriff's office, was busily engaged in Los Angeles when burglars entered his house at 354 Oak Knoll avenue, Pasadena, Tuesday, his thoroughbred Irish terrier, Pat, was on the job. According to neighbors, the dog chased the burglars several blocks.

The burglars obtained about $700 worth of loot, including $128 in cash, three watches, silverware, a lavaliere and other articles. The burglary occurred while Mrs. Manning was away and three children were at school.

ESCAPES FROM NORWALK.

A report was received by the Sheriff's office yesterday that Frank Dyer escaped from the State Hospital at Norwalk on Tuesday afternoon. Officers are searching for the man.

COLE ESTATE.

Mrs. Ellen J. Cole, who died at Pasadena on October 3, left an estate of $37,000, according to a will filed for probate yesterday. The entire estate was bequeathed to Rufus J. Cole, a son, of Pasadena.

PRODUCTION of PACKARD TWIN-SIX to be Doubled NEXT YEAR

The PACKARD TWIN-SIX ENGINE

ON September 2nd, 1919, the twenty-four thousandth Packard Twin-Six Motor Car was delivered to its owner.

It is worth noting that the engine in this twenty-four thousandth Twin-Six was practically identical with the original Twin-Six Engine introduced to the motoring world in June, 1915.

No experienced motorist will miss the importance of this fact—especially when he knows that in doubling our production for 1920 we shall still make no major change in the engine.

A basic engineering principle such as the Twin-Six embodies is not come at by chance—nor easily "improved."

The war aviation emergency, the greatest stimulus to motor engineering the world has ever known, confirmed definitely the 12-cylinder "V" type (Twin-Six) motor as a success because never before had flexibility, power and lack of vibration been combined to such a high degree in a single unit.

Most people are used to seeing cars change year after year—reflecting the faults found by owners on the road—or for the sake of "talking" points—or indicating a desire to make the owner buy a new car every season.

Established standards like the Twin-Six motor are certainly necessary—but none too plenty in the automobile business today.

To the man with a motor problem we have this to say—especially if he has been looking for a motor car which cannot be wished out-of-date overnight.

The Packard Twin-Six principle is Established—a permanent contribution to the Passenger Transportation service of the world.

With your experience with the best of other cars fresh in mind—a single drive in the Packard Twin-Six will show you by direct comparison a new standard for acceleration, smoothness, speed, comfort, safety.

"I'll Name My Wife and Save the Fee"

So said a thrifty citizen to another with whom he was discussing the making of a Will and naming an Executor.

"That's what Brown did," said the other man. "He named his wife, and so saved the fee, and she LOST THE WHOLE ESTATE.

"So far as I am concerned, I have named the Security Trust & Savings Bank as my Executor. The fee, fixed by law, is too small to risk not having the estate in the hands of that strong, competent institution."

TRAINING IN PHOTOPLAY WRITING

Develop Your Natural Creative Gifts — Read How This New Art Can Be Easily Mastered

THE public is clamoring for better motion pictures. Producers are frantically searching the country for new plays. Thousands of new stories are required each year by the various producers—more than all the big fiction magazines publish in two years!

The motion picture has brought forth a new and more direct language—a language of scenic expression and action. Unfortunately, few people have been given an opportunity to learn this new language because producers hitherto offered no means outside the studios for practical training in photoplay writing. This has resulted in a story famine so serious as to threaten the future stability of the country's fifth largest industry.

Talented men and women must be found and trained for this new work at any cost. They must be taught to think and write in this new language if the screen is to secure the fresh plot material it demands.

The Palmer Photoplay Corporation was founded one year ago to meet this demand. In that short time we have become the foremost clearing-house for original film-story material. Many of our students have sold their plays through us, some for as high as $1000. A number already have taken scenario positions in the studios. Producers are continually calling on us for plays written by writers who have trained themselves through us.

The Palmer Plan of Photoplay Writing offers to men and women of creative ability a real short-cut to the name and fame and money rewards this fascinating profession brings. You can now obtain this training in your own home during your spare time. Our money-back guarantee is proof of our confidence to train you successfully.

If you have good ideas for screen plays and would like to know how we can help you develop and sell them for top prices, mail the coupon below or call personally for full information.

CECIL B. DE MILLE, Director-General Famous Players-Lasky Corp'n, says:

"I have no doubt that the amateur creative mind can be trained and developed under proper systems and competent teachers. From what I have seen and heard of the Palmer Plan, I regard it as notably the most effective method now in existence for developing the amateur creative mind."

LOIS WEBER, Famous Producer, Director and Author, says:

"It is with satisfaction that I learn of your extensive, intelligent and thorough preparation to supply the great need of photoplays. Please be assured of my hearty co-operation and support, and submit for my consideration any material you have that you believe would interest me."

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Luster to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—[Advertisement.

TAKE ASPIRIN RIGHT

Bayer Company, who introduced Aspirin in 1900, give proper directions.

To get quick relief follow carefully the safe and proper directions in each unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin." This package is plainly stamped with the safety "Bayer Cross."

The "Bayer Cross" means the genuine, world-famous Aspirin, prescribed by physicians for over eighteen years.

"Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" can be taken safely for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Joint Pains, Neuritis, and Pain generally.

Handy tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.—[Advertisement.

A Shampoo Worth Trying.

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleansed each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and may be enjoyed at very little expense, by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox, which can be obtained from any druggist's, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just to the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling in its action, as well as beneficial to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft fluffiness that makes it seem very heavy.—[Advertisement.

Motorman Not Losing Any Time

"I don't think anyone ever suffered more from stomach trouble and bloating than I have. I had to lay off my run more than half the time and could get no help from prescriptions or medicine. One of my friends advised using Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which I found to be the greatest remedy ever put on the earth. I have not lost a day since taking it. It is worth its weight in gold." It is a simple harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. At all druggists.—[Advertisement.

DANIELS TELLS OF FLEET PLANS.

Explains Division of Naval Strength for Power.

Pacific Armada is Hint to Japanese Jingoists.

Union Can Easily be Effected Through the Canal.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Without consulting the general board, the highest authority on strategy, Secretary of the Navy Daniels, with the approval of President Wilson, divided the navy into two equal parts, with one-half in the Atlantic and the other in the Pacific.

Secretary Daniels admitted this today in the course of an interview in which he took the position that in doing so he had not violated the principle of naval unity enunciated by Admiral Mahan, and sustained by the general board in its refusal ten years ago to sanction the division of the sea forces into Atlantic and Pacific fleets.

The Secretary contended that the opening of the Panama Canal, permitting the two fleets to "join within seven days," has changed the situation entirely and thought that Admiral Mahan would not regard the new disposition of forces as a division of the fleet.

ANNUAL UNION.

Mr. Daniels also asserted that both fleets would be consolidated once a year for maneuvers and war games against each other, alternating in the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, and that the plans for these consolidations for the purpose of waging actual war or for maneuvers were worked out in detail in advance of the formation of the fleets.

The creation of the Pacific Fleet has been attributed by some critics to the political motive of acquiring merit with the Pacific Coast States, to which it will mean more and bigger navy yards and increased business. Others have seen in Mr. Daniels's letter to Admiral Rodman, commander of the Pacific Fleet, a hint to Japan to show proper respect for the United States.

"Of course, I do not pretend to be an authority on naval strategy," said Secretary Daniels, "but the organization of the navy into two fleets of equal strength, placing each coast alike and capable of effecting a junction on short notice, appeared to me to be so eminently wise that I did not think of consulting the general board on the question. I am aware that some naval officers were inclined at first to view the move askance, but I know some of them now concede to the wisdom of the policy and I do not doubt that any remaining doubts will be removed by actual experience in the operation of the plan."

REVERSES MAHAN EDICT.

"Admiral Mahan's principle is as sound today as when he enunciated it," said Secretary Daniels. "It is a cardinal principle of our disposition of naval forces today and, I would not think of violating it or permitting its violation. As Mahan pointed out, it was the division of naval forces that caused the defeat of the British by the French in the Revolutionary War and the defeat of the Russian navy by the Japanese. The fleets of the latter were divided and so far apart that one part could not join the other.

"Mahan properly warned against the maintenance of a fleet on each coast before the opening of the Panama Canal and when our navy was too small for organization into effective fleets. We all remember the days of '98 when we drew gray-headed waiting for the Oregon to round the Horn. But Mahan's premises are now qualified by the opening of the canal, which permits one fleet to join the other in seven days, before any enemy could attack either of our forces, and by the development of the navy to the point that permits us to organize two fleets consisting of all the necessary types of ships to make each fleet a properly-balanced fighting force.

NOT DIVIDED.

"Therefore it is a mistake to speak of the navy as 'divided,' in the sense that the two fleets are widely separated and unable to support each other. The more correct expression is that the navy is 'organized' in two great fleets, each composed of the same number of divisions of the various types of ships necessary to the tactical unit."

The Secretary's argument clearly indicated that the Panama Canal, its constant efficiency and protection, constitute the all-important element of the Daniels plan. Unquestionably one of the first moves of an enemy would be an attempt to put the Panama Canal out of commission to prevent a junction of the two American fleets.

"Are our naval bases and navy yards in the Pacific adequate for the operation of the Pacific fleet?" Mr. Daniels was asked.

"Not in the event of war," replied the Secretary. "Existing bases and yards will need to be expanded and others established and one of the purposes of my visit to the Coast and Hawaii was to survey these needs and report them to Congress. Of course, these needs will be very materially reduced if the reduction of armament programme works out satisfactorily under the League of Nations."

WANTS FAR EAST FLEET.
[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

MELBOURNE (Australia) Oct. 22.—The report of Admiral Lord Jellicoe concerning the naval defense of the Far East has been laid on the table of the Australian House of Representatives.

Admiral Jellicoe, who has been making a tour of the British dominions and dependencies to consider plans for their naval defense, reports that the naval interests of the British empire probably will demand within the next five years a strong far eastern fleet, comprising vessels of the royal navy, the East Indian squadron and the Australian, Canadian and New Zealand navies.

Admiral Jellicoe estimates the annual cost of the far eastern fleet at £19,750,000.

BRITISH SINK SOVIET SHIPS.

Supported by Esthonians, England's Sailors Win Victory in Gulf of Finland.

[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Two Bolshevik torpedo-boat destroyers were sunk in Koporia Bay, Gulf of Finland, when they attempted to attack Esthonian vessels and British destroyers Tuesday, the Admiralty announced today.

Six survivors from the Bolshevik vessels were picked up. The British and Esthonians sustained no casualties.

Four Bolshevik destroyers in all took part in the attempted attack.

KRASNAIA GORKA TAKEN.
[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

HELSINGFORS, Oct. 22.—The capture of Krasnaia Gorka, on the Gulf of Finland, nearly opposite Kronstadt, by the Northwestern Russian army is announced from that army's headquarters today. The capture was effected Monday after severe fighting. The battle for Petrograd is still continuing, with a heavy engagement six and one-half miles south of the city.

Bolshevik regiments from Moscow are taking part in the defense of Petrograd, the report adds.

Troops of the northwest army have reached Tsarkaia Slavianka, south of Tsarkoe-Selo and Palovsk. The Bolshevist troops, it is stated in the headquarter's report, are resisting obstinately and are holding up the advance to a certain extent.

YUDENITCH HALTED.
[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

LONDON, Oct. 22. — Gen. Yudenitch, commander of the Northwestern army, seems to have been brought to a virtual standstill by the stubborn defense of Petrograd, which is almost within sight of his men. Soviet forces are even reported to have taken the offensive north of Krasnoie Selo, but details of the fighting have not been as yet fully reported.

East of Pulkovo the Yudenitch army appears to have encountered strong Bolshevik columns. Pulkovo is about three miles from the only remaining railroad line running south from Petrograd, and the importance of retaining control of this road may explain the savage fighting in that sector. Late reports state that heavier artillery is being brought up by Gen. Yudenitch.

GDOFF FORCE BROKEN.

Soviet troops reported to have been concentrated near Gdoff, near Lake Peipus, are said to have been scattered by the anti-Bolsheviki. The presence of this force on the left flank of the Yudenitch army constituted a seeming menace to the whole movement against Petrograd and also appeared to indicate that the Bolsheviki are still quite strong on the coast west of Petrograd.

Kronstadt has not surrendered to the anti-Bolsheviki and has not been attacked, according to the British Admiralty statement. It is held that the fortress will fall immediately upon the capture of Petrograd by Gen. Yudenitch.

Official reports issued from soviet headquarters at Moscow admit the loss of Kiev, but make no further mention of the claim that Orel, 120 miles south of Moscow, has been recaptured from Gen. Denikine's Cossacks.

GERMANS ATTACK.
[BY CABLE AND ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 22. — German artillery at Riga fired on British warships at the mouth of the harbor Sunday, according to a report of the Lettish General Staff, and Monday the British ships returned the fire, shelling German positions near the city.

Riga is being bombarded by heavy German artillery, which is using gas shells. Great damage has been done in the city and many civilians have been killed or wounded.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The offices at Riga of the American relief administration, European children's fund, were destroyed by a high-explosive shell Monday, according to a dispatch to the headquarters of the organization here. None of the three officers engaged in the relief work was hurt and the feeding of the children is to proceed as before.

CLAIMS GIRLS ADMIT THEY SWORE FALSELY.

EFFORTS MADE TO SHOW THE INNOCENCE OF FUGITIVE "REV. DR." HANISH.

Efforts are being made by members of the local cult of "Rev. Dr." Oatman Zar Adusht Hanish, indicted June 4, 1918, for offenses against young girls, to prove he was guilty of no wrong-doing. This, it is said by Gilman Beeler, who claims the titles of "doctor of Mazdaznan," and "doctor of divinity," will be done by producing statements from the girls in which they are said to have refuted their former charges. Beeler called at the District Attorney's office yesterday and obtained "Zend Avesta," an Oriental book, which was loaned with the understanding that it would be returned to Deputy District Attorney Keyes. The book has been held as evidence against "Dr." Hanish.

Beeler said that "Dr" Hanish did not stay here to answer the charges against him, because of alleged prejudice against him. A reward of $250 has been offered by the Board of Supervisors for the man's arrest. It is understood that the effort to prove his innocence is the result of a desire on his part to return here.

BURGLAR OVERLOOKED A DIAMOND SUNBURST.

STORY OF ORCHARD JEWEL THEFT TOLD, AT PRIVATE DETECTIVE'S HEARING.

Further details were disclosed yesterday regarding the theft of $30,200 worth of jewels from Mrs. E. O. Orchard, wife of a wealthy oil producer, when W. S. Jeffreys, a private detective, appeared before Justice Palmer. Jeffreys is accused of obtaining $200 by false representations.

He is charged with telling J. H. Bryson, an insurance adjuster, and others, that he had information that the jewels, said to have been stolen from Mrs. Orchard on September 11, at her apartments, 1026 Orange street, were not stolen, but concealed.

After the taking of the testimony of Mr. Bryson, the case was continued until November 4. Mr. Bryson said that a diamond sunburst, valued at $2500 and not insured, was not stolen. It was also shown that a pair of earrings, which the thief was said to have rejected as worthless, were insured for $400. Mr. Bryson said that on September 24, Jeffreys told him that he had information that the jewels had not been stolen.

Insurance of $11,500 had been paid on the jewels, it was said. The next day, said Mr. Bryson, Jeffreys was paid $300 upon representations that by raiding a ranch near Santa Monica Canyon, the jewels would be recovered.

THINK AZUSA SLAYER SUSPECT STILL ALIVE.

OFFICERS SCOUT REPORT OF POSTON BEING SEEN AT BAKERSFIELD.

Deputy sheriffs who are investigating the killing of A. J. Clark, manager of the Foothill Citrus Company of Azusa, do not think Frank W. Poston, who was held responsible for the slaying by a Coroner's jury at Azusa, is dead, as was reported yesterday. The officers have searched the canyons near Azusa, but have been unable to find the missing man. In spite of this, they adhere to the belief that the man is still hiding in the vicinity of the crime.

Little credence was given a report from Bakersfield that a man who formerly knew Poston had seen him in that city. According to the report, this man and another, both painters, saw Poston driving an automobile and talked to him. At the time, the report says, they did not know about the slaying of Mr. Clark. When they learned this they reported to the Sheriff at Bakersfield. Sheriff Cline notified the Sheriff at Visalia to watch for the automobile described by the two men and to arrest the driver.

Deputy Sheriff Couts and a posse searched all day yesterday in an effort to find some trace of Poston. They searched the mountains east and north of Azusa, thinking that Poston is hiding in some deserted cabin.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HOLTVILLE, Oct. 22.—S. Singh, Hindu rancher, pled guilty this court for attempting to criminally assault Mrs. Katie Rodriquez. He was fined $25 and costs.

Feeling in the community is running high against the Hindu.

He first entered a plea of not guilty and then changed it to a plea of guilty.

McDonald Sisters Leave to be Tried for Murder.

Elder Appears Worried Over Prospect at Spokane.

Local Attorney will Appear for Them in North.

Jewell Marie McDonald and Mrs. Helen Fay Wilkinson, sisters, accused of the murder of William H. McNutt, Spokane capitalist, bade goodby to Los Angeles late last night as Deputy Sheriff J. S. Bradley of Spokane escorted them out of the County Jail. The officer and his wife, who will guard the two women on the northern trip, left with their prisoners on the 10:15 Southern Pacific train for Spokane.

"Good-by boys," said the younger sister, Mrs. Wilkinson, to the attendants at the County Jail. "We'll see you again after the trial. Yep, we're coming back to Los Angeles as soon as we are acquitted."

The elders ister, Jewell Marie McDonald, did not appear in such a jovial spirit. She seemed worried over her departure for the scene of the murder of Mr. McNutt.

"Now for the bird cages," she said.

MEANS HARBOR REVENUE BOOST.

Money's Assured by City to Handle Port Work.

Standard Oil Company Says Big Ships are Coming.

Municipality is to Prepare for Dredging Channels.

Actual work will be started this morning on the construction of bulkheads along the easterly side of the West Basin, at the harbor, extending northerly. These will be required to hold the dredgings from the Inner Harbor channels when the government dredger begins the removal of silt that has accumulated in the channel in the last three years.

This action was decided upon by the Harbor Commission, yesterday morning, after a conference with John L. Quinn, assistant sales agent of the Standard Oil Company, for the Pacific Coast; J. W. Ludlow, assistant harbor engineer; Maj. D. E. Hughes, assistant United States District Engineer; Councilman Conaway, chairman of the City Council's Finance Committee, and Councilman Fleming, chairman of the Council's Harbor Committee.

The Councilmen gave assurance that the City Council will loan to the Harbor Commission the sum of $25,000 required to prosecute the work immediately needed. This money is to be returned to the city treasury later from harbor bond improvement funds or harbor revenues.

Although the silt has been a detriment to the passage of large vessels for many months, and the subject has been under discussion between the Harbor Commission and representatives of the Standard Oil Company at various times, it was not until the past two or three days when these representatives pressed the matter of immediate action that a decision was reached to begin the work at once.

18 BIGGEST SHIPPER.

Under prevailing conditions, the Standard Oil Company, whose shipments provide the biggest single item of revenue at the harbor, has been unable to bring in its large tankers, and only the lighter-draft vessels have been able to load at its wharf. The company has had eight large vessels tied up, simply because there was no access to proper loading facilities.

Col. Frederick R. Downing, United States District Engineer, has assured the Harbor Commission that the government is ready to begin the dredging of the silt in the harbor as soon as the city provides a place to deposit the dredgings. It is expected that the work to be started today will be completed within six weeks, and the dredging can be started immediately thereafter and be finished in approximately two months.

The proposed bulkhead will be about 2500 feet in length. The Harbor Department has most of the required materials on hand, and it can purchase such other material as is needed in the local market, so there need be no delay on that score. The dredgings, which will be poured into the area that is now utilized to some extent as a location for house boats, will reclaim for the city about twenty-five acres of submerged lands that will be highly valuable for industrial and commercial purposes.

The channel of the Inner Harbor was dredged to a depth of thirty feet, but the heavy flood periods of three years ago carried down silt so that at present, from the turning basin to First street, and at certain spots below there, the channel now ranges in depth from twenty-eight to twenty-seven feet. The larger tankers of the Standard Oil Company draw from twenty-eight to thirty feet of water.

WILL DOUBLE IN YEAR.

With the dredging of the channel, so that the oil tankers can reach the unloading wharves, the revenues from this source will be largely increased. The revenues for the past year from the Standard Oil Company's shipments amounted to about $58,000. A charge of ½ cent per barrel is made by the city for wharfage, and each vessel also pays dockage charges. There have averaged at this wharf, $28 per vessel at each call.

Mr. Quinn stated yesterday that the shipments of the company for the ensuing year should reach at least 18,000,000 barrels, which will almost double the shipments for the past year. The company is now building eight large tankers that will be put into the oil-carrying trade as soon as they are completed. They will ply between the Harbor and foreign countries. The Union Oil Company within a short time will begin construction of its storage tanks near the Standard Company's plant, and large shipments will be made from this wharf as soon as these tanks are put into use.

The expenditure of the $25,000 required for the bulkheads gives the Harbor Department largely increased revenues as soon as the dredging is completed, and the city will secure the redemption of twenty-five acres of valuable land by the deposit of dredgings.

OFFER CONCESSIONS.

Council Hears Proposals for Bids on Westlake Park Boathouse.

The Supply Committee of the City Council yesterday recommended the letting of concessions for a boathouse and refectory in Westlake Park. The specifications provide for an exclusive contract for fifteen years. The successful bidder must erect a boathouse to cost at least $15,000, this to become the property of the city upon completion. The matter was referred to the Finance Committee.

BLACK HAND LETTER FOLLOWS DEATH TRY.

BUSINESS MAN WHO HELPED TO RUN DOWN SMUGGLERS RECEIVES THREAT.

An anonymous letter, signed "Black Hand," was received yesterday afternoon by Harry Green, a business man at 2709 South Vermont avenue, threatening his life and his business establishment with destruction.

The letter was sealed in a plain envelope, and Green's name and address had been lettered with an indelible pencil. The note itself was scrawled in a crudely-disguised hand with a blue crayon on a piece of wrapping paper. It reads:

"If you don't close up by November 20, 1919, we will close you up.

[Signed] "BLACK HAND."

In a lower corner of the note was drawn a skull and crossbones.

Mr. Green turned over the mysterious note to Detective Paul Blair, who submitted it to Postoffice Inspector Webster for investigation. Mr. Green says he believes it is an attempt of some business rivals who he knows to frighten him into closing his establishment. He has been selling stoves and heaters to numerous hotels.

Another possible explanation turns on an attempt made on Mr. Green's life several years ago in Mexicali. At that time he was a private detective, detailed to run down a crew of opium smugglers on the border. When the smugglers learned of Mr. Green's efforts to expose them, they planned his killing, but were frustrated by a woman informant closely associated with the smugglers.

Mr. Green also stated he had had much trouble with numerous German sympathizers before the United States joined forces with the Allies. These German sympathizers had made threats to "get him."

FOR NEW APPEAL.

Swarts Plans to Take His Fight to the State Supreme Court.

Edward Swarts, convicted in Judge Willis's court of larceny, by obtaining of alleged protection money from a number of women owners of massage parlors, will appeal to the State Supreme Court, according to a statement made by him yesterday in the County Jail. The District Court of Appeals this week upheld the sentence imposed by Judge Willis.

Swartz was sentenced to from one to ten years in San Quentin on ten counts, the sentences to run concurrently. Through his attorney, Warren L. Williams, he appealed and intends to make one more effort to get a new trial.

MILLIONAIRE DAY AT SHOW

Jeffries, Lewis and Anita Baldwin Split Honors with Prize Stock.

With millions of dollars' worth of pork chops and sirloin steaks on the hoof exciting the admiration of visitors, Champion Cattle Raiser Jim J. Jeffries of Burbank greeting his fellow agriculturists, Millionaire Frederick E. Lewis II of Diamond Bar ranch at Spadra, armed with a kitchen scrub-brush valeting one of his prize hogs, and Clara Baldwin Stocker, hot-dog sandwich in hand, excitedly watching the barbless horse races, yesterday might well have been called Millionaires' Day at the Los Angeles Live Stock Show at Exposition Park.

The crowds were large, and they saw the finest display of live stock shown here in many years. And that live stock has real value these days was shown when a very homely young hog was sold for $510 at the auction which is one of the features of the exhibition. As for T-bone steaks! The crowds gazed long and fondly at Wyoming Prince, a long-horned gentleman cow of the Hereford family who weighs just now 2540 pounds and is still growing. At Spring-street prices, Wyoming Prince is some piece of property, but he has a long string of blue ribbons causing his value to be possibly $10 a pound and then some.

Champion Jeffries has a national reputation as a raiser of Holstein-Fresian cattle. He is showing this year a number of offspring of King Sergis Pontiac Jaunek, one of the best being K.S.P. Novelty King, which was born September 2. Mr. Jeffries greeted, among the large number of his visitors, the members of the County Board of Supervisors, who visited the show yesterday.

FOR MILK HONORS.

There is great competition among the exhibitors of fine cattle for the honor of owning the cow with the highest record of milk production. Gerlin Abbekirk Maid, 8 years old, is entered for the honor by Stolder Bros., of Riverside. Gerlin Maid is 8 years old, and for the past seven years has averaged for six months of each year fifteen gallons of milk each day, and five pounds of butter-producing milk. The sign over the Maid's pen says: "The cow that helped win the war and reduce the high cost of living."

One of the finest exhibits is that of Mrs. Anita M. Baldwin of Santa Anita Rancho and owner of Anoakia Kennels. Mrs. Baldwin's exhibits occupy two entire barns. These have been especially decorated under her direction, and the attendants are all dressed in white. In one shed are shown Miss Baldwin's prize Holsteins, and in the other some of the best horses from the Baldwin stables. Today, Friday and Saturday, Mrs. Baldwin will display some of her prize-winning dogs.

With the long lines of sheds filled with visitors, equally large crowds spent the afternoon in the grandstand watching the horse racing and the society horse show. One of the funniest events was an exciting horse race by Singer's Midgets, riding Shetland ponies. Shandow Boka won the race and Gabor Bugga was thrown overboard by his fearsome steed. Charles Baker, another of the midgets, won a high school exhibition contest on one of the pint-sized horses in competition with a regulation-sized horse.

A number of horse lovers visited the stables where Uhlan, the world's champion trotting horse, and Lou Dillon, the champion mare, are being prepared for exhibition at the race track later in the week.

This year's show has a rush and a whirl that reminds one of the old county fairs before automobiles and motorcycles were invented. Groups of experts gather about the Durocs and the Berkshires and discuss the fine points of the hogs, exhibitors and visitors stand about at the auction and discuss this champion's record and that one's value, and the band plays, the popcorn and the hot-dog men shout their wares, and

EXONERATED; TO BE TRIED.

In spite of a verdict of unavoidable accident returned by a Coroner's jury after investigating the death of E. L. Mullen, a track worker for the Pacific Electric Railway, W. T. Webber, whose automobile killed Mullen, will have to face a charge of manslaughter. It was announced, after the verdict of the jury was returned, by Deputy District Attorney Randall, who attended the inquest at the Cunningham and O'Connor morgue, 1021 South Grand avenue, that the charge of manslaughter still stood, and would be pressed. Mr. Webber is secretary of the California Walnut Growers' Association.

At the inquest a number of witnesses testified that red lights had not been placed on some of the apparatus used by Mullen in his work at Seventh street and Maple avenue, where the accident occurred. Mr. Webber said that the welding machine operated by Mullen was going full blast, and that the blinding light made it impossible for him to see Mullen.

The police say that Webber drove through a number of warning lights and struck Mullen while he was at work. They say he did not stop after the accident, but was arrested later in a cafe. He is now at liberty on $1000 bail.

WRITES PERIOD TO RED CAREER.

Manuel Sastre, Trouble-Maker, Ordered Deported.

Tried to Create a Reign of Terror in Orange Belt.

Raid on Rooms Reveals Part in I.W.W. Activities.

Manuel Sastre, leader and organizer of the I.W.W. gang that created a reign of terror in the Covina orange district, last winter, is on his way home to Spain. He left last night for San Francisco, escorted by Immigration Inspector Marnell and will be put in a prison car with other undesirable citizens, and sent across the continent to New York, to go aboard a steamer bound for a Spanish port. He has been ordered deported by Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor, as an alien enemy, under the provisions of the immigration law.

Sastre is Spanish born, aged 28 years, and his parents live at Pozaldes, in the Province of Valladolid, Spain. He has been in the United States since 1910, entering San Francisco.

According to Sastre's own evidence, taken in the proceedings looking to his deportation, he is an open advocate of the doctrine of force, and been actively connected with the I.W.W. since he joined the organization in Los Angeles in 1911.

For some time he operated in the Panama Canal Zone, later returning to this city, where for a time he had his headquarters at the Alta Hotel, Main and Second street.

It is asserted by Immigration Inspector in Charge Burnett, that Sastre was a confidant of I. Rubio, who is declared to have been connected with the wholesale burning of haystacks, packing-houses, etc., in the San Joaquin Valley, about two years ago. When Deputy Marshal Carnaughan made a raid on the home of Sastre in Hawthorne, a batch of letters was seized, one from A. V. Azuara, an I.W.W., found guilty of violation of the Espionage Act in Chicago and sent to the Fort Leavenworth penitentiary for twenty years. He was also at various times connected with El Rebelde, and wrote a number of letters denouncing the Federal authorities for the prosecution of the Magon brothers, Ricardo and Enrique.

Sastre was a frequent contributor to the columns of Defensa Obrera, (The Workingmen's Defender,) an anarchistic sheet published in Chicago in the Spanish language, and the New Solidarity, a rabid I.W.W. organ, also of the same city, and wrote poetry advocating I.W.W. principles, one of his best known being dedicated "To the Strong."

Sastre was one of the delegates and organizers of the strike in the Covina orange district, and was later rounded up by deputy sheriffs sent to the scene. It is understood that he had been operating among the laborers in that vicinity for some weeks, before he was able to induce them to strike.

OLD TOM MOORE LOSES LAURELS.

Irish Poet's Lines are Made Lost Love "Evidence."

Mrs. Trimble Produces 'Em in Husband's Writing.

To Prove He was in Love with the "Other Woman."

If the shade of Tom Moore, well-loved Irish poet, had been in Judge Wood's court yesterday it would have received the shock of its spectral existence. One of the bard's most famous bits, sadly misquoted, appeared there in another man's handwriting and imputed to that man by his former wife, who introduced it as part of her evidence that her husband was in love with the "other woman," inferentially because he wrote love poetry to her.

Miss Lydia Trimble was on the stand in her $50,000 alienation suit against Mrs. Lucy Putman Lingo, present wife of Miss Trimble's former husband, George Lingo, who she says was enticed away by the wealthy widow. Asked for her exhibits, she produced two poems which she said she found in her husband's safe deposit box in his handwriting.

"Come, rest on this bosom, mine own stricken dear,
The tho' hind should fly from her,
thy home in still here."

Two more lines are quoted and then the following:

"Oh, what was love made for if
'tis not the same
Tho' the herd has fled from glory and shame."

These lines, with their misquotations, are obviously copied from Thomas Moore's poem, "Come Rest in This Bosom," the first stanza of which is as follows:

"Come rest in this bosom, my own stricken deer,
Tho' the herd has fled from thee, thy home is still here;
"Oh, what was love made for if
'tis not the same
Thro' joy and thro' torment, thro'
glory and shame?"

The court ordered the verses marked for identification.

Attorney W. A. Alderson, representing Miss Trimble, said last night that there was no intent to make it appear that Mr. Lingo wrote the verses in question himself, but that they were introduced simply to show Mr. Lingo's sentiments toward the then Mrs. Putman.

The greater portion of the day was consumed in reading depositions from Columbus, O., where the Lingos resided. The cross-examination of Miss Trimble was begun by Attorney Carnahan, but because of the brief direct examination, it is believed the defense will depend on other evidence to show that Mrs. Putman did not entice Mr. Lingo, but that on the other hand, he was

DOROTHY DIX TALKS

Managing Mothers.

BY DOROTHY DIX.

When we speak of a woman as a "managing mother" we use the term as an epithet of reproach. It visualizes to us a stony-hearted creature who lays traps for rich young men to stumble into and who sells her daughters to the highest bidder in the marriage market.

Most women are so afraid that they will be mistaken for this monster that they dare not make a move to try to help their daughters get settled in life, yet, heaven knows, if there is anybody on earth who should be a good manager, who should be foresighted and who should try to pull the strings of fate, so as to secure good fortune for those she loves, it is a mother. Surely life is not so kind to women that a mother is justified in trusting her daughters' happiness to it with blind faith.

In reality, the "managing mother" is not the lowest type, but the highest type of intelligent motherhood, for if there is any other one duty more sacred than another that a mother owes her daughters it is to assist them in piloting their little boats through the dangerous currents and shoals of girlhood into a safe anchorage.

The majority of women want their daughters to marry. They believe that a woman is happiest and best fulfills her duty in the world in the domestic sphere. They know that a good, kind, tender, loving husband who can give his wife a comfortable home is God's best gift to a woman.

Also they know that there is no middle ground in matrimony, that a home is either heaven or hell, and that no woman is so to be pitied as the one who has a brutal and selfish husband, or a drunken and immoral one, or even one who is just plain no account and can't make a living.

Realizing that her daughters' whole future lives depend upon their making good matches, surely it is a mother's business to do everything in her power to help them get the right sort of husbands. She has no more right to trust their fate to luck than she would have to leave a baby to play on the ledge of an eighth-story window, or a 3-year-old toddler to cross the street alone in front of a racing automobile.

Of course, marriages between young people are not arranged in this country as they are in Europe. Young hearts in this land of the free and home of the brave, not to say the foolhardy in matrimony, insist on finding each other. Or thinking that they find each other. Therefore, mother cannot make a match for her daughter, in the conventional sense of match-making, but if she has any intelligence and discretion she can understudy the fat boy with the arrows, and she can, at least, be accessory before the fact of whom her daughters marry.

For one thing, she can see that her daughters have their chance. To a large degree this is a matter of clothes and environment. A wise woman recognizes the fact that from the time a girl is nineteen until she is twenty-five is her day, and that she must make her matrimonial hay while the sun of her youth shines.

And to enhance the sunshine she must have as pretty clothes as it is possible to get her. The old theory about beauty unadorned being most adorned, is rank nonsense. Any picture, even a living one, needs a frame to set it off, and glad raiment adds to the gladness of the peachiest peach, while it camouflages the plainness of a homely one.

The best investment that any family in moderate means can make is put all they can spare on the backs of their young daughters. It will go further than anything else towards catching them desirable husbands, for the easiest and surest way to hook a man is through the eye.

Also, good clothes enable a girl to go to places to which she would never be invited if she were shabby or dowdy, for this is a selfish world that is mainly run on looks, and nobody peers beneath a home-made frock to see what a pure, and virtuous and noble heart is beating beneath it. If you will recall, even Cinderella never got to the ball until the fairy changed her sackcloth and ashes into gold brocade, and it was her good frock that gave her her chance at the prince.

Likewise the prudent mother takes her daughter to the places where men do congregate. What's the use in fishing in waters in which there are no fish? A girl who is kept sequestered in the back woods has no chance at the captains of industry in a city. Even the modest violet has to bloom in a man's pathway in order to get picked. We must have the door on the latch for matrimonial opportunities just as well as any other opportunity.

Therefore, a mother should see to it that her daughters have the chance of meeting the kind of men she wants them to marry so as to give them the opportunity to fall in love with Mr. Right instead of Mr. Wrong.

And a mother can help her daughters to secure good husbands by making her home so pleasant and attractive that men like to come to it, or she can drive men away by her inimicable attitude, or by her lack of tact. Many a girl has gotten a good husband through her mother's good cooking, and many a girl has lost one through her mother's not being willing to take the trouble to make things pleasant for daughter's beaux, and letting little brother hang around and father monopolize the conversation. For mother can either tole men in, or drive them away.

Evedy mother should be a "managing mother." But God send her wisdom.

LETTERS TO "THE TIMES"

About De Valera.

COMPTON, Oct. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times]: Apropos of the prospective visit of De Valera, the leading Sinn Feiner and self-appointed president of the fake Irish Republic, to our city, it is interesting to know that on October 3 the American Legion of Pennsylvania, in session at Harrisburg, adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, Eamon De Valera, self-styled president of the Irish Republic, did, during hostilities between the Central Powers and the Allies, all in his power to hinder and obstruct the governments of the Allied nations in their prosecution of the war, did have traiterous dealings with the enemy, thereby increasing the danger to our soldiers and the difficulty of winning the war; and,

"Whereas, He is now visiting the United States, and is publicly received and honored in some of our cities; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That such public reception and honoring of the said De Valera is an insult to the men who were in the service of the United States and is a reflection on the cause for which our comrades fought and died, and that it is the sentiment of the first Pennsylvania State Cantonment of the American Legion that such receptions, ovations and honors accorded to the said De Valera, or any person who was disloyal to the Allied cause during the war should be condemned."

Patriotic citizens will remember that the Sinn Feiners of whom this blatant bombastic De Valera is the leader, openly aided and abetted Germany during the war. If their nefarious plans had not been nipped in the bud, a large German army would have been landed in Ireland. These dastardly Sinn Feiners tried to prevent the burial of the victims of the Lusitania, and stoned our sailors in the city of Queenstown and threatened to drive them into the sea.

Just a few weeks ago this same bunch of Sinn Fein German-Irish cut-throats attacked a small detachment of loyal Irish soldiers who were unarmed and on their way to attend a religious service at the Methodist church at Fermoy, County Cork, killing several and seriously injuring many others. In view of these acts of infamy, patriotic citizens have a right to enquire why Los Angeles, which claims to be 100 per cent. American, should permit De Valera to pollute its environs for one brief hour.

The same agencies that were pro-German during the war are pro-German and pro-Sinn-Fein now, including Hearst, the associate of Bolo Pasha, the infamous traitor, and Count Bernstorff, the Kaiser's chief conspirator.

Running true to form, no doubt the local Hearst papers, the Examiner and the Herald, will prove themselves to be a stench in the nostrils of all decent Americans by indulging in fulsome flattery of De Valera and the Sinn Fein outfit. The Sinn Fein bunch of agitators and anarchists are just as great a menace to our peace and security as the Russian Bolshevists.

PUGILIST DIES IN AUTO SMASH.

Two Others Hurt Returning from Bouts at Vernon.

Crash Through Obstructions Where Road is Closed.

Driver Fails to See Warning Signs and Wrecks Car.

One man is dead, another seriously hurt and a third injured as the result of an automobile accident on Long Beach boulevard, near Huntington Park, yesterday morning. The men in the automobile were attending boxing bouts at Vernon.

Claude Rucker, a boxer, known in the ring as Paul Brewster, was killed. R. M. Read of the Earl apartments, Long Beach, was injured internally, and A. B. Montgomery, driver of the car and a fight promoter, of 674 Garden street, Long Beach, was bruised and lacerated on the body and hands. Rucker's body was taken to a morgue at Los Angeles Harbor. Read was taken to Long Beach, and Montgomery to the County Hospital.

According to reports to Sheriff Cline, the road was being repaired and a detour had to be made at the place where the accident occurred. Montgomery failed to see the road obstructions and lights, it was said.

Rucker was 21 years old. He lived at 1974 Olive avenue, Long Beach, with his mother, Mrs. Ivy S. Rucker, and brother, Floyd E. Rucker.

Request for Money Brought a Blow, Wife Testifies in Suit.

Mrs. Julia Kengla told Judge Taft yesterday, during the trial of her divorce suit against Bernard A. Kengla, that she asked for money and was struck in the face.

"He told me I did not need any money. He said he would bring the groceries home, and that was all I needed. I said I wanted other things besides groceries, and he struck me in the face," she testified. The decree was granted.

SUES FOR PROPERTY.

In a suit filed yesterday to annul his marriage Benjamin Shaphran also sought to recover from his wife property he says he was induced to convey to her for $500. He asserts the property is worth much more than that, and that after entering into an agreement with her he discovered that she had a husband when she married him.

FOR ROOSEVELT FUND.

Churches to Observe Sunday as Memorial Day for Former President.

Sunday in Los Angeles, and generally throughout the United States, will be a memorial day for Theodore Roosevelt in the churches.

In this city sermons will be preached eulogizing him as a statesman, soldier, writer and man.

Eloquent pleas will be made from scores of pulpits, urging the people to donate to the Roosevelt memorial fund.

Dr. Charles Edward Locke, pastor of the First Methodist Church, yesterday declared that practically all of the ministers of the city will observe the day to help swell the funds now being raised and which must be turned over to the national fund by the Southern California committee next Monday, Roosevelt's birthday anniversary.

In addition to the campaign among the churches, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. C. C. Cottle, head of the D. A. R., that all members of that organization are making a drive for the memorial fund.

Commander Winchell Expects Order to Inactive Duty Soon.

Commander Ward Winchell, U.S. N., retired, who has made his home in Los Angeles for a number of years, returned here yesterday after being absent on war duty. Commander Winchell was living here when the war broke out, following his retirement in 1905, and was recalled to active duty and assigned to the local recruiting office. Later he was transferred to Cleveland, where he was inspector of engineering material.

He is home on leave, but has been notified to report to his station. He expects to be relieved from duty on arriving there and to be placed again on the retired list. His home here is at 2909 Kenwood avenue.

VERDICT TODAY FOR LOST LOVE.

Jury Ready to Consider Suit Against Miss Barker.

Taking of Evidence Complete in Nine Days' Trial.

Charge Based on Letters of the Girl and Munro.

After a nine days' trial the taking of evidence in the $50,000 lost love suit of Mrs. Grace Munro against Miss Clara Eunice Barker, who is charged with alienating the affections of Charles W. S. Munro, wealthy zinc manufacturer of Trenton, N. J., was completed yesterday. Attorney Nathan Newby, counsel for Mrs. Munro, began his argument to the jury in the afternoon. Attorney Byron Hanna, for Miss Barker, will address the jury today.

It is expected that Judge Monroe will instruct the jury this afternoon. The case may be decided by a verdict today unless the arguments are unusually long.

There is only one woman juror in the case. She is Mrs. V. C. Herron. The others are A. V. Alrich, H. W. Archer, A. H. Gregg, J. F. Hartzell, P. J. Johnson, J. W. F. Peck, G. Stormont, Harry White, B. V. Collins, L. A. White and Jesse Payne.

Miss Barker asserts she was betrayed by Mr. Munro, whom she knew as a single man under an assumed name. Hundreds of love notes from Mr. Munro to Miss Barker and many more notes from Miss Barker to him were read to the jury by the opposing attorneys.

Mr. Munro bought a bungalow in Glendale for Miss Barker, in which they lived until Mrs. Munro, coming here from Trenton, caused his arrest. Miss Barker fled to the East. The case against Mr. Munro was not pressed.

LOSES DAMAGE SUIT.

Malicious Prosecution Alleged After Criminal Libel Charge.

Daniel Riordan, who sued E. R. Zube for $50,700 damages, lost his suit in Judge McCormick's court yesterday when a jury found in favor of Mr. Zube. Mr. Riordan was arrested on a charge of criminal libel growing out of a dispute with Mr. Zube over property in Pasadena. The libel charge was dismissed in the Superior Court and Mr. Riordan filed suit for malicious prosecution.

in reference to the Spokane Jail. "Gee, I hate to think of being locked up in that jug. I've been there before, and, believe me, it's no palace."

Both sisters stated that they had been well treated in the matron's department at the County Jail and regretted that they had to leave it. As they passed through the steel door to the street, where an automobile awaited them, the two women, burdened with suitcases and bundles, joked with each other about being "parrots in a cage"—having talked too much.

Their departure from Los Angeles was made immediately following an official denial by Judge Craig of a writ of habeas corpus and the court remanded them to the custody of Deputy Sheriff Bradley, who has been in the city several days, awaiting to take them back to Spokane for trial.

While the two women, who, with their brother, Ted, now under arrest at Fresno, and Will, still a fugitive from justice, are accused of the murder of McNutt and gave up the fight to avoid extradition, they intend to put up a strong fight to prove their innocence. Attorney John L. Richardson, their attorney, will go to Spokane to defend them, according to present arrangements.

Deputy Sheriff Bradley will take Ted McDonald, to his custody when the party arrives at Fresno today.

not happy with his first wife because of her treatment of him.

Miss Trimble declared on the stand that before Mrs. Putman came into Mr. Lingo's life, he was "a perfect model of a husband." Even after she found him in San Francisco in the apartment of Mrs. Putman and he returned home with her he was good and kind, she stated. But he "beat" it again. Miss Trimble said she sued for divorce, and after the decree was granted to her, Mr. Lingo married Mrs. Putman.

RUNS DOWN CHILD.

Motorcycle Driver Held, Injuries of Boy May Prove Fatal.

Following an accident, which police surgeons say will result in the death of Elmer Walters, 6 years old, of 446 Maple avenue, yesterday, E. C. Langford, 17 years of age, a shipyard worker, of 1409½ South Flower street, who ran down the child with a motorcycle, was locked in the City Jail on suspicion of manslaughter.

According to the police, Langford was operating his motorcycle at a high rate of speed, and struck down the child near Seventh and Wall streets. Langford, the police say, was unable to stop his motorcycle following the accident, and rode almost a block.

LAWYER GIVES COURT A LAUGH.

Asks Witness if Her Friend Hid Key Before She Died or Afterwards.

In the trial yesterday of the will contest for the estate of Mrs. Mary Regan in Judge Myers's court Annie Curley, who is to get the $20,000 estate under the terms of the will, was a witness in the suit brought by Irish heirs, who say the will is a forgery. She testified that she found the will in a trunk and that she found the key to the trunk in a basket. Attorney W. J. Ford asked her:

"Do you know whether Mrs. Regan hid the key in the basket before she died or afterward?"

The judge, jurors and spectators laughed.

NOTHING TO IT.

The man who said "what goes up must come down" didn't know what he was talking about.

A SLOTHFUL SENATE.

They are getting impatient at delay. Ex-Gov. Frank D. Jackson of Iowa, a stalwart Republican, says he is "tired of seeing the country drift to the devil while the Republicans play horse." If it looks that way to him it must to many others.

GOOD HUSBANDS.

The girls who are thoughtful enough to grab from the ranks of the returned private soldiers for their husbands are getting some mighty good cooks and handy men about the kitchen. The officers are being passed up for these more domestic pets. They didn't get the training and discipline of the kitchen police.

IN DRY TIME.

Dr. Gandier seems to think it will be quite a simple task to make Japan dry as a starter on the world campaign. Japan never ran much to patent medicines having about 75 per cent. of alcoholic content and therefore the lure of the hard stuff is not strongly intrenched. But whether the Japs will welcome prohibition missionaries from America is another matter. They may take to booze for spite.

RETRIBUTION.

Striking longshoremen sought to lynch one of their leaders who declared the strike off and tried to persuade the men to go back to work. Same old story of people starting something that they can neither stop nor finish. A union man has to be radical to become a leader of his class and then when he leads his crowd not only overtakes him, but walks over his prostrate figure. People who are deaf and dumb are not so badly off, after all. At least they are not leading their fellows into temptation.

A COMMON LADY.

The death of his father makes young Waldorf Astor a viscount and as such a member of the British House of Lords. He was already a member of the House of Commons by virtue of an election and now it is understood that his wife will probably be chosen to succeed him in the lower house of Parliament. There is nothing to prevent a woman from being a candidate. There is nothing to prevent a peeress from being a member of the Commons and there is nothing to hinder man and wife from both being in Parliament. It is true that precedents are all against the two latter propositions, but a precedent doesn't cut much ice in these times. It would be uncommon for a Lady Astor to be of the Commons, but the uncommon is now becoming common.

THE ALCOHOL QUEST.

Now that a man dare not drink it, alcohol is coming down in price and is about the only thing in the world that is doing so. This is because the nondrinkable kind can be made from so many things. A fine grade can be made from the sawdust that incumbers the lumber mills and there are dozens of nature's lavish products that yield it in large percentages. Our old friend Henry Ford thinks he can produce alcohol at less than a nickel a gallon and a gallon of it will run one of his tin road rabbits for eighteen miles. He thinks he can market it cheaper than the stuff that gushes out of the ground. Really, nobody should worry about any prospective failure in the gasoline crop. When it comes to a showdown some genius will be barreling up the Pacific Ocean and getting a fine grade of combustion out of the same.

CALIFORNIA THE OIL LEADER.

On The Times' mining and oil page last Monday attention was drawn to the practical certainty that California will occupy first place this year among the States as a producer of oil, with Texas second and Oklahoma third. Almost coincidentally Pittsburgh newspapers remarked on the fact that it is just sixty years ago that the first oil well was drilled in Pennsylvania. At that time California was little more than a land of dreams for most Americans. It had attracted the world's attention because of the marvelous gold discoveries, but nobody imagined that the time would come when it would be more famous for its oil wealth than for its richness in the yellow metal. Yet within the comparatively short period of sixty years it has risen to the top in petroleum production.

Eastern papers are noting the large scale on which operations are being carried out here by companies such as the Standard, Union Oil, Associated Oil and the Shell Company. These companies have thirty-seven refineries in operation and they turn out more than 25 per cent. of the entire output of fuel oil in the country. The year now fast drawing to a close has been one of increased earnings and larger production for most of the big companies, and it is satisfactory to note that this is due in no small measure to development in comparatively new fields around Los Angeles.

JUDGE GARY'S PATRIOTIC STAND.

Judge Gary asserted in his address before the industrial conference at Washington on Tuesday that arbitration in the steel strike was out of the question because, not wages and hours, but principles, were at stake, and principles are not subject to compromise. And Chairman Gompers of the American Federation of Labor found fault because "Judge Gary's statement is identical with his letter addressed to the subsidiaries of the steel corporation more than a month ago."

Mr. Gompers seemed laboring under the impression that the steel strike, which Gompers himself is fathering and which is conducted by his more or less loyal lieutenant, William Z. Foster, an admitted syndicalist—that this strike, whose real purpose was the sovieting of American industry, should have caused Mr. Gary to modify his convictions. Gompers and his associate officials of the American Federation of Labor are unwilling to conceive that there are principles of justice and equity involved in the right and duty of every man to labor, whether with hands or brains, which no application of arbitrary force can modify. They do not like to admit that there are principles, grounded in justice and human rights, which rise superior to either success or failure; and that the greatest of these is the right of every man to work at any trade he chooses and under whatever terms he and his employer may agree upon.

To deny that right is to deny the individual liberty guaranteed by the American Constitution and guarded by American institutions. That principle is exemplified in concrete form in the theory of the "open shop." Judge Gary asserted when the steel strike was mooted that this principle is not subject to compromise. He repeated his assertion when the labor-union group in the industrial conference sought to secure mediation in a strike that had already been lost. He said in effect that the employers engaged in the steel industry are willing to expend millions of dollars in defense of the rights of industrial freedom, alike of employer and employee, but they would never yield, however great the immediate financial benefit might appear, to the degradation of industrial servitude under the autocratic domination of the labor unions.

In a former statement Judge Gary said: "This country will not stand for the closed shop. In the light of experience we know that it would signify decreased production, increased cost of living and dwarfed initiative, development and industry. It would be the beginning of industrial decay; and an injury to the workmen themselves, who prosper only when industry succeeds."

The incidents which have marked the conduct of the steel strike prove beyond cavil the soundness of Judge Gary's conclusions. It has developed that a great majority of the members of labor unions engaged in the steel industry are foreigners by birth; that a large percentage of them can neither speak nor read the English language; at that, they were induced to join the unions through promises that their united action would mark the beginning of a proletarian revolution which would overthrow the Federal government, destroy the Constitution and make the American nation an annex to red Russia.

Imagine the conditions in this country if Judge Gary and his associates had yielded supinely to labor-union threats and surrendered the control of the steel industry to Foster and his fellow syndicalists! The foreigners would have been in full control; American workmen would have been driven from the shops; and, perhaps at the present moment, the soviets would be in the saddle.

Judge Gary submitted to the Senate Investigating Committee statistical reports showing that not more than a tenth part of the native Americans employed in the steel mills had joined the labor unions. It was shown that the organization of the employees by the walking delegates had been so conducted that the control over every union by the foreign element was assured. Foster and his fellows sought, not higher wages and shorter hours for the workmen, but the abolishment of the wage system. They planned to gain control of all the mills and operate them on what they term a co-operative basis.

That is the plan of industry evolved under Lenine and Trotsky. Its futility has been fully demonstrated by its application in Russia. The soviets took over the machinery of industry, but not its brains. The factories under their control turned out an inferior article at from three to twenty times the cost of production under private industry. The price to the public was prohibitive. There was no money with which to pay the workmen, because there was no market for the products, and factory after factory, closed until the whole industrial system was demolished.

Gaining courage from despair and starvation, the Russian peoples have revolted and are crushing the power of the soviets. Judge Gary has ably pointed out that a repetition of Russian methods here must inevitably bring the same results. None but the radical agitators of the Foster, Sinclair, Steffens, Gartz and Harriman type now attempt to gainsay the truth of his assertion that the closed shop "would be the beginning of industrial decay; and an injustice to the workmen themselves, who prosper only when industry succeeds."

Judge Gary has also given an able interpretation of what the "open shop" means; he says:

> The principle of "open shop" is vital to the greatest industrial progress and prosperity. It is of equal benefit to employer and employee. It means that any man may engage in any line of employment that he selects and under such terms as he and his employer may agree upon; that he may arrange for the kind and character of work which he believes will bring to him the largest compensation and the most satisfactory conditions, depending upon his own merit and disposition.

Judge Gary might have gone further and pointed out that the labor unions, in the steel industry at least, have been converted through foreign domination into auxiliaries of the Bolshevists and I.W.W. The fatal tendency of the union movement for several years has been to ally itself with extreme radicalism, to place the red flag above the Stars and Stripes and to work for political revolution through industrial means. There are doubtless tens of thousands of patriotic citizens and honest workmen in the labor unions. The Times has heretofore believed them to be in a majority; but they have permitted the radicals to gain control.

Industrial leaders who are wise enough and courageous enough to expose and combat this revolutionary tendency are performing a valued public service. Industry languishes under labor-union domination. Idleness increases. The cost of living mounts. Cold and hunger menace the very classes that are responsible for union control. Finally a point is reached where the country as a whole is forced to arm itself to prevent a further spread of the evil. Russia was carried almost to racial destruction before the revolt came. Better informed, both as to politics and industry, the American people are calling a halt before the danger point is passed.

By their own failures the unions should learn wherein safety lies; and it must be apparent to them that the "open shop" is the only condition under which industry can thrive. If they persist longer in their "closed-shop" propaganda the collapse of the whole union movement is assured. Public sympathy is arrayed on the side of the open shop, and without public sympathy no movement, whether political or industrial, in this country can prosper.

HIGH AND DRY.

"High and dry" has attained a new significance since the cost of living has catapulted and government agents insist on taking war-time prohibition seriously.

Not content with driving the saloons and wholesalers out of business, the Federal sleuths are making a round-up of places where home stills are suspected of being concealed. Necessity proved to be the mother of a number of inventions for making intoxicating beverages calculated to prolong the jazz after the visible supply of wet goods disappeared. Some of these inventions were in the nature of individual stills which could be operated on the kitchen range. Revenue agents claim that scores of them were sold to residents of Southern California.

Mum was the word for all those who were initiated into the mysteries of the kitchen still; and all would be well but for the unfortunate fact that actions sometimes speak louder than words. Revenue agents have sharp eyes. A few days ago one of them noted that the automobile tracks all ran straight to a certain residence in the Vernon suburbs, but became decidedly unsteady after the point was passed. The sleuths conferred and the same phenomenon was discovered in other neighborhoods. Tuesday morning the round-up took place. Enough blind pigs were reported to cause a rapid decline in the price of pork, only they were not that kind.

Now the war-time prohibition lid is nailed down tighter than ever. The dispensers of the moonshine say it is all the fault of their customers, who came to them so deeply athirst that they overimbibed and left behind when they sauntered forth a trail like a corkscrew. Following these crooked trails led the government agents to crooked places.

Hope has been held forth intermittently by Washington correspondents that the army would demobilize, the President would relent and that one more "wet" Christmas would be enjoyed before the great Sahara of national prohibition was reached. But the renewed activities of government revenue agents all over the country point the other way.

Even "two and three-quarters" is growing steadily weaker. A bill has been given the right of way in Congress which will class that among high-proof liquors. Root beer and raisins seem to comprise the last hope. But if the use of that beverage becomes general the "drys" may be relied upon to force legislation penalizing the raising of grapes.

The Newer Query.

They used to say: "Where are you working?" The new query is: "Where are you striking?"—[Portland Telegram.

The Live Stock Show.

SCRAPS OF PAPER.

The union leaders are insistent upon a system of collective bargaining that goes beyond the particular shop or industry concerned. Their idea of collective bargaining is to have all agreements—for all men, for all time—made through the Federation of Labor. Local conditions or the wishes of the individual workmen would not be considered. Collective bargaining is an agreement between union officials and some particular industry. Unless the men belong to the union they may not engage in it. It is a union discovery and a union watchword.

But what are union bargains worth?

The unions do not live up to them themselves, neither can they compel their members to do so. A union agreement is about as binding as the pledge of the town drunkard. Director-General Hines gave confirmation of this when he served a warning on striking railroad men in a Pennsylvania city. He said: "These men are creating a basis for the argument that it is nonsense to deal with labor organizations because they do not obey their own rulers."

No industry can prosper or make progress unless its labor is stabilized. If men, wages and working conditions are changed every day and a strike can be called at the drop of a stranger's hat no business can withstand the succession of shocks. The unions hinder, rather than help. It is small wonder that an employer hesitates about making bargains for his men through a union. In the first place the union takes no interest whatever in the plant or industry, and in the second place the workmen do not feel any individual responsibility to abide by the bargain. The parties to the agreement are all at cross purposes. There isn't the personal understanding that comes with agreements made through shop committees or company unions.

If the Federation of Labor would gain support for its programme of having collective bargaining only through union officials it must at least indicate a willingness to deliver the goods. Thus far the union agreements have been ropes of sand. The men pay no attention to them if their interest is diverted for a moment. They are binding on no one save the employer, who is the only responsible party to be reached by process of law.

It is no wonder that public sentiment is in the channel described by Director-General Hines and realizes that "it is nonsense to deal with labor organizations."

W. Z. Foster can start a bonfire. He may be able to precipitate a strike; but can he stop it? What would his agreement be worth to the Steel Corporation? Judge Gary would have to live up to his part of it, but where would Foster and his men be when the year was up?

The labor unions will have to go through a probationary course before too public will treat their demand for a monopoly in collective bargaining as anything but a joke.

CONFUCIUS ON WOMEN.

Said Confucius: "Of all people, girls and servants are the most difficult to behave to. If you are familiar with them, they lose their humility. If you maintain reserve toward them, they are discontented." Chinese servants must have greatly improved since the Confucian period; at least modern times cannot parallel their excellence. As to Chinese girls, it is not safe to commit oneself concerning the girls of any nation, but they look discreet and slim and fair as flowers under their fringes of black hair, and gay as flowers, too, in their little pink and blue and violet coats buttoned straight up to their chins.—[New Republic.

BEMUSED.

BY DORA OLIPHANT COE.

I have wanted, lo, these many years, to use the word which heads this stuff. It has a nice look and sound, don't you think? And if you read only the first half of the definition in Webster's Unabridged Dictionary you will get my meaning exactly. As regards the second half of the worthy Noah's remark it is only necessary to look at the calendar and see how long it has been since July 1 to know I couldn't mean that.

But as to the cause of the condition of my mentality I refer you to the newspaper accounts of the recent visit of the King and Queen of Belgium.

Listen. First, tell me this.

Was the royal party brought here as a circus, as some kind of a show, or did it come of its own accord, as any other traveler comes to Southern California—to see this lovely nook of the woods and the interesting things it contains?

After the almost-endless, small-town, politicianly greeting through which the visitors had to stand at the station, can it be wondered at that they simply balked at any more of the same kind? In their own country they endure that kind of stuff just as our Presidents endure it in this country, but the King and Queen came to Los Angeles to SEE; the being seen was simply a by-product.

As for trying to blame Mr. Ince because he was so long their host—that is rank foolishness. By perfectly was everything timed at the beautiful Culver City studio that the five minutes which Mr. Snyder said they could stay permitted them to see what they had expressed a desire to see, some particularly thrilling "shooting" of scenes, after which they were at liberty to go. But right here the royal party "took the bit between its teeth" and explained that making pictures was very interesting to them and they wanted to see the wheels go round in that wonderful factory of film plays. They wanted to see the drying-rooms, the cutting-rooms, to see the projection room—and everything. They can see kow-towing people every day in their lives, but motion pictures in the making were a new thing.

When Mr. Ince expressed to Mr. Nye his fear that he was keeping them too long Mr. Nye answered that the King and Queen were enjoying it more than anything else that had happened. He added in his characteristic way, "It's their party, you know."

Which last statement seems to have been lost sight of in the shuffle.

But a part of my bemused (ah!) mental state is due to the particular form of entertainment planned for the royal party—the personnel, you know. Just what particular reason was there for the presence of——

Shucks! What small-town folks they must think us!

Of course, I'm sorry the children of Glendale and Pasadena did not get to see the King and Queen, if they wanted to so much, but I am much more sorry for a little Belgian girl out at Lasky's studio who had seen her King last when he went with his court out of Brussels. There was a real reason for her tears when she failed to see him.

I wish to goodness that we would all stand right up now, this minute, and would swear by all the gods that are that we will cut out all small-town stuff, all village politician methods, the next time we have distinguished guests. Let's simply give them the keys to our sunkist city and then step back and let them do as they darn please, only let's try to manage so that the people they meet are really representative of Los Angeles.

As for meeting them at the station with singing! Ye gods!!! When I first came to Los Angeles and heard what they called singing—I didn't laugh. I couldn't. I was too utterly and absolutely bemused—the first half of the definition, remember.

ECONOMIZING BANKER.

A company of Minneapolis business men sat around a table at lunch the other day when the subject of personal economy came up. Every man laid claim to being an economizer, including the matter of clothes. Finally, to establish who was entitled to the most credit for the suffering and privation he had endured on that account, somebody offered to back his claim for precedence to the amount of a dollar for charity. Everyone around the table chipped in the same amount and when the dates sewed on the inside coat pockets were turned out, it was found that the president of one of the largest banks was entitled to say what should be done with the money. He was wearing a coat that was seven years old.—[Minneapolis Tribune.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

FIZZLED OUT.

Dost recall the wild commotion
Of a little while ago, when we had a sort of notion that the profiteers would go? We resolved to prosecute them and to poison them and shoot them, and to treat 'em rough and boot them; where's that movement, do you know? Where are now the learned attorneys whom we often used to meet, as they made their frantic journeys to the Courthouse and repeat? How they used to roar and thunder, how they'd stamp the price hogs under and deprive them of their plunder, in the name of Mike and Pete! Are the profiteers in prison, where we said we'd put them all? Is the hoarder getting his'n, dragging round a chain and ball? Is the market's greedy ruler resting in the inoidy cooler, or is justice but a drooler, with its picture to the wall? I am shelling out my dollars to the soulless profiteers; I am overcharged for collars and for wadding for my ears; I am overcharged for sweaters and for ink to write my letters, and no buccaneer in fetters to my wistful gaze appears.

MUSICAL SCHISM AND SOCIAL HAUTEUR.

Art Antagonisms and Cultural Struggles in Los Angeles.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

Music and art circles of the fair City of the Angels are permeated with acrimonious discords and there is schism and wrought nerves where all should be harmony and beauty.

Society is all hot up on the music question and two distinct camps are aligned for hostilities. On the one side there is the old-established Los Angeles Symphony of nigh twenty years' standing and on the other the new Philharmonic Orchestra. The former was the sole inner sanctuary of music for lo these many years, but it pursued the even tenor of its way, duly indorsed by social eclat, without stirring the public pulse to any hectic degree.

Then comes along Mr. W. A. Clark, Jr., oozing enthusiasm, organizing ability and a suitable bank account, to found the more substantial Philharmonic, attracting a goodly company of socially-distinguished persons to his banner, many of them former members of the Symphony. But said Symphony was not going to be submerged and extinguished without a struggle, so it rallied the nucleus of its members, appointed Mrs. Sherman Hoyt new president and announced that it was not quite dead yet. After a few exchanges of acidulated remarks an amalgamation was suggested. Mr. Clark and his bounteous dower to the cause, running into hundreds of thousands, had a certain lure, even for the wounded sensibilities of the old Symphony adherents, who felt that their title should be perpetuated. But the proposals and counter-proposals for combination and unity, especially in the proper disposition of the almighty dollars, left the schism wider than ever.

The old Symphony takes the stand that Mr. Clark should have worked with and for it in the launching of his new and enthusiastically vital scheme, and that the Philharmonic certainly owes it deference and substantial consideration. Whereas the Philharmonics maintain that the Los Angeles Symphony had twenty years in which to make things hum, that it failed to cut any sort of a worth-while dash during all that period and that its plain duty now is to climb down meekly and co-operate with becoming docility in the new movement, without demanding any special rights and considerations.

And just at present there is a haughty deadlock. Among the notables standing by the Old Guard are Mrs. Sherman Hoyt, Mrs. A. C. Billicke, Mr. James T. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Dean Mason, Mrs. F. G. Allen, Mrs. Fred Bixby, Mrs. Maurice Hellman, Mr. D. M. Linnard, Mrs. Dan Murphy, Mrs. Rea Smith, Mr. Godfrey Holterhoff, Mrs. Oscar Trippet, Mrs. Hector Alliot, Mrs. Bessie Bartlett Frankel, Mrs. H. W. R. Strong, Mrs. Howard Huntington, Mr. Louis M. Cole, Mrs. B. B. Bush, Mr. John G. Mott, Mr. Joseph Husser, Mr. W. I. Hollingsworth, Mrs. Irving Ingraham and more than a score of others. Charles Wakefield Cadman is listed among their followers, but is understood to be wavering.

On the other side, with the Philharmonic innovators, stand another galaxy including Mr. W. A. Clark, Jr., Mrs. Michael Connell, Mrs. Eugene O. McLaughlin, Mr. Edwin Clark, Mr. Henry O'Melveny, Mrs. H. I. Rogers, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Jarvis Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Behymer, Mrs. Carrie Jacobs Bond, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dansinger, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Doheny, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Dockweiler, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Braly, Dr. and Mrs. Ernest Bryant, Dr. and Mrs. Guy Cochrane, Dr. and Mrs. Tilden Coffee, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Clark, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cheney, Mr. and Miss Carleton Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Granville McGowan, Mr. and Mrs. Sayre Macniel, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lombard, Dr. and Mrs. Dudley Fulton, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil de Mille, Mrs. Mary Longstreet, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sartori and at least fifty others.

The details of the rock upon which the musical arbitration has foundered are somewhat complicated for the lay mind, but, as usual, vulgar shekels are the main snags. One understands that the Los Angeles Symphony demanded larger consideration for its apportionment of the lucre than the Philharmonics were prepared to concede, doubtless having regard to the increased cost of living.

And thus is there schism and discord in the cultured circles of refined and genteel harmony.

And the artists are having an even more hectic time. The recent exhibition of the California Art Club precipitated matters. It was a first-class exhibition which contained examples of the old school and the new, both of high merit. But at a meeting held last week the old school and the ultra-modernists nearly came to blows. They have the utmost contempt for each other's forms of art and accuse each other of trying to hog the whole show and run things generally. There is no peace in the California Art Club. Nay, at said feverish meeting the artists even descended to name-calling, and calm, unemotional debate is obviously not within the province of art. The new schools consider the old-fashioned artist in much the same light as the vers libre people regard the pretty rhymsters, or the Wagnerian and Strauss adherents deem the parlor song-writers. And what the old school artists think of the futurists and cubists and impressionists is quite unprintable.

An Arctic Circle View.

The Fairbanks (Alaska) News thus poetizes the wail of the wets:

"When we come to the end of our perf (hic) day.
The end of the Hickey and High,
And we say farewell to the cool Frappe
And the rollicking rock and rye.
We will have to revel in buttermilk
And sarsaparilla gay,
And, oh, the pain of drinking rain
At the end of a perf (hic) day."

STUART RETURNS TO TROJAN FOLD.

Joy reigns unconfined at the U.S.C. football camp. Mel Stuart, the recalcitrant half who announced Tuesday that he was through with football for the season, is back in the fold, and the Trojans believe that they have a fighting chance for victory over Pomona next Saturday.

Stuart, speediest of the U.S.C. backs, was waited on yesterday by a number of old "grads" and Coach Henderson. The latter informed the squad jumper that his presence in the back field Saturday meant a possible Cardinal and Gold triumph—without him probable annihilation.

Stuart capitulated and the gloom clouds, which have been hanging low over the Trojan campus all week, dispersed and the sun assumed the radiant hue of the gold in a U.S.C. pennant.

MISS MURPHY TO PUT WREATH ON WINNER.

Miss Kathleen Murphy, daughter of E. W. Murphy, the president of the Los Angeles Live-stock Show, will be queen of derby day when the Murphy derby, named in honor of her father, is run, this afternoon. Miss Murphy will present a wreath to the winner of the classic and will grace a pretty special programme in keeping with the occasion. The following maids of honor will accompany Miss Murphy: Loretta Roberts, Dorothea Kyes, Mildred Voorhees, Luethel Austin, Marie Mallow, Eleanor Gardner, Mary Gardiner and Gladys Crail.

COMPANY 10 TO BE THE GUESTS AT THE PARK.

Company 10 of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, under the command of Major McGowan, Capt. Hisberta, Lieut. Hart and Lieut. Siegfried, will be guests of the Los Angeles Live-stock Show management tomorrow. The members of this organization will be accompanied by the regimental staff, including Col. Schlegel, Lieut.-Col. Massey, Gen.-Adjt. McMullen, Supply Officer Lane and Personal Adjutant Balling.

MERCHANT HURLS 16-LB. LEAD BALL 144 FEET.

Jack Merchant, husky weight man of the University of California, has been showing springtime form in the hammer throw. In an informal meet on the Berkeley campus last week he hurled the leaden missile 144 feet. Four men tied for first in the pole vault at 11ft. 6in.

LINCOLN TAKES ON FOOTHILLERS

Light Railsplitters Open Season at Home.

Only Four Veterans from Last Year's Squad.

Mallette's Hopes Expect to Make Good Showing.

The light Lincoln eleven will play its first league game of the season tomorrow afternoon against Hollywood on the former's field. Defeated by L. A. High 41 to 6 in a practice contest earlier in the year, the Railsplitters still feel that they will make some of the other City League squads battle hard for victory.

There are only four veterans on this year's squad. They are Parra, Nason, Nutt and Sergel. Parra is the captain.

Here are the statistics on the entire squad:

Frank Mason, Half-back. Frank came from Jefferson High School. He is one of the mainstays of the team and plays a steady, safe game at all times. (Weight 152.)

Star, Guard. Star never saw a pigskin before this year, but with hard work and good coaching he has developed into a good player. (Weight 175.)

Pridham, Guard. This is Pridham's first year at football, and so far he has had lack of experience, but he plays a wonderful game for a new player, which is all due to his training. With a little more experience he will prove a tower of strength to the line. (Weight 167.)

Neal Moore, End. Neal is another player who is new at the game, but by watching him play you would think him a veteran. Neal has shown more improvement than anyone on the team. (Weight 158.)

Hugh McDonald, End. A little fellow who works hard and fights for all that is in him. One who is ready to play until carried off the field. (Weight 127.)

Al Adams, End. Al is a new man at football, but with his spirit, a little experience, and the coaching he is receiving, he will prove a valuable man. (Weight 133.)

Briggs, Guard and tackle. Briggs is a willing student and a consistent player. He is a man who shows he has ability, which in itself is a big asset to the team. (Weight 144.)

Tony "Jazz" Parra, captain. "Jazz" plays right and is the groundgainer of the squad. He is a faithful trainer, a good sportsman and a man who can be depended upon. (Weight 149.)

Reginald "Speed" Nason, Half-back, Reg. is one of the two-letter men back this year. He plays a wonderful game and is right there when it comes to forward passes and running down punts. (Weight 140.)

John Sergel ("Sampson.") Center. Johnnie is one of the biggest mainstays of the team. When it comes to getting through the opponents' line, well, it's his best hobby, that's all. (Weight 168.)

McGoey, Center. Plays a fine game at center for a new player, but should have come out earlier in the course. (Weight 143.)

Thacher, Guard. A new fellow in the game, with plenty of pep and sand, and with a little more coaching will prove a great success. (Weight 148.)

Wagner, Tackle. Wagner is playing a good game for a beginner. He is plucky and heady and at all times, even during practice, gives proof of his grit. (Weight 153.)

Pollard, Tackle. Pollard is new at the football game, but he plays Stirring Scenes on the Poly Football Field.

Mechanics in Strenuous Workout.

Above, Voyle Brennan's first team is ripping into the scrubs for the last time preparatory to opening game of City League with Long Beach. The beach eleven outweighs Poly ten pounds to the man, but the wearers of the Blue and Gold are fighters from the word "Go." Below, Full-back Cuddeback caught in the act of booting one over from the 35-yard line. Newberry is holding the oval.

POLY IN CRUCIAL TEST.

The Polytechnic High School football team faces Long Beach High tomorrow afternoon in the crucial test of the season for both teams. The game, marking the opening of the City League schedule, is crucial for Poly because defeat means elimination from the championship race. It is crucial for Long Beach because the seaside eleven has been heralded as a wonder, and has that reputation to sustain.

Coach Ed Kleinholtz of Long Beach early in the season predicted that championship honors of the City League lay between Poly, Los Angeles High and Manual Arts. He forgot all about his own team other than to forecast it as cellar champ.

But last Saturday Long Beach High defeated the strong Whittier State team 58 to 7, the same eleven that earlier in the season had toppled Brennan's team 13 to 6. Then Kleinholtz's "dope" was completely upset.

Asked yesterday how he figured his team to come out against Long Beach, Coach Brennan said: "After seeing Long Beach in action, I don't figure."

Brennan's team possibly doesn't loom up as a winner, but it's going to be a stiff battle. There are some mighty good men in the Mechanics line-up. Cuddeback is the best plunging full-back that has been seen in a high school suit this year. The rest of the backs apparently don't shape up with the formidable Tiernan, LeFabvre and Dolley of Long Beach, but they're fighters. That's a virtue that often results in victory.

HORSEMEN FORM ASSOCIATION.

Probably the most representative gathering of horsemen that has assembled in Southern California during the past ten years met in the grand stand at the Los Angeles Live-stock Show, at Exposition Park, yesterday and organized the California Horse Breeders' Association.

The prime function of the organization, as explained by Secretary Ed R. Smith, is to promote the best interests of pure-bred horse raising in the State and to secure legislation and other support that will help the pedigreed equine to come back into his own.

The local organization has received assurances of co-operation and aid from the California Thoroughbred Association, the breeders' and owners' organization in the northern part of the State, and permanent headquarters in Los Angeles will be established at an early date.

The following officers and directors were elected: Tom Hughes, president; Mrs. Anita Baldwin, L. J. Christopher, H. A. Jastro, vice-presidents; T. H. Dudley, treasurer; Ed R. Smith, secretary.

Directors: Clarence Berry of San Francisco, L. J. Christopher of Los Angeles, C. W. Bowers of Tulare, R. L. English of Chino, M. L. Way of Fresno, W. G. Durfee of Los Angeles, Charles Donlin of Hueneme, James Montreich of Santa Rosa, W. H. Bowker of Los Angeles, Fred H. Bixby of Long Beach, Charles F. Silva of Sacramento, Tom Clark of Ventura, Frank Leigenger of Stockton, C. C. Jones of Stockton, George R. Bentel of Los Angeles, F. E. Lewis II of Spadra, I. L. Borden of San Francisco, H. C. Ahlers of San Francisco, Tom Mason of Santa Barbara, C. F. Payne of Sacramento, Fred E. Ward of Hemet, John Troop of Santa Barbara, W. A. Clark, Jr., of Los Angeles, Dr. Cannon of Santa Barbara, S. HOPPE LEADS CUE MEN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Willie Hoppe still leads the contestants for the 18.2 balk line championship in the national tournament here. He defeated George Sutton in tonight's go—the eleventh of the tournament—by 400 to 298, in five innings. This is the third winning bracket for Hoppe, who has won all his games so far.

Morningstar and Schaefer have won two and lost one game each, while Sutton has won two and lost two. Cochran and Yamada have each won a single game and lost two and Slosson has been defeated in all three of the starts he has made.

Hoppe and Schaefer shared the honors for brilliant work today, each having won out in five innings for an average of 80, which is high for the tournament.

Score of tonight's match:

Hoppe—89, 119, 1, 106, 91. Total, 400; average, 80.

Sutton—23, 3, 2, 142, 128. Total, 298; average, 59 2-5.

Slosson vs. Schaefer; Morningstar vs. Sutton; Cochran vs. Yamada; Hoppe vs. Morningstar.

JAKE SCHAEFER PLAYS BRILLIANT BILLIARDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Jake Schaefer of Chicago, son of the late Chicago billiard wizard, played a remarkable game against Koji Yamada of Japan here this afternoon in the professional billiard tournament. In five innings he ran the full score of 400, while, in the first three innings, Yamada failed to count a point. Schaefer's runs by innings were 83, 155, 6, 148, 8, with an average of 80.

Yamada rolled up 82 in his fourth turn at the table, making an average of 20 2-4. It looked as though Schaefer would have finished the match in four innings for an average of 100, but with eight points to go he missed a difficult bank shot across the table by a hair. His exhibition was the most brilliant of the tournament so far.

SMITH, CAPTAIN.

Jimmy Smith, two-year veteran of the U.S.C., team, has been appointed acting captain for the game with Pomona next Saturday. Smith plays right end.

DEAN ON TEAM.

Calvin Dean, formerly of Throop Academy, is playing on the 1923 University of California football team. Dean won his letter in football, track and baseball while at the Pasadena school.

FLYING PARSON URGES ROCKY LANDING PLACE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—The establishment of landing fields on the Rocky Mountains so that transcontinental flying will be less dangerous was urged today by Lieut. B. W. Maynard at a luncheon given by the American Flying Club in his honor. Such fields, he said, could easily be built by cutting down trees.

It was a propitious time, he added, to start a movement for all American cities to establish flying fields. He has received more than 100 letters and telegrams from chambers of commerce and other civic bodies asking for suggestions in this respect.

GOLINDO KNOCKED OUT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Oct. 22.—Happy Woods, a local boy, easily put Joe Golindo of San Diego out last night in the fourth round of what was to have been a ten-round bout. Woods floored Golindo two minutes after the battle started and repeated a number of times during the fight, Golindo taking the count in the fourth.

GIVE TENNIS DATES.

Frank Bryant, president of the Southern California Lawn Tennis Association, has announced that the Los Angeles county tennis championships will be held November 6, 7 and 8. The play is scheduled for the Y.M.C.A. courts. Men's and women's singles, mixed doubles, junior singles and doubles and boys' singles and doubles, men's doubles and women's doubles comprise the various events.

PEAGREENS TO PLAY.

The Occidental peagreen team will play the southern branch of the University of California tomorrow afternoon. Both teams have been defeated by Manual Arts, U. C. 13 to 0 and Oxy 54 to 0.

WOMEN TO POLICE AIR IN NEW YORK.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Women air policemen—thirty of them between 18 and 25 years old—are to be added to "New York's finest." Police headquarters today announced they would be trained at the Aviation Corps school here.

LIPTON TO MAKE ANOTHER ATTEMPT.

It was the schooner-yacht America which lifetd the cup put up by Queen Victoria in 1851, which defeated the Aurora in a race from Cowes around the Isle of Wight. The trophy has remained here since. Sir Thomas Lipton has made three unsuccessful attempts to regain the trophy, and will try once more next year. Many other English yachtsmen have also tried to win back the trophy.

CROSS-COUNTRY IS BEST TRAINING.

Coach Edward Farrell of the cross-country squad, says: "An athlete who has trained over a cross-country course for a season is in condition to enter any branch of athletics or any event in the track programme, and if the natural ability is present in any degree, make a successful showing."

BOYS TO LEAD PARADE.

A feature of the live-stock parade to be held tomorrow will be the presence of boys from Manual Arts, Jefferson, Polytechnic and Owensmouth high schools, who will lead the animals about the show ring. The youngsters will be given instructions in care of animals and practical knowledge about their breeding and exhibition.

The boys will be in charge of Dr. A. E. Wilson, principal of Manual Arts High School, and J. B. Corcoran.

Hot Finish in Last Race Greeted with Cheers.

BY ED O'MALLEY.

The following are the feature events for today's sport at Exposition Park:

At 9 a.m.—Judging Ayrshires; judging rabbits, cavies and pigeons.

At 9:30 a.m.—Farm Bureau Dairymen's Convention in the Administration Building.

At 1:30 p.m.—Judging Dutch belted cattle; horse show in front of grand stand; races, 2:08 pace, purse $1000; free-for-all pace, $1500; three running races; band concert.

At 2 p.m.—Farm Bureau dairymen's cow-judging demonstration.

One of the big features of the live-stock show at Exposition Park this week is the hurdle exhibit on the greensward opposite the grand stand. All the leapers yesterday were piloted by ladies, and in almost all instances the high-strung jumpers took the obstacles without a hobble. The ladies showed excellent horsemanship, and there was little to choose among them for nerve and cleverness. The first prize went to the mare Daisy, from the Hollywood Riding School, with Rocket second, from the Los Angeles Riding School, and Altadena, entered by Reval Lindsay English, third.

In the competition for the best high school horses, Beauty, a mare well named, carried off first honors, with Ellersile second.

LADIES IN SADDLE.

The three-gaited event for mares and geldings, with ladies in the saddle, was well contested throughout, and after a thorough tryout his and after thorough tryout the judges awarded first prize to Mavis, entered by H. Local Baseball Club Owners to Leave for Meeting of the Pacific Coast League Directo

MAGNATES TO GO NORTH.

President Powers of the Los Angeles club, Ed R. Maier, newly-elected president of the Vernon club, and Manager Essick will leave tonight for San Francisco to attend a special meeting of the Pacific Coast League. This will mark Maier's formal re-entry into baseball. Vancouver will apply at this meeting for membership in the Coast League.

Vancouver is rated as a first-class baseball city, but it may be difficult for it to edge into the inner circle at this time. Seattle has fully qualified for permanent membership, while Portland picked up in attendance last season. Salt Lake, because of its location, and the high cost of travel, has not proved a profitable pastiming place for some of the visiting clubs.

It has been rumored that the Utah metropolis will eventually be dropped from the circuit, but the magnates may not consider the time ripe for this. So it is possible that Vancouver will be compelled to place itself on the waiting list.

a hard-hitting game, and is right there when it comes to thinking quickly and tackling hard. (Weight 140.)

Sincerbox. Guard. Sincerbox is a freshman and is new at the game. He has played as guard, tackle and center, and he has the characteristics of an exceptionally good lineman. (Age 14, weight 141.)

Kenneth Nutt ("Kenny.") Right guard. Kenny is a good player from his feet to his head. He is always there with the goods, and at present he is wearing a brace during games to hold a dislocated shoulder in place. (Weight 162.)

Howard Lundberg. Fullback. Howard has the stuff in him that has given Lincoln her name. He is a fighter from the tip of his shoes to the top of his head, and is right there when it comes to defensive playing. (Weight 139.)

Walter Doran. Quarter-back. The little 118-pound quarter-back who proves that weight doesn't always count in football.

Homer "Tuffy" Dickason. Half-back. Tuffy is in a class by himself when it comes to running in the open field, and is a world of value to the team. He shows the fighting Lincoln spirit from start to finish. (Weight 145.)

Edwin Purtell "Ed." Half-back. Although small in build, he has never failed to display the old Lincoln fight. He resembles a streak of lightning when going down on punts. (Weight 138.)

Edward Simms ("Ed.") Full-back. Ed plays a hard game and has a tendency never to fail to display the word "pep" while playing football. (Weight 151.)

Harry "Moose" Trautwein. Guard. "Moose" is a product of last year's team and plays football like a wild man. He is a sturdy fellow, who very seldom misses his man. (Weight 175.)

Willis George. End. Willis has made good from the very start. He plays a hard game and always causes the opposing line plenty of trouble. (Weight 142.)

COACH EVANS TO TRY OUT OFFENSIVE WORK.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 22.—Following the defeat administered Stanford last Saturday at the hands of the Olympic Club, Coach Evans of the Cardinal varsity is now working for a hard-hitting back field. The Card line held splendidly Saturday and the two star tackles, Caughey and "Herc" Bihlman, covered themselves with glory. The defense of the Stanford team was indeed all that Evans could ask for.

But when it came to advancing the ball it was another story and Evans's men were found wanting. So far in training his men Evans has specialized on defensive tactics. After the showing against the Olympic Club, however, he seems to agree with Glenn Warner that, after all, the best defense is offensive. So, yesterday, the Cardinal backs were put through a severe course of line plunging and end running.

"Reg" Caughey, star lineman of the team, was elected captain on the field this afternoon. The new skipper of the Cardinal varsity recently distinguished himself by winning the shot-put at the inter-Allied games at Paris. In the two preliminary games played this season by the Stanford team, Caughey played at guard. His home is in Ukiah, Cal.

The Card team will leave here Thursday night to meet the Oregon Aggies at Corvallis.

WHITTIER TO MEET THROOP SATURDAY.

While Pomona and U.S.C., are holding the limelight in Los Angeles next Saturday Whittier and Throop will be having a little argument of their own down Post-town way. Neither concedes that it is out of the running for the conference football title. Whittier lost to Occidental 13 to 0 in the first game of the season. Saturday's tilt will be Throop's initial start.

The line-up for Saturday's game follows:

Throop.		Whittier.
Black	L.E.E.	Rogers
Catland	L.T.E.	Winston
Hollinger	L.G.E.	Woodward
Hambrook	C.	Madden
Mullin	R.G.L.	Kramer
Rahlff	R.T.L.	Pickett

Lavagnino	Q.B.	Arnold
Retnol	L.H.E.	Rose

U.S.C.-POMONA IN TITLE GAME.

Battle Odds All in Favor of the Sagehens.

Coach Henderson Would Like to Use "Frosh."

Stage Fright may Play Part in Saturday's Issue.

BY PAUL LOWEY.

Pomona defeated Redlands, 27 to 6, last Saturday.

U.S.C. hasn't played a game to date.

Those are the cold, unemotional data on the two teams which are to battle next Saturday afternoon in what is believed will be the decisive contest of the season for the Southern California championship.

Football history in the south probably offers no parallel of a team going into a championship conflict without engaging in at least one or two preliminary games.

HARD SCHEDULE.

Confronted with a schedule of five hard games in a row, a short training period, the initial enforcement of the freshman rule and one of the smallest varsity squads that has turned out in years at U.S.C., Coach Henderson, new on the job, has been forced to make the best of a poor situation.

Because he couldn't afford to take any chances of injuries to the members of the meager squad he had on hand Henderson instructed Graduate Manager Bruce to schedule no preliminary games. The freshmen were pressed into duty and it has been their role three times a week to give the varsity competition.

"FROSH" THERE.

Right royally has the "frosh" squad performed and, incidentally, it has had time in between to lick the Manual Arts and Los Angeles High squads, two of the strongest prep teams in the city. There are some five or six men on the yearling team that Henderson would quite willingly give a right eye to use against Pomona next Saturday. They are Boyle and Calland, tackles; Wolford, guard; Greene, left end, and Wayhan, left half.

For the very reason that they have never taken part in a regular game, the Trojans are more than likely to be affected by stage fright when they line up against Pomona. They may get over it in a few minutes, and then again they may not.

Stage fright has played an important part in many contests. Going back to 1915, when the University of California met the University of Washington at Berkeley, the Bears were annihilated, 72 to 0, by the northwestern team. The score failed to reveal the respective merits of the two teams. A week later the same elevens met in Seattle and the winner was the same. But the score was 13 to 6, and Washington didn't put over the winning touchdown until the last few minutes of play. Stage fright had licked the Bears in the first game. It was their initial big contest of the year.

POLO DATES ALLOTTED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

DEL MONTE, Oct. 22.—The Polo Association of America, through the Pacific Coast Subcommittee has allotted dates to the Del Monte Polo Club for tournament play in 1920. The dates are: Invitational tournament, February 1 to 10. Annual spring tournament, March 20 to April 15.

At this early date plans are being made at Del Monte for the biggest session of polo in the history of the exciting sport on horseback. That there will be two big tournaments next season instead of one will be interesting news to the devotees of polo and it will also have the effect of attracting visiting teams who have been handicapped in having only a limited number of tournaments in which to participate.

Polo was revived with a bang on the Pacific Coast last year. During the war the game was practically discontinued because the rank and file of the players were engaged in the service of their countries. All of the players, however, got back into the saddle and Del Monte was active with polo play throughout the spring and summer months.

NO DRAFT TO HELP AA CLUBS.

of a budding giant, who, while not yet fully realizing his own prowess, found the game too easy for him. Meusel knew he was so good he could hold his job without hustling. Just when he was getting into disfavor with the management and the crowds, he would come through with a blast of base hits that would wipe out the immediate past. Of course, it will be different in the big show. And nobody probably realizes it better than Bobby himself. Out here it was merely a romp for him and he burned up no energy.

FIGURED TO COP.

Had Beck been at third base the Tigers would have shown more hustle and a finer balance of teamwork. The Tigers never impressed me as being really crowded. They realized they had a club which figured to cop. Also, some of them seemed to have such confidence in Meusel's bat to take the going rather easily. Forced to extend themselves to the limit, the Tigers looked intrinsically strong enough to win, even without the services of this fence-battering Brobdingnag.

Beck is regarded as a far better ballplayer than he had opportunity of showing. He has an arm which was rated as about the best to be seen at any third base in the country until Meusel unlimbered the young howitzer, which hangs inside his sleeve. True, Zinn's hitting was far from impressive, but his was the experience of many players passing their first season on the Coast. Bill Clymer is sponsor for the statement that Beck was regarded as a dangerous batter in the American Association, especially with men on bases, with a good many of his drives running to the extra base order.

TWO COMING.

But with a complete and high-class club available for next season, the Tigers will not be under the necessity of standing pat. Two more men are coming from the New York Americans as the residue of the Meusel deal, and naturally President Maier and Manager Essick will avail themselves of this talent. But the recruits must be of a very high order if they are to edge into the present Tiger line-up.

Maier's decision to tender Essick a three-year contract will meet with general approval. Essick has an excellent record as a manager. His first season out here he took a makeshift team that was in front when the season was brought to an untimely end in July, only to be nosed out for the pennant by the Angels in a post-season series. Last season he rebuilt his club during the race, and after a long uphill battle, during which he never crowded his men, finished in front, topping this by bringing the minor league championship of America to the Coast League.

ESSICK THERE.

Essick is a good sonstructive manager, and while not a "loud" leader, gets sufficient work out of his men. Not only is he a good man from the playing end of the game, but having been a club owner himself, knows how to protect his owner from a business standpoint. This is an exceptional combination in a man who graduated from the ranks.

Quietly forceful, Essick has made an enviable reputation for clean tactics on the diamond. True, there was some criticism of him during the St. Paul series, but he cannot be held accountable for all the actions of his players. Time and again he intervened to prevent trouble. Few of the players felt under the same degree of restraint that they do in the regular season.

RULINGS FINAL.

Some of the trouble was due to the lack of a sufficiently asserted central authority, and refusal to recognize such authority as existed. The commission was formed on short notice, and there never was a declaration clearly defining its authority. However, that body was formed with the consent and approval of the two clubs, and its rulings in the very nature of things should have been accepted as final.

However, this was the maiden attempt to conduct a series of this magnitude on the Coast, and another year will find a better condition of preparedness.

Just received a line from Zeb Terry. Zeb states that he is passing a month in Cuba taking in the sights on his way home. If Cuba is on Zeb's "way" home, then Pittsburgh must be located in Brazil.

BREWSTER TO RESIGN AS SEATTE PREXY.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Oct. 22.—James R. Brewster is to resign as president of the Seattle baseball club of the Pacific Coast League, it became known here today. W. H. Klepper, secretary of the club, planned to leave here tonight for San Francisco to represent Seattle at the coming meeting of the directors of the league. Klepper, it was said, may later succeed Brewster.

Klepper said he had been directed by the local club owners to vote for the re-election of Al Baum as president of the league. In case Baum is not a candidate, Klepper will work for the election of R. L. Blewett, Seattle, president of the old Northwestern League.

MOORE BESTS HAHN.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Oct. 22.—Pal Moore, Memphis bantam, who lost the decision to Jimmie Wilde, fly-weight champion, recently, after defeating him in a previous bout when the English championship was not at stake, last night was given a decision in an eight-round fight over Mernie Hahn of Philadelphia.

BARBARA D. FIRST.

The 2:15 trotting race, for a purse of $1200 went to Barbara D., nicely piloted by that clever reinsman, W. G. Durfee. D. J. Burke finished second, and Sterling Lou third. Columbia T. won the first heat, but after that he displayed a fit of tantrums and his driver could not control him.

The second race, the free-for-all trot, was easy pickings for Edith Carter, who won as she pleased in three straight heats, driven by Fred E. Ward. Pegasus was second and Miss Frisco third. The summaries follow:

First race, 2:15 trotting, purse $1200:

Barbara D., b.m., Carlisle (W. G. Durfee)	2	1	1
D. J. Burke, b.g., The Corsair (Jack Keener)	3	2	2
Sterling Lou, ch.g., Kinney Lou (G. H. Todd)	4	3	3
Columbia T., b.m., Bob Ger (G. F. Silva)	1	4	4

Time 2:10 2-5, 2:07 2-5, 2:10 2-5.

Second race, free-for-all trot, purse $1200:

Edith Carter, ch.m., Kinney de Lopez (Fred E. Ward)	1	1	1
Pegasus, b.g., Zombro (G. Dondero)	2	2	2
Miss Frisco, b.m., San Francisco (A. L. Schwartz)	3	3	3
Little Jack, ch.g., Todd Boy (C. F. Silva)	4	4	4

Time 2:08, 2:10 2-5, 2:13 2-5.

GREET RUNNERS.

When the field for the first running race appeared down the stretch on its way to the grand-stand parade, the horses were greeted with shouts of delight. The bangtails have already installed themselves as big favorites with the daily crowds, and their performances are always watched with keen pleasure.

The first event was a five-furlong scramble, and brought a fair field of sprinters to the post. The winner turned up in Al Monroe's fast aged gelding, Little Jake, faultlessly ridden by McBride. This clever little jockey got his mount off well on his stride and made every post a winning post. Little Jake discovered a world of speed and won much as his rider pleased.

Toy Miss, off flat-footed, had no chance to beat the winner from where she started. Grona, however, persevered with her and she ran a very creditable race, finishing fast and easily grabbing the place from the fast-tiring Lazy Ben. Time, 1:01 2-5.

OH, YOU HARRY D.

Harry D. was easily the best in the second race also a five furlongs argument for three-year-olds and upward. The Singleton gelding, off in a good position, soon forged to the front and establishing an early and easy command on the back stretch breezed home on the chin strap the easiest of winners. Walter Whittaker stood a long stretch drive with rare gameness and outstayed Aline B. in the closing strides for the place. Time 1:01.

One of the prettiest and most hotly contested stretch drives seen hereabouts in the last ten days was that between Yorkist and Roadmaster in the third and final race of the day. It was a six-furlongs affair and on paper was essentially a two-horse dispute. Crusados, Jr., showing a wealth of speed for the first five furlongs was almost six lengths in the van just before turning for home, but after getting well straightened for the run in, he exploded.

WINS BY A NOSE.

An eighth out Roadmaster was in the lead for a moment. Then he was suddenly challenged by Yorkist. Under whip and spur the two ran almost as one horse to the wire, but crossing the line Roadmaster had his fashionable nose in front. Crusados, Jr., finished third, lengths away. Time 1:14.

The entries for today's events follow:

First race, 2:07 pace (three heats)—John Malcolm, Merrill, Pointer's Daughter, Rico, Vina McKinney.

Second race, free-for-all pace—Bondelin, Calgary, Earl, Directress Mac, Joe McK, Leta, J. Sister Norte.

Third race, five-furlongs—Appelto, 112; Duly Fashion, 109; Forum, 109; Lady St. Patrick, 109; Moonlighter, 109; Nettie Walcutt, 109; Prospero's Son, 109; Rochester, 112; Satalla, 109; Ula, 104; Von Dillon, 109; Tommy Chandler, 104.

Fourth race, six furlongs—Commendation, 112; Crusados, Jr., 112; Dehra, 112; Delaney, 109; Impression, 112; Knights of Pythias, 112; Lantern, 109; Orbiculation, 112; Pajorita II, 112; Ruthland Arms, 112; Wall Street, 112.

Fifth race, the E. W. Murphy Derby, 1 1-8 miles—Afternight, 112; Ben Levy, 106; Dehra, 107; Dickie W, 114; Fireplace, 109; Knights of Pythias, 108; Mister Mark, 110; Sam Hill, 118; Yowell, 116. Dickie W and Afternight, Barnes entry.

BASKETBALL SCORES IN VALLEY LEAGUE.

Basketball results in the valley section of the Los Angeles High School League last week were as follows:

Claremont, 23; Montebello, 17.
Norwalk, 35; Bonita, 27.
La Verne forfeited to Downey.

MEMORIAL FUND FOR JEAN BOUIN.

French sportsmen have started a fund for a memorial monument to Jean Bouin, the famous French runner, killed early in the war, who made the world's record for running an hour. An athletic carnival at Marseilles netted $10,000 toward the fund.

O. K. AT PERRIS.

Louis Belcher, R. H. Lelande and George Fennis each secured the quail limit near Perris last Sunday.

PADDOCK GUFF.

Paul Ridley voiced it the greatest ever. "There's a kick to the ponies," says Paul, "that no other sport gives. It is simply a case of Eclipse first and the rest nowhere."

Fred Stanton burbled: "I don't want to go back to New York if they have this kind of sport around here. Why, this is the fountain of youth. The only bad feature is that the meeting is too short."

Paul Browning, as head of the bureau of information, said that the crowds were daily growing larger and that the banner crowd would be on hand today when the big Murphy derby is to be run. When asked what he liked in the derby he gurgled: "Roseben, of course, you silly." Force of habit.

Louy Bonsack, he of the old Santa Anita Park fame, was on hand rooting his head off as usual. As the field in the last race was flying down the back stretch someone asked him who was in front. "Judge Denton, of course; who else would you expect?"

Harry Tufts wore a smile all afternoon. Said he to the writer: "Ed, every time I look at the ponies coming down the stretch I feel a year younger. Why, I really have been in a trance ever since they raced at Santa Anita Park."

Kid McCoy, as frisky as he was when he put the quietus on Tommy Ryan, was on hand and as gallus as ever. The Kid has just returned from New York, where he declares the game has been great this year. "Why," said he, "if they gave racing again in Los Angeles I know hundreds of sportsmen who will come here during the winter months. Why, this is the winter playground of America and the visitors surely want amusements of all kinds. Racing once more here and it would be the garden spot of the world."

Jack Humbrecht was on hand often and early. Jack declares that what racing he has seen here in the last week or ten days has been great and added that he would never want to go back East again if the ponies should come back into their own in Los Angeles.

Jim Morley stole out for an afternoon's recreation and declared that the sport was up to the standard set by some of the eastern tracks. "If the sport comes back again, me for a front seat and a tab every day, and I don't care who knows it."

Snitz Edwards, the clever little comedian with the Goldwyn studio, took an afternoon off and mingled among the spectators. Edwards, who is a New Yorker, declares there is nothing to be compared with the ponies. "Watch me," said he with a sly twinkle in his eye. "I'll be here every day."

Service

We will Endeavor to make up in Service our Temporary Shortage in Production

SERVICE is the foundation upon which we builded our success. Irrespective of the superiority of the machine, we could not have hoped to bring our product to the position it holds in the confidence of the public unless we had kept in mind the best interests of our patrons.

Although for the future we are preparing for larger and greater things, the present finds us unable to supply the enormous demand for Underwoods.

War requisitioned every typewriter our factory could produce. Peace, with reconstruction, changed conditions, and universal labor troubles has temporarily reduced our production.

While this condition continues we will turn all our branches into SERVICE STATIONS, with the basis our Service Building in New York City.

From this building and each of our 200 offices we will repair machines already in use, supply rental typewriters to those whose orders for new machines we are now unable to fill, and advise with Underwood users as to the best methods for improving their present typewriter equipment.

This effort to help is an expression of thanks to our friends who have done so much to make the Underwood Typewriter Company a success.

CODY FINDS BEAUTY.

ENGAGES CHRISTINA PEREDA AS LEADING WOMAN.

By Grace Kingsley.

That super-expert on feminine loveliness, Lew Cody, has found his first "most beautiful woman!" Of course, there are still five others to find, according to his recent announcement, or were, up to the time of calling the roll, last night. And it may be others have been added since this went to press, Mr. Cody being a fast worker.

The star told me yesterday at the Gasnier studios in Glendale, where he is filming his second production, "The Butterfly Man," that my recent story about his international search for pulchritudinous damsels had resulted in at least one "big winning." In short, from an avalanche of applications and photos from those who fain would support the star, Mr. Cody has selected one beauty whose fame heretofore has not reached the prominence usually given the leading woman.

The new beauty is named Christina Pereda. She is a Castilian senorita, as her name implies, whose first name really is "Maria," but who is afraid that humor-loving Americans will nick-name her "Merry Christmas," and so has cast the "Maria" into discard.

Miss Pereda has appeared but once before in pictures. That was with Geraldine Farrar. But she was a noted songstress under Klaw and Erlanger's direction in New York, where she was the stellar player in "The Land of Joy," the musical extravaganza employing seventy persons.

Later Senorita Pereda, under Salvador Pimentel's management, toured the country in vaudeville. She made a local appearance with her thirty Spanish dancers at Pantages, visited the studios, and became so interested in the silent drama, that she laid her voice away in cotton, and allowed herself to be "shot" by the camera.

Miss Pereda is the true Spanish type with a wealth of ebon hair and the face and form of a Velasquez madonna. The lady was cast in "The Butterfly Man" after her qualifications had been passed upon by perhaps the most competent "jury" in filmland, consisting of L. J. Gasnier, Lew Cody, Ida May Park and Curt Rehfeld, who, by the way, played no less than thirty roles in "Hearts of the World," and who now assists Miss Park in directing.

Also in the Cody cast are Louise Lovely, Augustus Phillips, Alec B. Francis, Lillia Leslie, Andrew Robson and Robert Gray.

Marshall Neilan Announces.

Marshall Neilan yesterday afternoon announced the completion of his organization plans for his own producing company and at the same time stated that he has just started work on his initial production, "The River's End," James Oliver Curwood's latest and biggest success. This is the first intimation that this book, which has just been placed on the stands, had already been obtained for this screen by Mr. Neilan.

In reviewing the book, the critic of the New York Sun several weeks ago stated that this story would prove a bigger success on the screen than in book form, and said that even before the book was on the stands the advance sales doubled that of any previous Curwood story. "The River's End" appeared originally in "Good Housekeeping" some time ago.

In the cast for the Neilan picture are Lewis Stone, who plays a dual role; Marjorie Daw, Wesley Barry and Jane Novak.

Marion Fairfax, who has just signed with Mr. Neilan, is doing the script.

Harry Lauder Next.

Harry Lauder, most famous of Scotland's entertainers, is to be the next attraction at Clune's Auditorium, following the run of "Broken Blossoms." The attraction is booked for November 10.

Metro's Eastern Studio.

Metro Pictures Corporation is to have an eastern studio, according to reports just received from heads of the company. This does not mean, probably, that Metro is to move east, but merely that some pictures will be made in New York, probably in the old studio which Metro owns there, it being the theory that actors and directors keep fresher by occasional contact with New York's fountain-head of theatrical production.

National Gets New Comedy.

General Manager Bernstein of the National studios has added another comedy troupe to his already plentiful supply, which now makes a total of six companies working under the National banner. Two of the peppiest comedy stars ever seen on a photodrama screen have been signed to play the leads, viz., Neal Burns and Marie Elaine, better known in motion-picture circles as the "Thanhouser Kid." They will be directed by Franklyn Hall, assisted by Jack Laver.

Both Neal Burns and Miss Elaine have enjoyed nation-wide popularity for several years, the latter, in fact, having entered upon her career as a cinema queen when but a child, her initial engagement being with the old Thanhouser company in the East.

Neal Burns, while not having been engaged for so long a time in the flicker art, is nevertheless as well known, his many successes in vaudeville and musical comedy proclaiming him a favorite before he made his film debut. They will make an exceptionally strong team, and their many admirers throughout the country will look forward with eagerness to the early release of comedies in which the two appear.

Capt. Warwick Kids 'Em.

Capt. Robert Warwick, Lasky star, had some joy in a quiet little way of his own, the other night, when he went into a downtown cafe bearing under his arm a package which looked suspiciously like a suspicious-looking bottle.

The doughty Capt. Warwick seated himself at a table, unwrapped the bottle, quickly put it in a napkin, and summoning a waiter told him to bring one of those nice silver buckets that they are now thinking of placing in the leading museums of the country, but which used to play an important part in the nation's joy. Then he summoned a waiter and asked for a corkscrew while waiter and proprietors looked on in perturbation.

"You—you can't do that!" responded the waiter nervously, looking about to see if there was a cop anywhere about.

"Never mind! Get me a corkscrew!" demanded the captain, who, being used to being obeyed, got a stinging note of command into his voice, which the trembling waiter paid heed to. Th. captain calmly proceeded to open the bottle, the contents of which fizzed delectably and said "Good—good—good," as poured out of the bottle.

By this time the proprietor and his wife were on edge. The man walked over to Warwick, and said: "You know the law doesn't permit you to do this!"

Then the captain picked up the bottle, pulled the napkin off, and the proprietor read the label. It read, simply and innocently, "Apple-Ju!"

Dorothy Dalton on Stage.

The exciting news comes to hand that Dorothy Dalton, Ince star, is forsaking the screen for the stage! Miss Dalton has just been engaged to play a leading role in a new Comstock & Gest production. "Aphrodite," shortly to be produced in New York.

According to our informant, the lady needed for the particular role for which Miss Dalton was engaged must resemble a Greek goddess. Miss Dalton does, say Messrs. Comstock and Gest, after what was probably due consideration. Therefore the producers made her a nice offer, and Miss Dalton is going to try the hang of the Greek robes which Lucille will provide.

Charles Ray in New One.

Charles Ray and his company, who have just finished shooting the final scenes for "Paris Green," will start work immediately on the next Ray picture, which is to be known as "Watch Out, William." In this story, written by Agnes Christine Johnston, Mr. Ray will play the part of a country boy whose desire to be a detective leads him into many laughable complications. It is a role admirably suited to Mr. Ray's abilities, and one in which he will undoubtedly make a great success.

Sounds Reasonable.

Louise Glaum is about to be starred in a story by C. Gardner Sullivan entitled "Sex." There are exactly six members in the cast, and naturally they call themselves the sextette!

McKim in Demand.

As a result of his remarkable performance as the romantic villain in "Out of the Dust," the McCarthy Bros.' independent release, in which Dorcas Matthews, Russell Simpson and himself are the featured players, and which recently was shown in preview at the California, Robert McKim is in receipt of several offers to star at the head of his own producing organization and rumor along the Rialto would indicate that "Mean Bob"—being the star screen villain—will soon have an announcement of paramount importance to make.

It is known that at least two local producers offered to place McKim in the directorial chair while others have made him starring proposals. But, evidently, "Bob" is awaiting the "psychological moment," so to speak, before deciding.

Dorcas Matthews, by the way, has been cast with Charley Ray in his new Ince feature under Fred Niblo's direction. Fred Niblo also recently produced "The Woman in the Suit Case" in which Miss Mathews—Mrs. McKim in real life—had an important role.

"Male and Female" a Hit.

Shattering all attendance record for the theater, Cecil B. de Mille's "Male and Female" opened at the Imperial Theater in San Francisco in a special pre-release showing. Fred Kley, studio manager of the Lasky studio, attended the northern premiere and brought back reports of its enthusiastic reception by the northern theatergoers.

"Male and Female" is the recently-completed production founded on Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton" which occupied so much time and attention at the Lasky plant. Although the general release date is slated for the middle of next month, the San Francisco performance promises a long and successful run.

An elaborate prologue along the theme of creation preceded the San Francisco premiere and aided materially in putting the spectators in sympathy with the basic theme of the picture.

Unless some unforeseen accident prevents, the picture will play the northern theater for the ensuing three or four weeks.

Nursery Note.

If you notice any difference today in the acting of Hal Cooley, playing one of the leading roles in Rex Beach's "The Girl From the Outside," at the Kinema, over his acting on the opening day of the picture, you may ascribe it all to the fact that Hal is now a proud papa. Little George Aaron Burr arrived a few days ago, and to account for his name being different from his papa's it is now necessary for Hal to tell his real name, which is Burr; and he is a descendant from Aaron Burr, who did such an awful lot for his country once on a time when nickels and dimes were scarce.

Listens Well.

The fourth annual ball of the Motion Picture Directors' Association will be held Thanksgiving evening, November 26. This announcement comes from the trustees at their latest meeting, held this week. The affair is to take place at the Hotel Alexandria.

For three seasons this aggregation, composed of the foremost producers of pictures, has held an annual ball, and each year outclassed the previous. The directors promise even greater things for the coming event. It will be attended by the elite of the film industry, including stars, directors and managers, among others.

Many plans have been laid for the enjoyment of the gathering. A number of surprises are in store for those who will attend this ultra function. It is expected that full details will be announced after the next meeting. For the past three weeks the directors have been working out plans for this big affair, and the date was finally decided upon this week. Formerly, the dance has taken place on Thanksgiving night, but this year it will precede the holiday.

Chaplin's New One.

We are thrilled by the announcement, just issued from Charlie Chaplin's studio, that Charlie's fourth picture made for the First National Exhibitors' Circuit is now completed and in process of being cut. It is a two-reeler and is called "A Day's Pleasure." Which title, of course, may mean many, many things, but is promised to be no relation to "A Night Out."

BRIEFS.

NEW LEADING MAN VAMPED FOR PHOTOGRAPHS.

By Edwin Schallert.

They're already wagering on Edward Everett Horton, the new leading man for the Majestic Theater, as a matinee idol. Mr. Horton is to make his local debut Sunday night in "Never Say Die," the farce which the Wilkes stock company will present as its attraction following "Billeted."

Tuesday evening they hung a set of Mr. Horton's pictures in the Majestic lobby, and yesterday afternoon as a sequel the actor had already received seventeen requests for autographed photographs—and this before he has even made his first appearance on the stage. Mr. Horton is described as young, athletic, good looking and a clever actor. Despite his youth he has had considerable experience in New York and on the road.

A Dress Rehearsal.

A full and complete tryout of the new lighting system used by the Philharmonic Orchestra is to take place this morning at Trinity Auditorium. The men are to play through the entire programme which they will render at the opening concert tomorrow afternoon under Conductor Rothwell's baton.

Very Cosmopolitan.

The cast of Rex Beach's "The Girl From Outside" at Tally's Kinema this week sounds like an assemblage of the League of Nations. There is the author—100 per cent. American; Reginald Barker, Scotch; Sidney Ainsworth, English; Walter MacNamara and Kolin Kenney, Irish; Louis Chung, Chinese; Clara Horton, Norwegian; Billie Bennett, French, and in the big mob scenes filmed by Director Barker, there are Americans, Irish, Scotch, Swedes, Italians, Hollanders, Indians, Eskimos and a man from Jersey City.

Greenwood a Hit.

Charlotte Greenwood has continued the career of "Letty" with great success in the East, according to telegraphic advices concerning the opening of Manager Morosco's new attraction at Hartford, Ct. The wire says that the show was accorded a rousing reception at its premiere, and the critics gave great praise to the work of Miss Greenwood. Every effort will be made, it is said, to let Los Angeles theatergoers have an early peek at the new Greenwood success.

Cinema Stars on Stage.

Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne are shortly to be seen on the stage in this city in a new Morosco production, "The Master Thief." The premiere of the play is to take place simultaneously in Chicago and San Francisco, and the former film stars are to head the western company which will play the Mason.

Going Airplaning.

Eleanor Woodruff and Dora Mae Howe, of the "Civilian Clothes" company, are to fly from Chaplin Field to Riverside in a war plane tomorrow to keep a luncheon engagement with some friends. By and by we'll all be keeping distant social engagements that-a-way.

Lillian Elliott Recovers.

Lillian Elliott, who was absent from the Morosco due to a brief illness, is again back in the cast, playing the role of the heroine's mother in Thompson Buchanan's comedy.

Books Spectacular Special.

"Forest Fires," the spectacular scenic special, has been booked by Alexander Pantages for a tour of his circuit, and will be seen here during the early spring. It will play fifteen Pantages theaters prior to arriving in Los Angeles and double that number before it completes the tour.

"Witness for Defense."

How do they Afford It.

Wallie Reid and Wanda Hawley travel to their wedding in style in "The Lottery Man," which is to show at Grauman's next week. At least, it would be termed style nowadays, owing to present price of footwear, for the conveyance is a huge shoe in which the couple are seated. This is one of the novelties of the Lasky comedy, which will have its first local showing.

Rehearsing the Score.

As special music has been arranged for the "Eyes of Youth," to show shortly at the Kinema Theater, George Mulford called the first rehearsal for this evening. The Clara Kimball Young feature will have its national premiere at the theater.

On Trail of Play.

Jimmy Gleason, who played the leading role in "A Prince There Was" recently at the Mason, stopped over in Los Angeles last week, and visited around under the chaperonage of Arthur Wenzel, manager of the Superba theater, who is also his personal representative. Gleason is looking for a new play in which to feature himself and Ralph Morgan, playing the lead now in "Lightnin'," the successful farce comedy.

Clyde Tells One.

Clyde Fillmore, leading man in Civilian Clothes," tells of a conversationh e heard the other day between two black attaches of a moving van, and this is the way it goes:

"Oscah," asked one darkey, "what was yo befo, yo tuk dis heah job?"

"Ah was a janitah. What was yo befo' yo tuk yo job?"

"Ah was a lion-tameh," said Luke, tmportantly.

"Lion-tameh! What's yo do when yo was a lion-tameh?"

"Ah opens a doah of de cage and walks right in, then Ah ties a knot in a lion's tale. Then I kicks another in the stomach. Then kicks two at the same time."

"Hold on, Luke," interrupted Oscar. "Yo ain't no lion tameh. Yo's a lyin' fool!"

Bungalowing Now.

Russell Simpson has taken a bungalow in Hollywood, and is enjoying the vista of a front lawn. He says he got tired of living in "trick" built-in flats, where a man can't cross his legs without kicking the cat.

Forbes-Roberstan Aboard.

The Cunard Liner, S. S. Orduna which sailed from Liverpool, October 16, for New York, carries no less a personage than Sir. Johnston Forbes-Robertson, accompanied by Lady Robertson.

Cutting "Treasure Island."

Completion of the eight weeks of intensive work on Maurice Tourneur's production of Stevenson's "Treasure Island" is announced; the film is now in the cutting room. The treasure ship, "Fremont," which was used in the filming of the story was totally wrecked a short time ago, being driven on the rocks by the high seas. Fortunately Tourneur had completed the scenes, and had no further use for the boat.

Berry Still in North.

Noah Beery, who plays the role of the "Blacksmith" in Robert Warwick's starring play, "In Mizzoura" at Grauman's is still in the north working on scenes in "The Sea Wolf." Beery is featured as "Wolf Larsan" in the picture, and will therefore have one of the biggest opportunities of his career. Other players who have remained in the north are Mabel Julienne Scott, the leading woman, Tom Forman and Eddie Sutherland. Most of the other members of the company, which is under direction of George H. Melford, have already returned.

Marion Davies at Hip.

"Getting Mary Married," starring Marion Davies, is the photoplay attraction at the Hippodrome, on the bill which opened yesterday. The picture was directed by Allan Dwan, from the script written by Anita Loos and John Emerson. The vaudeville show accompanying the film includes Arthur Troutt, and his pet diminutive sea lion, "Bubbles," Williams and Williams in comedy songs and patter; Engel and Marshall, in harmony singing; Cedric Lindsay and his "crazy cigar boxes" and Wilsons, acrobats.

The cherry tree episode of George Washington's career has nothing on the latest kidhood adventure with a hatchet of little Frankie Lee, appearing in "Bonds of Love" at Clune's Broadway.

First the child tried it on the garden hose, the result being a fountain on the lawn; then he tested the resistance of the tires on his uncle's automobile. Just about that time somebody came out of the house to see what Frankie was doing. And the sequel is too sad to relate.

ARREST THIRD NEGRO IN SLEEPER MURDER.

PRISONER IS BROTHER OF ONE NOW HELD AS MOTORMAN'S SUSPECTED SLAYER.

After 600 rounds of revolver ammunition and a pair of brass knuckles were discovered hidden in his home, Elgin Carson, a negro, of 5106 Holmes avenue was taken into custody yesterday by Police Detectives Glenn and Stevens and charged with suspicion of a felony.

According to the police, Carson is involved in the shooting of [illegible] Sleeper, the Pasadena motorman, who was fatally shot by two negroes while operating a street car on Ninth and Kohler streets, October 25. The police are also holding Ernest Carson, a twin brother of Elgin, and a third negro, who, they say, is Charles E. Dawson.

According to the police, Elgin was at the scene of the shooting and was armed with a revolver. He was identified by several persons on the day who witnessed the shooting as one of the two negroes who fired on the motorman.

He refused to make any statement following his arrest and denied any knowledge of the shooting.

Warm Weather Breeds Disease Germs

Deadly disease germs breed, thrive, and spread by the thousands in warm weather.

A serious epidemic spreading throughout your entire organization could easily start from a neglected, toilet-room, or some dark corner not properly disinfected.

Take precautions against this constant, invisible menace now, and continue to do so all through the summer.

Prevent a big sick-list. Protect yourself and your associates from serious contagious illness.

Lysol Disinfectant

Lysol Disinfectant at the moment of application kills all germ life, or prevents its creation.

At the office: Order Lysol Disinfectant used regularly in cuspidors, toilet-rooms, dark corners, on floors, rugs, and all surfaces.

In the home: Have a solution of Lysol Disinfectant sprinkled regularly in sinks, drains, toilets, garbage cans, and wherever flies gather.

A 50c bottle makes five gallons of powerful disinfectant; a 25c bottle makes two gallons.

For large institutions use Lysol F. & F. Disinfectant.

Remember, there is but one genuine Lysol Disinfectant—made, bottled, signed, and sealed by Lehn & Fink.

Lysol Toilet Soap — 25c a Cake — Retains the necessary proportion of the antiseptic ingredients of Lysol Disinfectant to protect the skin from infection. It is refreshing, soothing and healing and helps in preserving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream — In Tubes — Contains the necessary proportion of the antiseptic ingredients of Lysol Disinfectant to kill germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound) and to guard the tiny cuts from infection, and give an antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't it, ask him to order a supply for you.

Much Tobacco Will My Heart Stand?

Vital to Every Man Who Smokes or Chews

TOBACCO IS PRECIOUS LIFE TO MANY BY EXPERIMENT.

Most of every user of tobacco has heart trouble. It does its allotted task, but fights nicotine for it as long as the heart wins it burns he dies, but because of nicotine you have all the edges of decline and many pangs. Many people—some others, therefore some of them use tobacco than there is a limit to what any heart can stand. The man who puts a strain on his heart a day by smoking cigars or chewing tobacco, is taking a man's chances of life. He may lose and nothing happens to him, but the chances are that he may be in indulging in a habit at the expense of precious years of his doctor anywhere, and he will tell you that using tobacco is a habit that it would be better to break than to experiment to see if the tobacco your heart will stand serious results.

The habit of quitting is unpleasant for many men—even to those who realize that tobacco injures them—but not one man will never be sorry that he has quit, and many more suffer from the tobacco habit than voluntarily endure.

To quit the habit make it easy for yourself by getting Nicotol tablets and taking them as directed. The habit really quits you and its departure is a pleasure equal to its indulgence.

If you want to know how much easier it is to quit the habit with Nicotol than without it, go twenty-four hours without tobacco and note what an effort it costs you, then begin using it as usual and take Nicotol Tablets. At the end of a week discontinue smoking or chewing for a day and it is probable you will have no desire to resume. At least your desire will be greatly diminished and another week or two should make it not only possible, but a pleasure, to quit.

NOTE: Dr. Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, under whose advice Nicotol has often been used, said when this statement was shown to him: "I have known Nicotol to conquer the tobacco habit in less than ten days' time and I can therefore recommend it highly." When the doctor's statement was shown to one of our leading druggists he said: "Nicotol is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit, way ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol is sold in this city under an ironclad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists, including all the Sun, th Logan and the Chambers Drug Stores.—[Advertisement.

ARMY CONTRACT TO CITY FIRMS.

Quartermaster Asks Bids on Big Mattress Supply.

Aids Campaign Being Made to Keep the Depot Here.

Committee is Named to Push Fight at Washington.

Mayor Snyder last evening sent the following telegram to Congressman Kettner at Washington.

"I want your influence in behalf of the city of Los Angeles to retain the Los Angeles branch of the quartermasters' department. I am reliably informed that the office can be maintained at a cost of not to exceed $45,000 to the government. You appreciate that it is worth millions of dollars to Southern California.

"Phelan and Osborne have been doing their part and we earnestly solicit your co-operation in this matter."

As part of the campaign to retain the army quartermaster depot here, the Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to keep in touch with the representatives of California in Washington, and to obtain, if possible, a nullification of the order closing the depot. Watt L. Moreland, president of the Chamber of Commerce, heads the committee as chairman, other members being Maynard McFie, chairman of the Manufacturing Committee; Walter R. Wheat, chairman of the Military and Naval Affairs Committee, and Assistant Secretary William Dunkerley. The committee will keep in constant touch with Washington and all possible pressure will be brought to bear on the Quartermaster-General's department to have the order rescinded.

December 31 has been set as the date for the closing of the Los Angeles quartermaster's office. Between now and that date the surplus supplies will be shipped to San Francisco, the books of the local office closed, and the personnel absorbed into other offices of the department.

ASK BIDS HERE.

The importance to local merchants and manufacturers of retaining the office was further emphasized yesterday, when requests for bids for the manufacture of 250,000 mattresses were sent to Los Angeles firms from the office of the local quartermaster. These requests for bids were received by twenty-one local firms, including the Los Angeles Mattress and Renovation Company, the California Mattress and Feather Company, the Arrow Mattress Company, Barker Brothers, and the California Furniture Company.

A clause in the circular reads as follows: "Articles of domestic production or manufacture will be given preference, conditions of quality and price (including in the price of foreign productions and manufacture the duty thereon) being equal, and such preference will be given to articles of domestic production and manufacture produced on the Pacific Coast to the extent of consumption required by the public service there."

The value of these mattresses is estimated conservatively at $6 each, this being the sum charged to the enlisted man who loses one, and it is estimated that the contract price will amount to approximately $1,500,000.

LOW TONNAGE COST.

A report compiled by the Chamber of Commerce shows that the Los Angeles depot is clearing supplies at a low tonnage cost to the government, as compared with other depots in the United States. The average cost per ton taken over a period of seven months from March to September, 1919, inclusive, has been $4.08. From August 1 to August 15 the local depot handled 2065 tons, at a cost of $2.32 per ton. During the same period the depot at Seattle cleared 1276 tons, at a cost of $8.51 per ton, and the Portland depot 193 tons, at a cost of $12 per ton.

Washington officials, it is said, have pointed out that the cost of operation of the local depot during the months of July and August was in excess of the total amount of purchases made during the same period. It is not understood why this should be an important factor in arriving at a decision to close the depot, for the reason that during this period and up to the present time, surplus stocks on hand at various depots were being disposed of, and a telegram under the date of June 18 to the local depot withdrew authority for all purchases except perishable articles until this surplus was exhausted. This order reduced purchases to a lower minimum than can possibly be maintained when these stocks are exhausted.

UNIONS OPPOSE MAYOR'S STAND.

Seek to Stop Firemen from Surrendering Charter.

Denman Denounces Campaign as Men are Deciding.

City's Chief Executive is Praised for Attitude.

Organized labor is attempting to defeat Mayor Snyder's plan to have members of the fire department withdraw from the American Federation of Labor, even while the firemen are taking a vote on the question of surrendering their charter, according to a statement made last night by Fire Commissioner Denman.

In the afternoon newspapers yesterday the Central Labor Council and Organizer Dale argued through the medium of paid advertising the right of the firemen to affiliate with the federation of labor and made the assertion that affiliation does not mean that firemen will strike or that they can be called out on a sympathetic strike.

Commissioner Denman agrees with Mayor Snyder and Fire Chief Scott that the loyalty of the firemen belongs to the people of Los Angeles, since the business interests of the city have voluntarily agreed to stand for an increase in license tax in order that the firemen may have a substantial increase in salary within the next few weeks.

"The organizers say that there are 40,000 working people in Los Angeles who belong to labor unions and are willing to have the firemen organized," declares Commissioner Denman. "At the same time I'd like to point out that there are 110,000 nonunion laborers in the city who do not want their homes jeopardized by a firemen's union."

Commissioner Denman says that on every hand he hears strong words of praise for Mayor Snyder and Fire Chief Scott because of their stand in regard to unionizing the fire department. He says the Fire Commission has not formally requested the men to surrender their charter, but has merely suggested that such a procedure would be in keeping with the best interests of the city, feeling that such a suggestion would doubtless meet with the approval of a majority of the firemen.

Hamburger's will present today, in the Fashion Salon, second floor, direct importations from Paris. Living models, beauties from among the film favorites, will act as mannequins, and will promenade the length of spacious aisles, wearing the creations of such celebrated couturiers as Poiret, Edgar, Lucile, Beer, Paquin, Royant, Premet, Doucet, Jenny, Callot, Madeleine et Ladeleine.

It is but a few days since these garments arrived, boxed up in the French capital and creased with the folds of travel across the seas. There are touches such as only the French dare give, combinations of materials which none save genius would know how to make, and effects fairly staggering are presented.

Among the most interesting creations shown will be a costume which is a replica of one made for Gaby de Lys. Gaby arrived in New York a few days ago and every publication in the city described, sketched or photographed her apparel. One of the charming creations a la Gaby, is a cloak of black and gold brocade, with—novelty of novelties—a lining of gold cloth, padded and tacked or quilted in similitude of the old-fashioned "comfort." There are gowns of gold tissue, tulle, brocade, a dangle with fringes and beads, sports coats most striking, dinner dresses, theater wraps, afternoon clothes and suits bearing evidence of Poiret's genius and unconventionality.

Parades will take place at 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. today and tomorrow.

COURT TO DIVIDE TODAY.

The State Supreme Court yesterday completed its calendar in bank and will divide up today into departments, considering cases until Wednesday of next week. Department No. 1 will consist of Justice Shaw, presiding, and Justices Lawlor and Olney; department No. 2, Justice Melvin, presiding, and Justices Wilbur and Lennon.

HURT BY OWN TRUCK.

Lazarian Nazret, 36 years of age, a peddler, of 1208 East Jefferson street was seriously injured yesterday when he was run over his own truck at Temple and Hill streets. At the Receiving Hospital, where he was taken for treatment, Nazret stated that he cranked his machine while it was in gear and was unable to spring out of the way when the truck started. According to police surgeons, he may die.

BRING WITNESS BY AIRPLANE.

New Record Set in Court Work When Hundred-Mile Gap is Quickly Bridged.

For the first time in the history of the local courts a distant witness was brought by airplane yesterday in time to be present and give testimony the same half-day. The witness was Mrs. Hazel West, a witness for Kenneth O'Hara, a studio manager and defendant in Mrs. Beulah O'Hara's divorce action. Mrs. West was in Santa Barbara. She was badly needed to testify. An airplane left here at noon, picked up Mrs. West at the Channel City and shortly after 3 o'clock she was in Judge Taft's courtroom.

The case was not concluded.

ACTRESS GETS DIVORCE.

"He would go out nights. When he came home, he would tell me about it and ask to be forgiven," testified Mildred Hopkins, a film actress, seeking a divorce from Clinton D. Hopkins in Judge Crail's court yesterday. Mr. Hopkins denied the charge. The decree was granted.

HEK

"That's Good, By Hek"

—All your life you have heard that expression of approval. "By Hek" is as old as the pyramids and the last word from the Sphinx was—"A drink of HEK ere I sleep."

Hek

The Dog Word for a Good Drink

Yes, the ancients had a brew of cereals and its name was HEK. That's where the name came from—but the HEK of the ancients was a crude pulpy liquid where HEK of today is a pure, clear, health giving, non-intoxicating beverage full of vigor and vitality.

HEK is not a near anything. It is HEK, the cereal brew of the ancients — Americanised — brought down to date—HEK is good for all—for every man, woman and child.

It's a Good Drink—BUY HEK

TAKE A BLOOD TONIC BEFORE WINTER

Revitalize your blood and put your system in condition to resist the hardships of winter.

It is the strong-bodied men and women who are vigorous and healthy in winter, and who are not inconvenienced by the cold, wet days. Wet feet don't bother them, sudden changes cause no inconvenience, and even when a cold is "caught," because of contact, in a close, stuffy room, with some one already infected, the trouble seldom lasts over a day or two. This highly desired state of health is brought about by having rich, pure blood, uncontaminated by impurities of any kind.

You may possibly think your blood is all right—you are not troubled by outward signs. Yet you have felt tired and languid, you have lost some sleep or had some minor ailments at times, but you regard yourself as in "fairly good condition physically." This may be true, but you should take nothing for granted, you should not "guess" that you are all right. The thing to do is to make yourself right by taking a good blood tonic and invigorator, such as S. S. S. It is the best known blood tonic on the market today. There is hardly a man or woman in this state who has not heard of it. It has helped to restore many people to health. It has brought relief in thousands of cases of blood disorders during the past fifty years.

S. S. S. is a standard treatment for all blood disorders. It is a true blood tonic, that purifies and brings new vigor and new life to the blood stream. It is guaranteed to be purely vegetable, to contain no mercury or other mineral drugs, but to be made from herbs and roots carefully selected for their known medicinal properties. For chronic sores, ulcers, catarrh, rheumatism, eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, tetter, acne and other such diseases as are due to impoverished blood. S. S. S. acts promptly and satisfactorily. It counteracts the germs and poisons, cleanses the system of unhealthy accumulations, literally washes all foreign matter from the blood and renews its life-giving properties.

Be sure to take S. S. S. this winter. The renewal of vigor that it will give you will be well worth while. One thing you can be sure of and that is if you take S. S. S. you will be benefitted. Get it today at your drug store—refuse any substitute. For medical advice address Swift Specific Co., 416 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.—[Advertisement.

THE NEW.

IN STORES AND HOMES.

NOVELTIES, IDEAS AND PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

By Olive Gray.

Up-to-datest:

Gold and silver brocade upon a pastel-tinted ground, for making dressy evening hats. The simplest of trimming, sometimes but a single hand-made or velvet flower, is used.

The dressy blouse in which are combined several different laces—Baby Irish, French filet, Carrickmacross and other popular laces, oftentimes overspread with hand-embroidery of excellent quality and design.

Those metallic hats, called "Cupid," used to give a touch of brightness to the rather somber street suits and afternoon dresses, now in vogue.

Now is the Time to Buy:

Wool coatings, while the offering of such materials at several fractions less than usual, is in effect at one of the exclusive stores.

Linens, silks, everything in the dry goods line for personal and for household use during the progress of the anniversary sale of that reliable house which has, for forty-one years given good service, good faith and excellent quality, toward building the reputation now enjoyed.

From Gay "Paree."

This is the day when we may see those wondrous garments from gay "Paree!" They just arrived, the other day, and I had a peep at them, hidden away, under lock and key, in a secret room, where they looked so haughty and insular that I felt like putting on dark glasses in order to temper their exclusiveness.

Original creations are they direct from Paris, the designs of such world-famed couturiers as Paul, Poiret, Lucile, Edgar Beer, Paquin, Royant, Premet, Jenny, Callot, Madeleine et Madeleine. These wondrous creations will become animate when donned by living models, many of them screen beauties, who will promenade in that big store, for the delectation of all who may wish to look, learn and purchase! Beauty, in the garments, will vie with beauty of the wearers—I know, for I have seen. All right. I'll meet you there. But how shall we know each other? I'll tell you! I shall wear—for a change—a black suit, black hat, a white vestee of lace, and oh, well—we shall be sure to know each other. I want you to especially notice that magnificent cloak of black and gold brocade, having a lining of gold cloth, padded and "tacked" comfort-wise, with gold bullion thread! The lining emerges "over the top" and becomes a broad-shouldered collar! One of the creations for Gaby de Lys, it is.

New Imports.

Elsewhere in the store there are recently arrived materials for blouses and dress-tops—glorious chiffons, in floral effects, in gold brocades on chiffon, in turquoise, navy, black and other colors. Some of the effects were quite cretonnish in design, but the print upon the filmy fabric gives an inexpressible daintiness.

Long Gloves.

However we may have tried to overlook the fact, however we may have pretended not to see and know—having in mind the H.C.L. and thus striving to economize—it is at last borne in upon us that long gloves ARE. To be quite correct, we must wear them, either glace or suede, with our evening gowns, with our afternoon frocks, and—if we will be absolutely de regieure, with the short sleeves of our street dress. We are a trifle backward about short sleeves upon the street, but no doubt we shall come over to this in time. Why, some of the handsome coats and wraps are made with abbreviated sleeves! How can we get around these staggering facts?

That Toilet Set.

There should really be another and better name for such a thing of beauty! Imagine a toilet set—combs, brushes, boxes, mirrors, manicurery, of silver and gold lace in a delicate design, stretched over lavender silk! Could you think of anything more exquisite? I could not, nor can I describe it, so that you can visualize. But you may take a long, long look, even though without intent to buy. The price—but why should price be mentioned in connection with anything so lovely! But the price may give you some idea of quality—so I must whisper it. Two hundred dollars—and really cheap at that.

National Blouse Week.

From November 10 to the 15th is national blouse week and local stores are preparing to celebrate the occasion, by calling attention to the many lovely blouses in stock here. Truly, I have never known the blouse to be so dominant a part of the toilet as it is this season. In fact, in many instances, the blouse is all there is in sight, for with the long fringes, extending, sometimes to the very hem of the skirt over which it is worn, it is a costume in itself.

Corsage Vanity.

Such pretty corsage bouquets made from violets—hand-wrought from silk or satin, and tied jauntily with broad ribbons. Milady wears one, you admire it, and while you look she fumbles a bit at the flower petal, and lo! off are the lovely leaves and out comes a powder puff, a rouge box, a scent pastile! Clever, don't you think? You may order these adorable accessories to match your costume.

Christmas Foreshadowing.

Already are certain articles creeping from out the gift sections of the large stores downtown, arraying themselves for inspection upon prominent counters and tables in the aisles—a foreshadowing of Christmas. And already, be it said, prudent people are buying. More than ever in our history is it needful to "do the Christmas shopping early." It is so difficult to obtain merchandise, that—I need not be a wondrous prophet to predict—a shortage, certain to occur, when the holiday rush is on. Buy early, get what you want, avoid annoyance to yourself and ineffective efforts to substitute at the 'leventh hour.

"Purveyors to the Queen."

That is what one of our own jewelry firms became through the royal visit here! This fact, it was, which blocked the space before the windows of that store, on Broadway, yesterday. In that window appeared pictures of the presentation to Queen Elizabeth of a lovely vanity, made in the workshops of this famous local jewelry house; and also there were vanities similar to the one presented by the president of the film company visited by the royal party. The vanity given to the Queen was of gold, enamelled in black and white, with a circle of diamonds inclosing the name, and an eyelet—diamond "embroidered"—where the black silk cord used for suspending the case passed through. Inside, the case was engraved with Her Majesty's name and that of the donor, and the date of the visit.

In the same window is the decoration, conferred upon F. W. Blanchard, who acted as escort to Queen Elizabeth, throughout her visit in Los Angeles. This is in the form of a golden cross combined with the colors of the order and suspended by a dark blue ribbon. It reposes in a handsome morocco case. The order which this emblem represents is that of Leopold II and is the highest conferred by the Belgian King, being that of an officer.

PUTS TEETH IN IT.

Lever Law Means Vigorous Prosecution of Profiteers, O'Connor Says.

United States Dist. Atty. O'Connor returned yesterday from a survey of the food price conditions in the Imperial Valley, with a view to observing what might be necessary for his office to do when the Lever bill, making profiteering punishable by a penitentiary sentence and a fine, goes into effect, either by the signature of President Wilson or by the ten-day limit put upon executive action.

Mr. O'Connor stated yesterday that as soon as the Lever bill becomes a law there will be a vigorous prosecution of its violators, and that every case of profiteering will be thoroughly investigated and prosecuted if the testimony adduced warrants such action. Heretofore it has been useless to begin such prosecutions, for there was nothing in the former food conservation law to punish those found guilty of a violation of its provisions.

CALLS IT PACT'S HEART.

Attorney Says Tenth Article of League Covenant is Hope of World.

"Criticism of the covenant of the League of Nations, on the grounds that Article X provides that American soldiers may be sent across the seas against our wishes, is sheer nonsense," yesterday declared Frank James, a well-known attorney, in an address at a noon luncheon of the Commercial Board at the Clark.

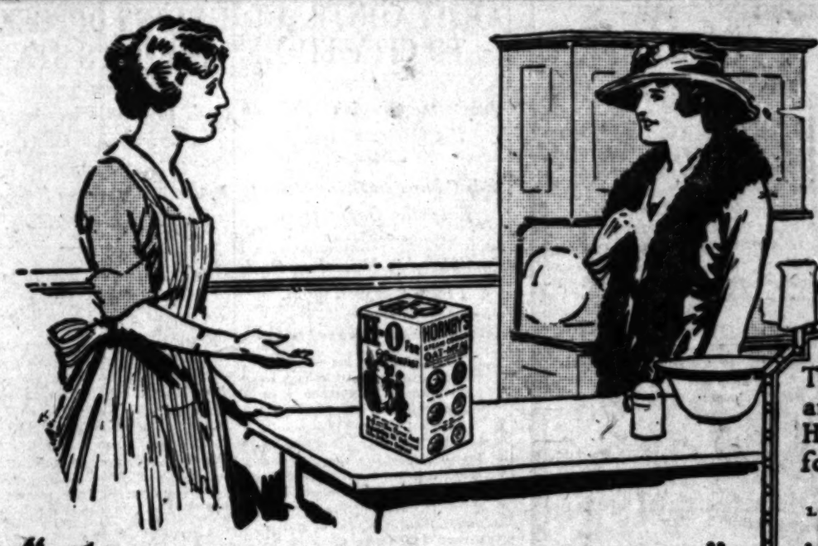
"Article X is the heart of the covenant," Mr. James stated, "and the realization of the dream of thousands of years. The League of Nations is the first contract that has ever been made for the preservation of peace, and Article X provides that the league may use force, armed force if necessary, for the preservation of peace and the territorial integrity of the nations of the world."

This clause will save the League of Nations, Mr. James declared, "because unless we can use force to preserve peace, the league is a failure."

In addition to the address on the League of Nations, Sergt. William Ooley, formerly with the Three Hundred Nineteenth Engineers, sang several songs, and the Davis sisters, who visited the different army cantonments during the war furnishing entertainment for the soldiers, played several selections on the cornet, melaphone and the regulation army bugle.

CHINAMAN ROBBED.

Attacked by four Mexicans while standing in his own back yard at 624 North Los Angeles street early yesterday, Lee Kee, an aged Chinaman, was robbed of $80 in cash, a bank book and a check on a Chinese bank for $1200. According to Kee, the four bandits knocked him down and robbed him and then fled. He was unable to give the police a description of the Mexicans.



"I always demand H-O"

—because it is double-toasted for flavor and steam-cooked for perfect digestibility—

"There's no better food for my boy and girl than well-cooked oat food.

"But even if I cooked ordinary "rolled oats" 89 hours or longer I could not make them as digestible as H-O is after a few minutes cooking.

"And by that time I'd probably have all the taste cooked out of them.

"H-O is quickly and easily prepared, and I know it's perfectly digestible."

H-O is cooked by live steam—

The secret of making oat foods digestible is to burst the woody casings of countless tiny starch-cells.

Ordinary cooking can't do this, without spoiling flavor.

But super-heated steam—under high-pressure—frees every bit of starchy nutriment in H-O and leaves all the delicious, natural oat-flavor.

Every oat-kernel in H-O is toasted to a delicate, appetizing brownness—toasted before and after steam-cooking.

A long, slow process—but the result is a savory flavor.

Order a box to-day—taste the difference!

How H-O cuts your living cost

Enough for breakfast—costs but a fraction of a cent and nourishes more than egg, bacon or steak. And there are many toothsome—economical—ways to serve H-O, such as

H-O Cookies	Fried H-O with Syrup
H-O Bread	H-O Fruit Dumplings
H-O Gems	H-O Cheese Cutlets
H-O Crackers	H-O Stuffed Peppers
H-O Puddings	H-O Scotch Syrup
H-O Pancakes	H-O baked loaf with nuts (a meat substitute)

Recipe for H-O Porridge

Salt to taste, two parts boiling water. Stir in slowly one part H-O. Boil rapidly for 20 minutes. (H-O's steam-cooking at the mill makes longer boiling unnecessary.) Serve hot or cold with milk or cream, sugar or syrup.

PARK BOARD HELPS.

Commissioners Offer Aid in the Work of Reforestation After Fire.

The Park Commission yesterday offered to aid any work that is being done to carry out plans for the reforestation of the watershed areas burned in the recent forest fires. The commission sent a letter to the City Council reporting that numbers of camp site owners in the Angeles Forest Reserve had requested the commission to assist in replacing native trees and shrubbery. The letter states:

"The board of Park Commissioners wishes to notify your honorable body that they are ready and willing to assist, not only the individuals, but the Government Forestry Bureau, to the extent of supplying them with any surplus native stock that we may have in our nursery, and to permit them to gather the seeds of native trees and shrubbery in Griffith Park, particularly the live oak, holly, sumach and wild lilac, which are evergreen."

DAILY TRADE TALK.

More Bread, Cure for H.C.L.? Pan-American Financing; Business News.

BY CHAPIN HALL.

A more or less anomalous situation appears to exist in the relation which the high cost of living bears to the wheat crop and the flour production. On the one-hand we are told that there is a shortage, and this is backed by the recent increases in the price of breadstuffs. On the other hand we have Julius Barnes assuring us that the way to reduce the living cost is to eat more wheat.

Ed W. Thompson, general manager for the Great Western Milling Company, of this city, is of the opinion that the question is one of the most important now before the public and he thinks that if it could in some way be imbued with the human interest touch so necessary to attract the public eye that conditions would speedily improve. It is hard to imagine anything so filled with human interest as the price and the means of securing a sufficient quantity of the staff of life to keep the wolf at bay, but Mr. Thompson is right: there is nothing sensational about a trip to the bakery for a dozen rolls, and the thrill of mystery, or the triangular equation is entire lacking, even though we pay 13 cents for a loaf of bread similar in size and general characteristics to the one we formerly obtained for a buffalo nickel.

According to this expert there is really plenty of flour, and the grain corporation, he says, is exporting only the surplus over what the American people need or will use at home.

Wheat Director Barnes, in views recently expressed, evidently believes that the more flour we use the less we will spend for other and less important articles of food, and that in spite of present prices there is more value per dollar in wheat than almost any other food. It may be interesting to follow his argument briefly for it opens a new avenue of thought.

"Last year's consumption of wheat flour," he says, "only averaged 171 pounds per capita, against a normal of 235 pounds. It is not alone that the food value of bread is higher per dollar of expenditure than almost any other food, but also the very decrease in consumption of these other foods which enlarged use of bread occasionally, would of itself, and automatically, lower the prices of these other foods.

"I make this statement broadly, and I believe an analysis of the facts would sustain it, that a return of the American people to the pre-war per capita consumption of flour would, by that very act, save $1,000,000,000 per year in the household budget of America, and by that very substitution so reduce the strain on other foods that they would automatically fall. And when you consider that a fall of 10 per cent. in the articles of the balance of the food bill would save an additional $1,500,000,000, you will see why I am constrained to believe and to assert that there is no direct way in which the cost of food in America could be so directly affected, with a great national saving, as in a better appreciation of the food value of wheat bread."

And there we are. Eat more bread and we will require less of other food, but still there is that 13 and 14-cent loaf staring us in the face. The proportionate food value is probably there, as Mr. Barnes and Mr. Thompson suggest, but psychology is a curious element and I find the public arguing that if bread has increased just as much in price as other foods, why not balance the ration by other foods? If bread had remained on an even keel, or even been slightly advanced, we would be a nation of bread eaters today instead of sixty-four pounds per capita behind our pre-war record. The argument is probably theoretically sound, and it would be interesting to watch an application of the panacea, but before the public will be willing to adopt the cure it is altogether likely that there must be a drop in the price of wheat and flour, considerably greater in proportion than the drop in other foodstuffs.

We all know that life may be sustained and health conserved by a diet of bread and rice, but the trouble with the average American is that he will not think in terms of bread and rice.

Pan-American Financing.

The rumors which have passed as currency for a long time in reference to contemplated new financing on the part of the Pan-American Petroleum Company will probably be redeemed in basic metal today when the directors of the comapny meet in Wilmington, Del., and authorize a new stock issue, which will enable the company to care for its share of the participation in the 1,000,000 pounds British, Mexican petroleum financing, and to carry on other important development work.

At the Los Angeles office of the company no information was available as to the amount of the new issue, but there is reason to believe that it will be of considerable magnitude. The important feature in conection with the news of the impending action is the announcement that it will be offered at $100 which is twice the par value of the stock. That it will be nonvoting, but in all other respects carry full rights and privileges. By making the issue of nonvoting power the present balance of control will not be disturbed. The stock yesterday sold in New York for 140, while Mexican Petroleum went to 264. It is known that these closely affiliated companies will have further and important development announcements in a short time.

The directors' meeting of today was preceded yesterday by a special stockholders' meeting also held in Wilmington. This meeting was for the purpose of classifying the $135,000,000 of authorized common stock of the company so that $70,000,000 of the unissued stock shall be nonvoting. It will be from this stock that today's authorization will come.

As a result of the meeting yesterday a new clause was added to the charter of incorporation providing that the Class B common stock, by which terminology the $70,000,000 unissued stock is designated, shall have no voting power whatsoever, but, save as to voting power, this Class B stock shall have the same rights and privileges and shall be subject to the same limitations as the other common stock of the company.

The Stock Market.

The oil stocks continued to feature the local market yesterday with United the most active of the group, several thousand shares of this listing changing hands from 90 to 92. The close was at 91.50. The top price was slightly below the top of the preceding day, but there was a general demand at this level. Mascot also made a strong showing and there was considerable trading at 2.60. Associated sold at 115 until just before the close, when it advanced a point and a half to 116.50 representing a net loss of a point and a half as compared with Tuesday. Union opened at 188 and there was some scattered trading at that figure. It moved up in the afternoon to sales at 189, but the best bid at the close was 188.75. There were a few sales of National Pacific at 15 cents, representing a loss of about three-quarters of a point. The stock was offered at the close of the trading at 15 1-4. The industrial list was quiet and inactive except for a few small lots of Goodyear, which went over at par, a twenty-share transaction reacting to 99.75. Union sugar was another small lot trader going from an opening of 50 to a high point of 51.50 and closing at 51 bid. Los Angeles Investment eased off to 89½ cents. California Delta Farms held its own at 70. A thousand shares of Midway Northern moved at 55 and at the close was offered at 56½ cents. Mines were quiet and weak. United Eastern was prey to 4.08. Tom Reed sold down to 1.72; Sunnyside was at 9 cents and Big Jim was not much wanted at 8½ cents.

Palo Verde Bond Sale.

Riverside county Supervisors yesterday afternoon, awarded the $800,000 issue of Palo Verde Joint Levee district 6½ per cent. serial bonds to J. R. Mason & Co., whose bid for the issue war par, accrued interest and a premium of $52,560. Among the other bidders were William R. Staats & Co., $26,264.50; Cyrus Peirce & Co., $1850, and Blankenhorn-Hunter-Dulin Company, $1550. The bonds run from one to forty years.

Panhandle Producing and Refining.

Merrill, Lynch & Co., through their Los Angeles office in the Van Nuys Building, yesterday offered a $4,000,000 cumulative convertible sinking fund preferred stock issue already oversubscribed by the syndicate member, but is offered retail at 97 and accrued dividends, each purchaser of two shares of the preferred being entitled to one share of common at $35.

Wholesale Credit Men.

Premonitory rumblings of a decidedly interesting meeting of the Los Angeles Wholesale Credit Men's Association are contained in the announcement of the monthly session and dinner at the Alexandria beginning at 5:45 this afternoon. The main bout of the evening promises to be a catch-as-catch-can argument between Mr. F. M. Couch and Mr. E. T. Van Wart. Mr. Couch as a credit man takes issue with Mr. Van Wart, who is cast in his familiar role of salesman, on the question of whether an order in hand should be filled or not. The scrap will be to a finish, and in the hands of these experts some trade secrets may suffer. Mr. Charles H. Cheney of Berkeley, secretary of the California Civic Planning Association, will be the principal speaker of the evening, and will discuss the topic nearest his professional

INACTIVE SESSION ON PRODUCE MARKET.

PRICES WEAKEN ON MANY LINES UNDER SLOW DEMAND; APPLES FIRM.

Trading was quiet on the local produce market yesterday, owing to the very light demand by wholesalers and retailers, who appeared only in comparatively small numbers on the floor of the market. The amount of produce offered by the farmers was large, and covered a wide variety, but the quality of yesterday's offerings was below standard on many lines. This circumstance, together with the weak demand, caused prices to rule low on the general list, particularly toward the latter part of the session, and the farmers sold large blocks of stock at figures considerably below those of the opening market.

Grapes, which have been among the strong market leaders during the past week, weakened yesterday under heavy arrivals and very dull demand. The arrivals by carlot were comparatively light, but large quantities were offered by the farmers on the floor of the market with the resultant price fall for most varieties. This weakness, however, is considered only temporary, as the quality of the present offering is excellent, and a revival of the demand is expected very soon.

Market shipments of potatoes to the local market yesterday totalled eleven. Accumulations, however, were very heavy, thirty-one cars having been reported as still on track. Prices for Burbanks remained at the same level as the prices of the preceding day, but Idaho Russets showed an increase averaging five cents per hundredweight.

Apple prices continue to be very firmly maintained in the Bulletin. This variety looked yesterday at high as $1.60, while prices on the small packed ranged between $1.25 and the top price, and $1.50 for the 2½ and 4½-tier boxes.

The generally poor quality of the celery arrivals yesterday caused a sharp break in the prices for this commodity, fall strength fifty cents per crate was noted, although the finer shipping stock held firm, meeting with a good demand at the prices of Tuesday's market. Lettuce also dropped in price, selling at ten cents per crate lower than the prices of the preceding day. Demand was at the same level as was true owing to the very poor quality of the offerings.

Bell peppers was one of the few commodities to show an advance in price. This product is becoming very scarce on the market and under an active demand prices show a tendency to rise.

Fresh peaches and plums remain about steady, with little price changes in evidence. Pears are meeting readily at prices ranging between forty and fifty cents per pound, and the lower end of the market for this fruit is firm. Pomegranates showed a fractional decline in price, on account of the large quantity of poor stock being offered at the present time.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Stocks continued to surge forward in today's extremely active market, further easing of money and the more encouraging surveys of the steel and iron industry contributing perceptibly to the improvement.

Call loans fell to 5½ per cent., the lowest quotation in several weeks.

Trade authorities asserted that pig iron and finished steel production in the past week increased to 80 per cent. basis, despite the deadlock in the steel strike.

Steels and the many equipment issues which moved in sympathy with that group displayed marked strength, Republic Iron leading on its rise of 18 1-4 points to 1.20 in the last hour, this constituting a new record.

Oils, motors, and affiliated specialties, were again the overshadowing features. New maximums were made by Texas Company, Mexican and Pan-American Petroleums. General Motors and Baldwin Locomotive, at extreme advances of 6 to 16 points.

Other prominent features at gross gains of 3 to 12 points included such varied issues as Remington Typewriter, Columbia Graphophone, Corn Products, Retail Stores, Hide and Leather preferred, and Burns Bros. Chemical, fertilizer, paper and utility issues embraced the other active stocks at gains of 1 to 3 points. Sales amounted to 1,750,000 shares.

Reactions in speculative rails caused moderate irregularity in the bond market, although the Liberty group was steady, with 3½s at 101, repeating the year's highest price. Total sales, par value, aggregated $14,300,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

PARIS, Oct. 22.—The gradual disappearance of silver coin from circulation has caused the Minister of Justice to circulate his department, ordering that traffickers in money must be prosecuted with the full force of the law.

The Minister of Finance today issued a warning to travelers that they would not be permitted to take out of the country more than a thousand francs worth of French or foreign paper money, and ten francs worth of silver.

YOUNG BOXER AUTO VICTIM.

Veteran Sea Captain Sings Praises of Whale Milk.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONG BEACH, Oct. 22.—While details of the arrangements have not been completed as yet by the stricken parents of the youth, the funeral services for Claud Rucker, the Long Beach boy killed in an automobile accident at Huntington Park shortly before midnight Tuesday, will probably be held in this city Friday. The body is at present in a San Pedro undertaking parlor conducted by relatives of the accident victim.

Young Rucker was killed and A. B. Montgomery, manager of the Silver Spray Athletic Club, and Robert Reed, assistant manager, were injured when the automobile, driven by Montgomery, skidded and overturned at a turn on the Long Beach-Los Angeles boulevard.

Claud Rucker was 22 years old, and was a former Polytechnic High School student. He was until recently employed at the plant of the Long Beach Shipbuilding Company, where, under the auspices of the Keel Klub, he won the amateur boxing championship of the yard. He has recently appeared in boxing contests here and in other Southern California cities under the name of Paul Brewster.

Rucker was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Rucker of 1974 Olive avenue. In addition to his parents, he leaves a brother, Floyd Rucker.

A. B. Montgomery, whose chief injury was a crushed hand, was brought back to his home in this city from the County Hospital today. Robert Reed received a badly-injured leg, but was also today able to be returned to his apartments at the Earl.

FORCED TO LAND.

Forced to volplane 3000 feet to the ground when his engine lubrication system failed, First Lieutenant J. B. Moran, en route from San Diego to San Francisco, landed in the industrial district, northwest of this city, this afternoon. After an hour's delay the aviator resumed his flight to the northern city in the army scout plane.

NEWEST "KICK" DRINK.

Whale milk is the latest prohibition drink with a kick, discovered here. Capt. John D. Loop, famous local whale hunter, has just returned from Scammon's Lagoon, where, in butchering a whale, he had an opportunity to taste the lacteal fluid of that sea mammal.

According to the veteran seafarer, two quarts of whale milk will renew a man's youth, increase his weight and cause an immediate invigoration and brighter outlook on life. It contains such unusual qualities.

Whale milk is much richer than that given by cows and goats, and is of a darker-yellow color, Capt. Loop declares.

Sixty gallons of the milk were secured from a female leviathan slaughtered near the lagoon.

SHORTAGE OF SILVER AFFECTS WORLD TRADE.

NEW YORK AND CALIFORNIA AT PRESENT ONLY SOURCES OF WHITE METAL.

[EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Current transactions in bullion are considered by experts to mark the end of the supremacy of the London silver market. The nominal and official price of silver in New York today, based upon London quotations, was $1.18½ an ounce. Sales were actually made at $1.21 and $1.22 an ounce. Leading bankers state that London bullion prices are coming to be considered the world over as merely nominal. There is no silver in Europe for export to the Orient and it is becoming scarce even in the hands of jewelers. Purchasers must turn to New York and California for the white metal.

The seriousness of the silver shortage, which extends all over Europe and America, cannot be overestimated according to reliable authorities. Private advices from Mexico say that the government has determined upon a recoinage of both gold and silver, in order to prevent the hoarding and private melting of the precious metal in the country. It is reported that the one peso, fifty centavo and twenty centavo pieces will be remained on the basis of the American dollar, two pesos being equal to one dollar.

NEW FENCE TO BE SMUGGLER PROOF.

TWO MILES OF INTERNATIONAL BOUNDRY WILD BE PROTECTED.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

CALEXICO, Oct. 22.—A contract has been awarded for the building of two miles of smuggler proof fence along the international boundary line through Calexico and Mexicali. The contract provides that the fence must be completed by January first.

It is expected that construction will be started within two weeks. Starting at New River, it will be built on the border line, making the latter distinctly to a point opposite the C. M. ranch. A solid be used, supported by iron posts set in concrete.

There will be but two openings to be guarded, one at Heffernan crossing, and the other where the Inter-California railroad crosses the line. Officials at the immigration office say that it will help them materially in stopping line runing, and will relieve them of a great deal of responsibility, especially at night.

LOS ANGELES SYNDICATE IS AWARDED BIG BLOCK OF SECURITIES.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

EL CENTRO, Oct. 22.—Bonds of the Imperial Irrigation District, sold to the highest bidder today, brought .9515 cents on the dollar. The entire issue of $2,500,000 was purchased by the Blankenhorn-Hunter syndicate of Los Angeles, but the directors refused to dispose of more than $1,500,000 at this price.

President Nickerson of the board in announcing the award stated that the additional million would be held until the bond market was in better shape.

This is one of the best prices ever obtained for irrigation district bonds at one time selling for less than 85 cents on the dollar.

Crown City Police Arrest Burglar Suspect.

Start Campaign for Fund for Roosevelt Memorial.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Oct. 22.—Dr. John Willis Baer, Pasadena banker, former college president and moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States, believes that religion is the fundamental remedy for social unrest and for the extravagant tendencies of the times.

"Men today are hungry for those things which smack of old-time religion," said Dr. Baer, who has just returned from an extended speaking tour through the East and Middle West, in an address to the Men's Club of the Pasadena Presbyterian Church. "They do not want dogma," he continued. "Not theological differences. Not this church as against another church. But they are hungry for the fundamentals of belief in God."

Dr. Baer said the "Christian business man who is not color blind and will stand without hitching" and the labor leader of like perception should repudiate Red radicalism and both will find "the Golden Rule is the best commercial yard stick." "Men are returning to the religion of their fathers," said Dr. Baer.

He added that after noting a tendency toward the lowering of moral standards in the East, co-incident with a prodigal spending going on there, the women would do well to "return to the religion of their mothers."

Dr. Baer met Gen. Leonard Wood in Chicago and quotes Gen. Wood as saying that radicalism and I.W.W.-ism are the real bases of the race riots. At a meeting he addressed one Sunday night in Chicago, Gen. Wood also advised men these times to get more of the religion of their fathers.

Dr. Baer also met, in the East, Cardinal Mercier, who he described as "the fighting saint of Belgium." "I take my hat off to Cardinal Mercier," said the moderator of the Presbyterian church." It was pleasure and privilege to meet him—a man of honesty, of patriotism and true Christian humility."

INQUIRES, GETS ARRESTED.

Clarence Suer appeared at the Pasadena Police Station this afternoon to inquire after the whereabouts of his friend, Fred Hill, who had failed to return from a Pasadena trip and about whom Suer was worried. The description which Suer furnished of his friend Hill tallied with that of Fred Wyatt, arrested earlier in the day on the suspicion that he is responsible for several local thefts, so the police also took into custody the inquiring Suer. The latter denied he is a thief.

The arrests were made following several robberies reported to the local police, in which houses had been entered and valuables taken in the absence of owners. One house was that of Deputy Sheriff A. L. Manning, 354 Oak Knoll avenue.

OIL! OIL! OIL!

$200,000 FOR 2½ ACRES

The Texas Oil, Gas and Mineral Products Co., is reported to have sold its 2½-acre lease in block 88 at Burkburnett, Texas, for $200,000 to New York interests.—[From the Texas Investor.

I have just returned from Texas where I bought a lease on 640 acres, located fifteen miles southwest of Benjamin. This is more than I can afford to carry, so I am offering 320 acres in 2½-acre "CHECKERBOARD TRACTS" at $10 per acre. This lease is in a direct line with the northwest trend of the RANGER POOL and the southwest trend of the BURKBURNETT POOL and is 100 miles nearer both of these Gusher Districts than any acreage offered in Los Angeles at two times the price.

Two and one-half acres for $25, is at the rate of 43 square feet for one cent. It is predicted that all of North-Central Texas will be found to cover a vast reservoir of Oil. SOCIETY.

BY VIRGINIA WOODS.

Miss Carson Weds.

The little chapel of Our Lady Guadaloupe was yesterday morning the scene of a lovely wedding, when Miss Valerie Carson, descendant of the old Dominguez family, became the bride of J. J. Hanrahan, Jr., Father Francis J. Conaty officiating.

The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Carson, looked stunning in a gown of white satin embroidered in pearls cut short, her long tulle veil forming the train. Her shower bouquet was designed from bride roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Gladys Carson was her sister's maid of honor and wore a frock of orchid-colored Georgette elaborately beaded. She carried American Beauty roses. Victor Carson, brother of the bride, stood with the groom.

The chapel was beautifully decorated in orchid shades of chrysanthemums and made a charming setting for the bridal party. After the ceremony a breakfast was served at the Hotel Alexandria to relatives and members of the bridal party. After a motor trip the couple will reside at 451 South Van Ness avenue.

Albert Shiels, Jr., to Wed.

The engagement of Miss Janet Keeley to Albert Shiels, Jr., was announced yesterday afternoon by the families of the young couple. No date has been set for the wedding and it was stated that the young couple may wait until after Dr. Albert Shiels returns from New York, which will probably be a year or more.

Miss Keeley is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Keeley, 532 South Van Ness avenue. She was born in this city, graduated from the Los Angeles High School and is now attending the University of Southern California. Mr. Shiels is the son of the superintendent of city schools. He is a graduate of Dartmoor College and studied at the University of New York for two years. He was a member of the famous Seventh Regiment of New York and accompanied it to the Mexican border, where he served from July to December, 1916. When the United States entered the world war the Seventh Regiment became the One Hundred and Seventh Infantry and was sent to Spartansburg, S. C., to train, later going to France.

Mr. Shiels was invalided back to the United States in February, 1918, but subsequently joined the Fifty-fifth Ammunition Train, Coast Artillery, and returned to France, where he saw active service at the front for six months. He was mustered out of the service last March. He is now an assistant buyer for Bullock's.

The wedding, which was solemnized by Rabbi Isidore Myers, culminates a war romance—the couple having met when he was a master sergeant at Camp Kearney. The bride wore a white suit and corsage of orchids, and her going-away frock was taupe cloth trimmed with sealskin, with which she wore a sealskin hat. Miss Lillian La Cofske was her sister's maid of honor and Joseph Young stood with the groom. SUPERVISORS SEE McCLELLAN'S ALASKAN ANIMALS AND DISCUSS PLAN.

Members of the Board of Supervisors who had gathered at the Museum of History, Science and Art, in Exposition Park, yesterday, to view the McClellan collection of Alaskan animals, discussed informally plans for enlarging the present museum building to accommodate a complete collection of the animal life of North America. The present museum building was built as a unit capable of expansion as the growing needs of the museum demanded it.

Members of the board declared that the McClellan collection is merely the nucleus of what they plan to make a complete collection of the animal life of North America because of the great educational value of such a collection to the community. Other collections will be added from time to time.

The collection consists of four big moose, one of which was shot by Supervisor McClellan at a range of 1100 yards; ten mountain goats, ten mountain sheep, seven caribou, one wolverine and three eagles. The collection is comprehensive, including males, females and the young of the different species. They will be mounted by J. P. Herring, taxidermist of the expedition, and then placed in the museum in show cases, twenty-four feet wide and eighteen feet deep. Each show case will exhibit a group of animals exactly as they lived in their environment. The interior of the cases will be modeled to look like mountainous country and then the walls and background will be skillfully painted so that the observer's eye will not be able to detect where the modeled foreground stops and the panoramic background begins.

Among those who viewed the collection yesterday were: Supervisors Dodge, Woodley, Gaswell, Bean and McClellan.
